RUSSIANS SCORE A BLOW

TAKE GERMANS BY SURPRISE

Czar's Troops Win Important Victory Near Center of Long Front.

SERBIA'S PLIGHT

MORE DESPERATE

Fact is as Much as Admitted in Official Statement from Nish.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Russian armies which recently have been prosecuting a vigorous offensive on the southern end of their front are now reported to have won an important victory further north in the central district of the long front. An official communication from Petrograd announces the capture of several German positions in the neighborhood of Baranovich, north of the Pripiet river. The Russian staff states that more than 3,500 men, together with ten machine guns and one field piece, were captured.

The plight of Serbia's hard pressed forces, assailed on the north and east by numerically superior armies of Germany, Austria and Bulgaria, is becoming desperate. As much is admitted in an official statement from Nish. This announcement confirms reports that the Bulgarians have captured Nish, the Nish-Saloniki road. Communication on this line is interrupted in two places, impeding the advance of French and British troops whose arrival is being awaited with anxiety by the Serbians.

There are no signs of resumption of the offensive on the western front which has been expected in England and France. The only fresh activity disclosed in the day's reports are German attacks near Rheims and Sochez and a small engagement at Lorraine. In every case, the French war office reports, the Germans were frustrated in efforts to reach the French lines.

Greece is still undecided what part she shall play in the operations in the Balkans. It is reported from Athens that new proposals have been made by the quadruple entente in an effort to procure the assistance of Greece. According to these advances, not only the island of Cyprus has been offered but also an extension of the Greek boundary at the expense of Bulgaria and Turkey almost to Constantinople, as well as to include certain territory in Asia Minor.

Petrograd, Oct. 21.—An important Russian success in the region of Baranovich, resulting in the capture of several German positions, 3,500 men and ten machine guns and one piece of artillery, was announced today by the war office. Baranovich is in the central portion of the Russian line, to the north of the Pripiet river. The war announcement follows:

"In the district southeast of Baranovich our troops, after a dashingly successful attack, have captured the village of Baranovich, the German positions near the villages of Ekinovskii, Odokhorchina, Noviki and Nagornia. In the course of the day we took 3,500 German and Austrian soldiers and 3,500 men prisoners, in addition to capturing ten quick firing and one gun."

NISH MAKES ADMISION.

Only Arrival of Allied Troops Can Save Serbian Army.

Paris, Oct. 21.—An official statement issued yesterday at Nish as forwarded by the Havas news agency, says that the Serbian army is now menaced seriously. The Serbian war office says the railroad line to Saloniki has been cut in two places. The communication follows:

"The situation grows more and more serious. The resistance of the Serbian troops is desperate and heroic but the strong pressure of the Austrians and Germans from the north and of masses of Bulgarians from the east is menacing seriously the Serbian army, which is

CHARITY PROFITS BY WRESTLERS' WRANGLE

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 21.—Mayor Boice today was holding the box office receipts of a wrestling match held here last night in which Joseph Stecher, Dodge, Neb., defended his title of world's heavy-weight champion against "Strangler" Ed Lewis, Lexington, Ky.

Claiming that the promoters did not live up to their guarantee of a fair match the mayor says a settlement will be offered the wrestlers and promoters by which two-thirds will be given to local charities. The match last night ended in a decision for Stecher when Lewis fell through the ropes and claimed he had been injured.

Richmond is Chosen for Next D. A. R. Conference

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 21.—With one exception all officers of the Indiana Daughters of the Revolution were re-elected today at the closing session of the fifteenth annual conference held here.

Richmond was chosen as the place for holding the convention in 1916. No election of auditor was held. Mrs. Frank B. Felter, of Huntington, is the present auditor.

WARREN SUSPECTED OF OTHER CRIMES

Effort to Identify Check Artist With Forged Express Orders.

Through co-operation of Chief of Police Charles Lenz and E. B. Eskew, of Chicago, traveling inspector for the Wells-Fargo Express company, an effort is being made Thursday afternoon to determine whether or not Charles Luther Warren, alias Commodore Perry Hull, the check swindler in jail here, is the man who has been cashing a large number of stolen and forged express money orders of the Wells-Fargo company.

Numbers of these money orders were cashed by a man in Gary, Valparaiso, Elkhart, Chesterton and other Indiana cities and towns, and in several places in Illinois.

Warren in a general way answered the description of the man who a month ago made a hurried automobile trip through these places, dropping the

WORKING OVERTIME TO MELT UP GOLD

Assay Office is Unable to Keep Up With Inflowing Yellow Stream.

New York, Oct. 21.—So great has been the tide of gold poured into New York to pay the war bills of the belligerent nations that the task of melting it up to be turned into United States coin has almost overwhelmed the employees of the United States assay office here.

They are working longer than they ever did before but the piles of coin in bullion deposited by bankers grows instead of diminishing. No sooner is one consignment of the gold melted and sent to the Philadelphia mint than another shipment of millions is received. For two Sundays the whole force at the assay office has worked to keep abreast of the incoming gold.

Ordinarily about $100,000,000 in gold passes through the assay office in a year. Since July 1 the office has received and melted more than $2,000,000,000 worth, and nearly $25,000,000 of this was received within the last ten days. Nearly a year's work has been done in less than four months.

The gold arrives generally in the form of bullion, English sovereigns, French Napoleons and Japanese yen.

KERN AND PRESIDENT TO DISCUSS DEFENSE

Washington, Oct. 21.—Senator Kern, of Indiana, democratic leader of the senate, will discuss national defense tomorrow with President Wilson. He returned today from a visit to the middle west and said he thought the defense program could be put through congress without much difficulty. Regarding ways of raising additional revenues to pay for strengthening the army and navy, Senator Kern said that he believed the free sugar provision of the tariff law, which would become effective next May, would be repealed and that there might be some changes in the emergency stamp tax act.

INDIANAPOLIS BUILDERS SPEND DAY GETTING HOUSE-BUILDING POINTERS FROM FORT WAYNE HO MES.

Here is a group of Indianapolis building men who spent most of Thursday combining the city for ideas in building. Y. V. Miller, of the Wildwood company, acted as guide for the party, and they visited scores of new houses throughout the city. Reading from left to right, top row—J. Frank Cantwell, V. V. Miller, P. F. Balz, Emerson W. Chaille and A. T. Anderson. Bottom row—John W. Roberts, W. H. Kinnear and Frank B. Stout. They represent the prominent building firms of Indianapolis.

TAX REFORM GIVEN BOOST

Real Estate Men Go on Record Favoring Change in System.

HUGH CHALMERS IS GIVEN AN OVATION

Convention to Close With a Banquet at Anthony Hotel.

Members of the Indiana Real Estate association went on record Thursday in their second annual state convention as favoring the classification of all kinds of property for taxation, such laws to provide for maximum rates for each class and providing for higher rates to meet emergencies when sanctioned by a vote of the people in the government unit where such emergencies may exist and for an act to provide for a state department of assessment.

Following an automobile ride over the city starting from the Commercial club at 1 o'clock, the delegates went into session for the election of officers and the selection of a meeting place for next year. Lee J. Nind, of this city, is prominently mentioned for the presidency and Evansville is the most frequently mentioned as the next meeting place, although various cities of Indiana are asking for it, including Richmond, Terre Haute and Gary. The re-election of Scott R. Brewer, of Indianapolis, is assured.

Fort Wayne has never entertained more "live wires" than are in attendance at this meeting. As a matter of fact to be a successful real estate man hustling qualities are absolutely essential.

Close With Banquet.

The convention will close Thursday evening with a banquet at the Anthony hotel when Walter Collins Piper, of Detroit, president of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, will be the principal speaker. Other members of the program are: "The Day-Ton Plan," George B. Smith, vice president of Greater Dayton association; "The Real Estate Man," by Archibald M. Hall, Indianapolis, and "Fort Wayne With Might and Main," by Walter H. Ingham, Fort Wayne.

Tax Reform Favored.

The report of the special committee on the tax question in Indiana which was adopted by an unanimous vote, is as follows:

"The tax question in Indiana is a very live topic of discussion. As we all know, the tax rate and the valuation of real property have been steadily increasing for some years, until now in portions of the state it is practically confiscatory.

"The last legislature, realizing that something must be done to relieve the situation, authorized the governor of the state to appoint a special tax commission, (which he has done) to look into the question of taxation and propose remedies that may be presented to the legislature not later than January 1, 1917. This commission has been taking testimony and gathering all the information relative to taxation that it possibly can and will, without doubt, present a comprehensive report to the legislature. The chairman of this commission is William L. Elder, of Indianapolis, a member of the Indiana Real Estate association.

"The Indiana Real Estate association for the purpose of doing a little investigation of its own to ascertain the facts about taxation, appointed this year a committee with instructions to call meetings in different portions of the state, to learn the views of the people.

"Now, therefore, as a result of all the information that we have been able to obtain, we desire at this time to make the following recommendations.

FIFTY DELEGATES AT THE OPENING SESSION

Missionary Society of Fort Wayne M. E. District in Annual Meeting.

The opening session of the thirty-eighth annual convention of the Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church of the Fort Wayne district, North Indiana conference, was held Thursday afternoon at the Trinity M. E. church with fifty visiting delegates in attendance.

The Fort Wayne district is composed of twenty-one auxiliaries, eleven Young Ladies' and Standard Bearers' societies and seven King's Heralds and Standard Bearers' societies. Nearly every one had one or more delegates present at the first session to answer to the roll call.

A picnic dinner was served to the visiting ladies at 12:30 o'clock and the opening session convened at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. G. H. Buck, of Trinity church, led in the praise services. The pastor of Trinity church, Rev. T. M. Hill, delivered the address of welcome, in which he greeted the out of town delegates. The responses to his kind words were given by Mrs. J. W. Holmes, of Portland.

Immediately after the dismissal of the public schools this afternoon the members of the King's Heralds of Wayne and Trinity churches were to give programs consisting of dialogues, recitations and songs. A banquet will be served at 5:30 o'clock and covers have been laid for 150 people. Mrs. J. A. Beatty will preside as toastmistress.

Thursday evening's meeting at 7:30 o'clock will be a young people's rally. The business meeting will be held at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning.

OPEN NIGHT AT THE VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Walter E. Cordon, director of the vocational school, announces that the vocational school will be open for inspection Friday afternoon and evening at the new Farmer school.

Everybody is cordially invited to come and watch the boys at work in the electrical, printing and carpentry departments. The boys will be at work in the evening in their respective shops for the benefit of visitors, and souvenir printed cards will be given out by the printing department.

HUGH TH. MILLER TO TRY IT ONCE MORE

Indianapolis, Oct. 21.—Hugh Th. Miller, of Columbus, former lieutenant governor and the republican nominee for United States senator in the last election, announced today that he would be a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator.

OUR RIGHTS ARE UPHELD

Without Breach of Friendships, Says Wilson in Proclamation.

AND THE RIGHTS OF ALL MANKIND

President Sets Apart Nov. 25 as Annual Day of Thanksgiving.

Washington, Oct. 21.—President Wilson today in a proclamation designating Thursday, November 25, as Thanksgiving day, called attention to the fact that the United States has been at peace while most of Europe has been at war.

"We have been able to assert our rights and the rights of mankind without breach of friendship with the great nations with whom we have had to deal," said the president.

Text of the Proclamation.

The text follows:

"It has long been the honored custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us as a nation. The year that is now drawing to a close since we last observed our day of national thanksgiving has been, while a year of discipline because of the mighty forces of war and changes which have disturbed the world, also a year of special blessing for us.

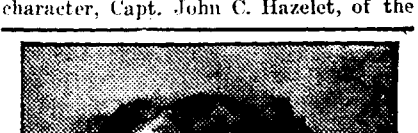

"Another year of peace has been vouchsafed us; another year in which not only to take thought of our duty to ourselves and to mankind, but also to adjust ourselves to the many responsibilities thrust upon us by a war which has involved almost the whole of Europe. We have been able to assert our rights and the rights of mankind without breach of friendship with the great nations with whom we have had to deal, and while we have asserted rights, we have been able also to perform duties and exercise privileges of succor and helpfulness, which should serve to demonstrate our desire to make the offices of friendship the means of truly disinterested and unselfish view.

"Our ability to serve all who could avail themselves of our services in the midst of crisis has been increased by a gracious providence, by more and more abundant crops; our ample financial resources have enabled us to steady the markets of the world and facilitate necessary movement of commerce which the war might otherwise have rendered impossible; and our people have come more and more to a sober realization of the part they have been called upon to play in a time when all the world is shaken by unparalleled distresses and disasters.

CAPT. J. C. HAZELET DIES UNEXPECTEDLY

Supposedly Minor Injuries Prove Fatal to Nickel Plate Officer.

Six hours after he had fallen from a train near the Nickel Plate depot Wednesday, and five hours after he had left the hospital for his home in the belief that his injuries were not of a serious character, Capt. John C. Hazelet, of the

CAPT. JOHN C. HAZELET.

Nickel Plate detective department, died late Wednesday afternoon. He was 41 years of age.

In company with Patrolman Frank L. Rouman, Captain Hazelet was going east of the city to investigate a car robbery. Both attempted to board train No. 56, a fast freight, Reneman catching the seventh car ahead of the caboose. Captain Hazelet attempted to catch the caboose but missed his hold and fell to the concrete platform in front of the station, alighting on his back and injuring his head.

Rendered unconscious by the fall he was carried into the station by the patrolman and later was taken to the hospital in the police ambulance.

Regained consciousness and at noon walked with Rouman to a taxicab and was taken to his home, 1612 North Harrison street. At 2 o'clock, when he again lost consciousness he was rushed to the Lutheran hospital. He passed away before physicians could operate.

The deceased took employment with the Nickel Plate as a patrolman, January 1, 1914, and a year later received the appointment as captain. He was widely known and two years ago was a candidate for republican nomination for sheriff of Allen county.

Besides the widow he is survived by a four-year-old son, Paul; the aged mother, a sister, Mrs. Joseph Miller, and four brothers, Charles, George, James and William Hazelet, all of near New Haven.

U. S. SOLDIERS ARE ATTACKED

Three Killed, Six Others Wounded by Mexican Bandits.

BIG BAND MAKES ATTACK IN DARK

Driven Off After Clash, Leaving Its Own Dead on the Scene.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 21.—Three United States soldiers were killed and six others were wounded in an engagement with Mexican bandits near Ojo de Agua about 2 o'clock this morning.

The troops, guarding the place, which is near Mission, Tex., and about thirty miles north of Brownsville, were attacked by a large band of Mexicans.

Details of the fight are lacking, but in a preliminary report from Captain Frank L. McCoy at 3:45 o'clock Thursday morning, the information was given that five dead Mexicans had been found in the dark after the attacking party had been driven off.

Mexicans slain in the fight had white handkerchiefs bearing the words "Viva Villa."

PAIR OF BURGLARIES ON THE WEST SIDE

Two Daylight Jobs at Fox and Nichols Homes Are Productive.

While all the members of both households were absent between 1 and 4 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, burglars forced entrance to the residences of A. D. Fox, 1308 West Wayne street, and W. A. Nichols, next door west, and got away with considerable loot. From the Fox home the thieves took a fine cameo set consisting of a large brooch and earrings to match, each piece being enclosed in a ring of pearls, and also got some rings, a wrist watch and other jewelry. The cameo set was an heirloom owned by Mrs. Fox and had long been in her family. Though of much value it was greatly prized beyond its intrinsic worth by Mrs. Fox. The watch belonged to a daughter in the family. From the Nichols home $18 cash and a quantity of jewelry were taken. The robbers overlooked one watch at the Fox home and did not molest the silverware.

Entrance was gained at the Fox home by going through a cellar window and jimmying a door leading from the cellar to the upper part of the house. The Nichols home was entered through a window that was forced. City detectives who are working on the case found evidence that an attempt had been made to jimmy a door in the home of O. S. Rhodes, next door east of the Fox residence.

All the occupants of the three households were absent during the robberies, a fact it is believed the burglars knew before the attempts were made. There has been a plague of burglaries and burglars' attempts on the west side during the past five or six weeks.

KING ALBERT SAYS NO TO REQUEST OF POPE

Will Not Lay Down Sword While His Country is "in Slavery."

Rome, Oct. 21.—Pope Benedict has just received from King Albert, of Belgium, a reply to an autograph letter from the pope urging the king to initiate steps looking to the conclusion of peace. King Albert replied in the negative.

The king thanked Pope Benedict for his promise to use his influence with Germany to bring about the evacuation of Belgium in the event of peace.

KENDALLVILLE MAN PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

F. L. Crone Says Spelling Book Follows Bayonet in Philippines.

Mohank Lake, N. Y., Oct. 21.—The spelling book has followed the bayonet in the Philippines ever since the United States began to extend control over these islands until now there are 1,300 schools taught by 10,000 teachers and enrolling more than 600,000 pupils.

These facts were laid before the Lake Mohank conference on the Indian and other dependent peoples today by Frank L. Crone, director of education in the Philippines.

The school system, he said, is maintained by the Philippine people.

HERE IS U. S. NAVY OF 1925

Experts Picture Sea Fighting Force if Congress Approves Program.

SHOWING MADE IS MOST FORMIDABLE

What Defense Plans of Administration Mean to Navy Department.

Washington, Oct. 21.—What the United States navy will be in 1925 if the administration's defense program is approved by congress was described today by naval experts. The strength of the navy will be:

Battleships of the first line, 27. These ships would all carry more than eight big guns each, most of them mounted, twelve 14-inch calibre rifles, the new weapon recently developed by the ordnance bureau and believed to be the equal or superior of any navy gun now afloat. With two exceptions they would all be able to steam more than twenty knots an hour.

Battleships of the second line, 14. These ships all carry four heavy guns each and some of them have a speed of nearly twenty knots.

Reserve battleships, 9. These ships are all now in commission or in reserve. The oldest ship is the Iowa, commissioned in 1897. Three older ships, the Oregon, Massachusetts and Indiana, will have gone to the scrap heap within two or three years.

Battle cruisers, 6. They will mount eight 14-inch 50 calibre rifles and have a speed of thirty-five knots.

Scout cruisers, 13. This includes the Salem, Chester and Birmingham, the only scouting ships now in the navy.

Destroyers, 90. This figure allows for the retirement of sixteen destroyers built before 1898 and does not take into account nineteen torpedo boats many of which are still in service.

Not Unanimous on Point.

While the general board of the navy has approved plans for six, eight gun, thirty-six knot super-battle cruisers to be built within the next five years, navy officers and officials, it was learned today, are not unanimous in favoring the type of ship. Before Secretary Daniels decided to recommend the big ships, an alternative plan for another type of vessel to cost about a third as much, had many adherents. The chief reason for favoring the smaller and less expensive ships, it is said, was that for the amount to be expended on the battle cruisers, eighteen of the other type could have been built and equipped probably in considerably less time. The alternative plan suggested a type of super-scout cruisers ranging from 7,500 to 10,000 tons displacement, with very light armor and equipped with only two forward and aft or the decks, without turret protection. By this great saving in weight, vessels of high speed, great endurance and wide cruising radius could have been obtained to reinforce the slower and smaller scout cruisers and destroyers in their mission of breaking an enemy's communication lines, destroying his commerce at sea and overwhelming convoys composed of light cruisers or destroyers. It is said that a speed of forty knots for these ships was suggested to enable them to flee from an enemy of greater gun power, but slower speed, such as a battle cruiser, favored construction of the bigger ships on the theory, it is said, that since European navies were equipped with battle cruisers, it was necessary for a well balanced navy that the United States should have equal or superior craft in gun power and speed. It was argued that battle cruisers of the type recommended would not be compelled to seek safety in flight from anything but a heavily armored and armed battleship.

The Submarines.

Fleet submarines 18. The Schley, first vessel of this type designed for any navy, will be launched in a few months. She will make twenty knots on the surface, while the others will make twenty-five knots or more.

Coast defense submarines 149. This figure includes all submarines of the type now built or building and allows for the retirement of nine boats of the A and B classes, which are now on duty in the Philippines and at Panama and giving satisfactory service, despite the fact that they are twelve years old. Navy officers believe most of them will still be available for harbor defense in eight years' time.

Gun boats 31. These vessels are for river and shallow harbor use. The new program will add only two vessels of this type.

In addition to the foregoing, there are ten armored cruisers, five protected cruisers, four first class cruisers, twelve second class cruisers and nine coast defense monitors available for reserve fleet duty. It is not planned to build any more ships of these types.

For the task planned for navy designers by the new program it is probable that considerable additions to the civil employes in the departmental bureaus will be necessary. The bureau of construction and repair, which will draw plans for the new ships, has a huge job before it; the weight of every rivet or bolt that goes into a 32,000 ton battleship must be calculated in order that she may be in proper balance, submerge to the proper depth and have the desired displacement. The department prides itself on the fact that no navy designed ship for the last twelve years has been overweight, a record unequalled by any foreign navy.

FRED H. POCOCK GETS HIGH MASONIC PLACE

DUMBA REACHES THE HAGUE.

Recalled Austrian Ambassador is Now Nearing Home.

London, Oct. 21.—The arrival at The Hague of Dr. C. T. Dumba, lately recalled as Austrian ambassador to the United States, is reported in a dispatch from the correspondent there of Reuters' Telegram company. Dr. Dumba was escorted by the Austrian minister, who met him at Rotterdam.

Dr. Dumba declined to see reporters, but intimated that he might make a statement tomorrow.

FRENCH ARTILLERY CUTS DOWN ATTACK

Paris, Oct. 21.—Following their futile bombardment last evening to the east of Rheims, the Germans renewed their attacks in this region, according to an announcement made by the French war office. In spite of a very violent preparatory artillery fire they again were checked, and cut down by the fire of the French artillery and machine guns. They did not succeed in winning a single position in the French first line trenches.

VILLA AIDES NOTIFY CHIEF HE MUST QUIT

Unless He Does So, All His Prominent Generals Will Desert.

New York, Oct. 21.—Leaders here of the Mexican conventionalist party of which Gen. Villa is the head, were reported today to have notified him that he must give up the fight against Gen. Carranza and come to the United States. Unless he does so it was stated, all of his generals of prominence will quit him.

CAROTHERS IS WITHDRAWN.

Washington, Oct. 21.—George C. Carothers, for the last three years special agent of the state department to Villa's army, has been withdrawn as one of the consequences of the recognition of Gen. Carranza. Hereafter the American government will have no official dealings with Villa. Carothers is on his way to Douglas, Ariz., opposite which place in Mexico the Carranza garrison is threatened with attack by Villa troops.

FORTY INJURED IN FERRY BOAT CRASH

New York, Oct. 21.—Forty men and women were injured today when the Lackawanna ferry boat Netherland crashed into the Barrow street pier during a fog and hurled a number of passengers under the hoofs of a dozen horses which were on the boat. Six of the injured were rushed to hospitals, and the others were removed by ambulance surgeons after being landed.

The crash occurred during what by men described as the worst fog of the year, which settled down during the night and seriously interfered with harbor and river traffic. Ten steamships, including the Ortuna, from Liverpool, were held up for several hours.

SOAP DRIES; SCHEME OF PRISONERS FAILS

Novel Plan to Break Jail is Finally Foiled at Seymour.

Seymour, Ind., Oct. 21.—After working for three months to saw their way out of the local jail, George Bennett and Charles Howard were detected at their work yesterday. A few more hours and a little wet soap and they would have been free. The men had forced a narrow opening through their cell bars. To gain their freedom they found it was necessary to cut away bars in a corridor window. Bennett, the smaller of the men, devised the scheme of sneaking his body with soap, squeezing through the opening in the cell bars and thereby getting to the corridor, where he could work on the barred window.

Their task was nearly complete when Bennett, naked and soaped, squeezed through the narrow opening and began sawing the last of the window bars. He heard footsteps coming down the corridor and darted for the hole in the cell. He wriggled half way through the opening, and then he stuck. The soap had dried.

CYPRUS HELD OUT AS WAR BAIT TO GREECE

London, Oct. 21, 1:52 a. m.—Great Britain has made a formal offer of the island of Cyprus to Greece as soon as Greece undertakes to intervene in the war on the side of the allies. The Daily Telegraph makes this announcement this morning.

Cyprus is the third largest island in the Mediterranean, sixty miles from the coast of Asia Minor. It was administered by Great Britain until Nov. 5, 1914, under a convention concluded with the Sultan of Turkey in 1878, but at the outbreak of hostilities with Turkey on the former date the island was annexed. It has an area of 3,584 square miles and a population of nearly 300,000.

WILL FIGHT WOMAN'S CLAIM.

Executor and Heirs to Frank Ray Estate to Dispute Hedrick Suit.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 21.—Both the executor and the heirs in the Frank G. Ray estate will fight the claim of Jessie Hedrick, of Danville, Ill., who alleges she is Ray's widow and asks her share of the property. Ray was a wealthy young sportsman, who died several months ago, presumably unmarried. He inherited a half-million from his father, Elias Ray, and proceeded to squander a large part of it in automobile and motor boat racing and long visits at Hot Springs and other resorts.

According to the executor of his estate, Joseph B. Ross, the remaining real estate is valued at not over $80,000. Ross says there is not enough personal property to pay the debts left by Ray, amounting to $53,000. He has asked the circuit court to issue an order for the sale of the realty and asks that the title to the real estate be quieted as against the claim of Jessie Hedrick. The beneficiaries under the will, Mary Esther, Ray McCoy and Moravia McCoy, her husband, and Mrs. Elmina Hart, Ray's old housekeeper, have joined with the executor in protesting the Hedrick claim.

SEES ARISTOCRACY OF EDUCATION NOW

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 21.—That the rich by endowments now control the standards of education so that the poor boy no longer has an equal opportunity with the son of wealthy parents in obtaining a professional education was the statement of Rev. Russell H. Conwell, president of Temple university of Philadelphia, speaking before the Young People's Union in connection with the convention in session here. He declared that an aristocracy of education now exists. "The whole system has come about through endowing our universities and colleges by the rich and they naturally dictate the policy and standards set by the state board," Rev. Conwell asserted. "Nowadays it doesn't depend on what you know; it is how rich you are."

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

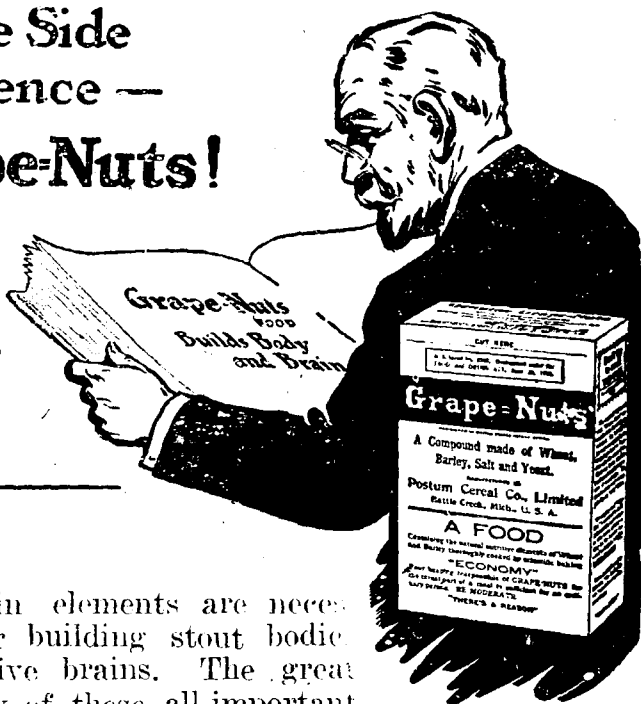

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair. A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.—Advertisement.

Capt. Jos. Bernier, Back from Arctic Hears About War

Capt. Joseph Bernier, Quebec, Oct. 16. Capt. Joseph Bernier, the Canadian arctic explorer, has just returned from the European war. He set sail for the north on July 4, 1914, making a successful trip to the new land known as Baffin Island, which, in 1916, will be recognized as a Canadian possession. It was not until the return of his vessel that the captain and his crew heard of the war.

On the Side of Science — Grape-Nuts!

Certain elements are necessary for building stout bodies and active brains. The great majority of these all-important elements for life and health are supplied by Nature in her field grains, wheat and barley. But white flour products lack these essential elements—Why?

Because the miller to make his flour look white and pretty throws out about 4-5ths of the mineral content of the wheat necessary for building brain, nerve and muscle.

Scientific opinion is on the side of

for supplying balanced nutritive values.

Not only does this famous pure food supply all the sound nourishment of the wheat, including the vital mineral elements—sturdy builders of brain, nerve and muscle—but of malted barley as well.

Grape-Nuts is easily digested, generally in about an hour—white flour products require about three hours.

Grape-Nuts is always ready to eat direct from the dust-proof, moisture-proof, germ-proof packet—delicious and economical!

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

EMIL EGLEY IS DEAD.

Decatur, Ind., Oct. 21.—Decatur, Ind., Oct. 21.—After many weeks of suffering that had its origin in an injury received when he was kicked by a horse, Emil Egley, a well known farmer residing west of Decatur, in Washington township, is dead. Mr. Egley was attending a sale at the George Bright farm in Kirkland township, when he received his injury. He was standing behind the animal when it became frightened and kicked, striking him in the lower part of the abdomen, and causing an intestinal rupture. Mr. Egley was born in Berns, Switzerland, on April 3, 1861, and grew to manhood in his native country, but at the age of 21 years came to the United States to make his home. He is survived by the widow, Magdalena Egley, and a family of sixteen children.

TO MAKE KENDALLVILLE DRY.

Kendallville, Ind., Oct. 21.—The fate of Kendallville's seven saloons will probably be decided at an option election late in November. The dry forces in session at a conference were almost unanimous for having such an election called. Steps were taken toward perfecting a permanent organization to carry on a pre-election campaign, and it was announced that petitions would be placed in circulation at once. If the required number of signers—one-fifth of the number voting at the last general election—are obtained, and dry leaders are confident that this will be an easy task, the petitions will be presented to the county commissioners at their next meeting, Monday, Nov. 1.

WAS BORN IN AUBURN IN 1841.

Auburn, Ind., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Anna Cosper McIntosh, wife of W. H. McIntosh and a resident of Auburn since 1896, passed away at her late residence here after a prolonged illness. About ten years ago on Halloween she fell and disabled her right arm and has been an invalid ever since. She was born in Auburn, September 17, 1841, and was aged 74 years, 1 month and 2 days. Her parents were James and Mary Cosper and they were among the earliest settlers of Auburn. Later Mr. Cosper bought a tract of land four miles east of Auburn and they built a house where she lived until the war broke out. Then she went to Murfreesboro, Tenn.

BALKY SAFE IS BACK HOME.

Montpelier, Ind., Oct. 21.—The large steel safe of the First National bank, which has been at the factory in Hamilton, Ohio, for the past four weeks, has arrived in this city. The safe is one with a time lock and was always set to open at 7 o'clock, but one morning refused to open. Experts were called, but after working for a few days, they gave up the attempt, and the safe was sent back to the factory where it was opened. New time locks were put in as the old ones were broken in an attempt to open the safe. By this safe being opened, $20,000, which it contained, was put out of circulation for several days and the bank had to borrow money for a short time to carry on its business.

MAY BECOME ARMY DENTIST.

Columbia City, Ind., Oct. 21.—Fred Wunderlich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wunderlich, of this city, and who graduated from a Chicago dental college last spring, left for Columbus, Ohio, Tuesday evening, where he took the examination of the regular army in an attempt to pass the dental examination. Should he succeed in passing the examination he intends to go into the army as a dentist and will rank as a second lieutenant to start with. There are at present twelve vacancies in the army and Mr. Wunderlich is in line for one of these places, providing he passes the examination.

SCHOOL RECORDS MISSING.

Montpelier, Ind., Oct. 21.—The school board is very anxious to receive information relative to the teachers' records, board records, or any other information contained in the old town school records for a period extending from 1873, when the town of Montpelier was separated from the township schools, until 1891, from which date the records are complete. Professor Kelley and the board have been searching for the records but have been unable to locate them. On account of the teachers' pension and disability act, it is necessary that the records be found so that it can be ascertained what teachers are eligible under the new law, to benefits.

NEGRO HANGS SELF IN CELL.

Angola, Ind., Oct. 21.—Despondent because he had been bound over to the circuit court on a charge of arson, with no prospect of procuring $500 bond for his release, Samuel Johnson, a negro, brought here from Ashley, hanged himself in the Steuben county jail here with a rope improvised from his bed clothing, suspending himself from the bars of his cell. He was accused of having set fire to the home of Emily Summers in Ashley. He had resided in Ashley about a year, making his home with Mrs. Lindsey, a colored woman.

GIRL IS SEVERELY HURT.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 21.—Miss Esther Yager, aged about 15, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Yager, of Vera Cruz, was severely injured Wednesday afternoon, when she jumped from a corn sled, to which she was driving a team of horses. The sled still was in motion and the girl did not clear the knives, and one of the blades caught one of her feet. A deep gash was laid open back of the foot and ankle and an artery severed and possibly ligaments injured.

WARSAW RUNAWAY LADS CAUGHT.

Warsaw, Ind., Oct. 21.—A trip to the "wild and woolly west," attempted by Leonard Kelly, aged 13, and George King, aged 14, two school boys of this city, was frustrated by Marshal William Cox, of Milford. The runaways left Warsaw Tuesday afternoon, making their way to Milford on a Big Four freight train, and by getting off at Milford they hoped to catch a freight into Chicago.

HOLDS MURDERER WAS SUICIDE.

Wabash, Ind., Oct. 21.—The Wabash county coroner died his verdict in the Fear murder case, declaring that Bert Fear died as the result of a shotgun wound in the breast, and that Mrs. Fear died from wounds inflicted by a revolver, both being killed by August Bion two weeks ago. The verdict says that the murder came to his own death by shooting himself through the heart with a shotgun. No reference is made to any possibility that Bion was killed by a member of a posse.

HOWE MAN HURT IN GOSHEN.

Goshen, Ind., Oct. 21.—Irvin Kenaga, of Howe, was injured about the head when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by a city car at the corner of Main and Plymouth avenue, here. The machine was driven by John Carper also of Howe. They were crossing Main street and did not see the car until they were almost on the track. They tried to stop but could not do so soon enough to miss the car. Mr. Kenaga had a bad gash cut in the temple and also a gash under the chin.

DISTRICT W. R. C. ELECTIONS.

Harford City, Ind., Oct. 21.—The Woman's Relief Corps district convention, in session here, elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Jesse Bugh, Harford City; vice president, Mrs. Margaret Louthman, of Decatur; secretary, Mrs. Evans, of Bluffton; treasurer, Mrs. Mabel Wehrly, of Montpelier; delegate to national convention, Mrs. Mamie Shinneman; alternate, Mrs. Hannah Reiff.

ESTATE OF DR. METTS $5,000.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 21.—County Assessor H. S. Gaunt has filed his appraisal of the estate of Dr. A. H. Metts, formerly of Ossian, and who fell dead on the streets of that town. He values the estate at $5,400, the appraisal placed on sixty acres of land. Mrs. W. H. Doan, of Fort Wayne, a second cousin is the sole heir to the estate. She made her home with Dr. Metts and family from the age of four.

A FINE TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE

Catarrh is such an insidious disease and has become so prevalent during the past few years that its treatment should be understood by all. Science has fully proved that Catarrh is a constitutional disease and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers, salves and nose douches seldom if ever give lasting benefit and often drive the disease further down the air passages and into the lungs.

If you have Catarrh or Catarrhal deafness or head-noises, go to your druggist and get one ounce of Parvint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and 1/2 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved, take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head-noises, clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and mucus stop dropping into the throat. This treatment has a slight tonic action which makes it especially effective in cases where the blood has become thin and weak. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every person who wishes to be free from this destructive disease should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

LE GORE NOT TO JOIN PROFESSIONAL RANKS.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 21.—Harry Le Gore, the Yale athlete who was disqualified by the faculty several days ago, has denied that he would leave college or play baseball professionally. Speaking for the Yale football coaches, Nelson Talbot, last year's captain, said that the incident of the five Yale baseball players was closed, and that, although Harvard has declared herself willing to take them back, they will not be permitted to wear Yale uniforms again.

Exodus 19:16-25.

16 And it came to pass on the third day in the morning, that there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud; so that all the people that was in the camp trembled.

17 And Moses brought forth the people out of the camp to meet with God; and they stood at the nether part of the mount.

18 And mount Sinai was altogether on a smoke, because the Lord descended upon it in fire; and the smoke thereof ascended as the smoke of a furnace, and the whole mount quaked greatly.

19 And when the voice of the trumpet sounded long, and waxed louder and louder, Moses spake, and God answered him by a voice.

20 And the Lord came down upon mount Sinai, on the top of the mount; and the Lord called Moses up to the top of the mount; and Moses went up.

21 And the Lord said unto Moses, Go down, charge the people, lest they break through unto the Lord to gaze, and many of them perish.

22 And let the priests also, which come near to the Lord, sanctify themselves, lest the Lord break forth upon them.

23 And Moses said unto the Lord, The people cannot come up to mount Sinai; for thou chargedst us, saying, Set bounds about the mount, and sanctify it.

24 And the Lord said unto him, Away, get thee down, and thou shalt come up, thou, and Aaron with thee; but let not the priests and the people break through to come up unto the Lord, lest he break forth upon them.

25 So Moses went down unto the people and spake unto them.

Uniform Traffic Rules.

In originating and advocating a uniform code of traffic regulations for all American cities the Safety First Federation of America, in session at Detroit, is leading the way in a most important and highly valuable undertaking. We are told that the proposal received the most enthusiastic and unqualified endorsement, and that efforts to induce its adoption by cities everywhere will speedily follow.

The object of the code, which is a result of letters and discussions between public safety officials all over the country, is to lessen accidents by making the same traffic rules govern each city. Briefly, the code provides for the strict examination of all who drive automobiles; makes the police of each community supreme in the handling of traffic; prohibits glaring headlights; abolishes siren whistles and calls for mufflers; prohibits smoking cars and makes a uniform rate of speed of ten miles an hour in the business districts of all cities. It provides the kind of intention signals which shall be used by automobile drivers and also designates the kind of signals that shall be used by all traffic officers.

That the coming of the automobile has vastly increased the hazard of street traffic will be apparent at once, and in the abnormal conditions now prevailing in Fort Wayne the danger of accident is vastly multiplied by the scores of machines engaged in the jitney business, while the drivers of other vehicles also contribute their full quota to the possibilities of fatality or of serious injury to those who use the streets with them. The driver who chances to find himself in another city than that with which he is familiar is very apt, as well, to discover the existence of a set of traffic regulations and signals entirely different from those with which he is familiar, and the result is further complication and further danger.

Traffic rules have for the most part been gladly and gracefully accepted because of the public recognition of need for them. They are justifying their existence by expediting traffic and conserving human safety. The efficacy of the movement will be tremendously increased if all the cities will unite on a common agreed code that shall prevail wherever there is any likelihood of street congestion.

Rather later than usual, but on hand at last is the annual announcement that the Thanksgiving supply of turkeys will be short this year, the estimate of the crop being at least 40 per cent. below that of last year. Responsibility is placed upon the long period of heavy rain during the summer which chilled the birds and stunted their growth. Whether the forecast is accurate or not, it appears to be sufficient for all practical purposes, for prices have begun to advance on the strength of it.

Political writers over the state are noting some signs of resurrection about the progressive organization, with the occasional buzzing of a political bee about the camp. The striking thing about the whole situation, however, is the pronounced absence of the names of those who bore the party burdens in Fort Wayne during the heat of certain well-remembered days of yore. Can it be that the Fort Wayne progressive has taken rank in the catalogue of extinct species?

Congressman Cullop, of Vincennes, is preparing to send out 25,000 letters to his constituents inviting them to write him expressing their views on the various public matters that are likely to come before congress at its next session. He desires to "get a line" on sentiment in his district, but if Congressman Cullop gets 25,000 replies he's going to be too busy reading and digesting them to do much saving the country during the next few months.

Samuel G. Hudson, the candidate backed by Mr. Bryan, has just been appointed postmaster at Lincoln, Neb., which is pretty fair sort of circumstantial evidence that the former secretary of state has not completely severed diplomatic relations with the administration, even if he found himself unable to endorse all its policies in connection with the war situation.

Political "machines" and the liquor interests are charged by the ladies with responsibility for the defeat of the equal suffrage proposition at the special New Jersey election. Inasmuch as political machines and the liquor interests have a fashion of doing that sort of thing, there is, after all, no occasion for especial surprise at the charges.

And, besides, with the federal anti-narcotic law in good working order, where and how do you suppose Mr. Warner or Mr. Warren or Mr. Hull—whichever his name may be—was able to procure the continuous supply of "dope" that materialized into those mental millions of his?

WHO IS AT FAULT?

(South Bend Tribune.)

Fort Wayne is agog just now over the interrupted romance of a young society girl who eloped with a pseudo-millionaire who has just been arrested for forgery. To make the thing more exciting a Purdue student, jilted lover of the girl, has announced he will shoot on sight the man who married his sweetheart.

The young folks are reported to have gone to Michigan City and there secured the license and were married. Just how they were able to obtain the license, considering the fact that Indiana women must, if the law is observed, obtain a license in the county in which they reside, is not clear.

It might be just as well for the authorities of Fort Wayne to learn whether the clerk of Laporte county violated the law in issuing a license to an Indiana woman not a resident of that county or whether the applicants perjured themselves in securing it. It has happened in this county before that a license was issued when it was illegal to do so; perhaps it has also happened in Laporte county.

The sooner county clerks are brought to a recognition that the law must be obeyed in securing a license and the sooner couples who perjure themselves are duly punished, the less likely is any community to have such affairs as Fort Wayne now has. It would be interesting to know who is at fault in this case.

SERUM WINS; PATIENT DIES.

(Chicago Post.)

The New York dailies have been devoting much space to a case of anthrax, a rare disease among humans, against which a Long Island citizen battled in Bellevue.

The federal bureau of animal industry provided a serum that has been used with great success to cure cattle afflicted with anthrax. The patient died, but the doctors say the serum did its remedial work thoroughly. The cause of death was not anthrax, but heart failure.

Had the patient's heart been stronger he would have recovered. That is comforting to others, though of little comfort to the dead man's family. It is well to know that a disease hitherto considered fatal beyond all hope when found in human beings is within reach of science. Had Bellevue been provided with the anti-anthrax serum, its earlier use would probably have been wholly successful. Rare as anthrax is, it will be well if hospitals ascertain how they can get an immediate supply of the remedy in case the emergent need arises.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 69 B. Marcellus avenue, Manhattan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation. Advertisement.

WOULD MAKE OHIO DRY.

Club Women Give Endorsement to State-Wide Prohibition.

Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 21.—Members of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs yesterday endorsed state-wide prohibition without a dissenting voice in the convention which is being held here. It is the first time in history that the federation as a body has taken a stand against the saloon. The federation is affiliated in a measure with the W. C. T. U.

MINISTER GIVES TESTIMONY.

The Rev. C. M. Knighton, Havana, Fla., writes: "For three months I suffered intense pain in kidneys and back, which at times laid me up entirely. I read of Foley Kidney Pills and after trying various remedies without result I decided to try the Foley treatment. I was relieved almost with the first dose and it is a fact that I used only 1 1/2 bottles when all of the pains disappeared. I am 55 years of age and now feel like a young man again." TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Capt. Allan H. Dougall has gone to Indianapolis on business.

R. L. Smith and Louis Heilbroner are attending the Cambridge City horse races.

Louis Jacquet, manager of the artificial ice company, will celebrate his birthday tomorrow.

The new bridge on DeWald street, over Shawnee run, will soon be completed and ready for traffic.

Louis J. Bobilya and Frank Will have left here to join Harvey Brokaw's hunting party in northern Michigan.

A. W. Jaxthoimer and Will Bostick have returned from West Lakes, near Rome City, where they caught seventy bass.

A Texas pony, belonging to Robert Hood, the Barr street meat market man, ran away yesterday and had not been recovered up to noon today.

Two hundred persons will be added to the population of Fort Wayne by the removal here of the Brooklyn Electric works, which have been consolidated with the local electric works.

RED MEN RAISE ASSESSMENT.

Increase Per Capita for Care of Orphans to Thirty Cents.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 21.—The annual meeting of the great council of Indiana Red Men closed late yesterday, after the installation of the new officers. Shortly before adjournment the delegate members voted to increase the per capita assessment for the care of orphans of members from twenty cents to thirty cents. The increase will net about $18,000 a year.

A committee was named to create sentiment for the passage of a widows' pension law. Frank McConaughy, great sachem, announced the appointment of his deputies. They are: W. C. Ballard, of Jeffersonville; George I. Kiser, of Terre Haute; Dr. A. B. Gray, of Monticello, and Thomas M. Rogers, of Dunkirk.

The weighing machine used in the laboratory of the bureau of standards in Washington is said to be the most accurate in the world. It will weigh the wing of a fly.

TWO CHILDREN HAD CROUP.

The two children of J. W. Nix, merchant of Cleveland, Ga., had croup last winter. One was a boy of 6, the other a girl of 8 years. Mr. Nix writes: "Both got so choked up they could hardly breathe and couldn't talk. I gave them Foley's Honey and Tar and nothing else and it cured them." This reliable medicine should be in every home for it gives immediate relief from colds, coughs and croup, heals raw, inflamed throat and loosens phlegm. Dreier Drug Co.—Advertisement.

15,000 CINCINNATIANS FROLIC AT FIRST MUNICIPAL PICNIC IN U. S.

Youngsters fishing in the free fishpond at Cincinnati's muny picnic.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 21.—Frank Rostock, editor of the Cincinnati Post, has what the staff calls a "bug" on parks.

He believes public parks aren't used enough by the public; that the parks should be made to produce larger welfare dividends for the money the city has invested in them; that if all the people could be got together for a day of play in the parks once in a while, they would get to know each other better.

While he was thinking thus one day, the municipal picnic idea was born in his mind. He had created a brand new American institution.

He carried the idea to the president of the park commission and that official saw that a municipal picnic was just the thing to solve the problem of how to introduce the people to their parks.

At its next meeting the park commission adopted resolutions making Rostock's idea a reality.

The four largest public parks were designated as the picnic grounds for everybody's picnic—the first municipal picnic ever held in the United States.

Outlying communities chartered special street cars to carry picnickers free. At dusk thousands of families had supper on the grass. It was really a great civic family having supper together.

And when the people of a city begin to see that they are as one family living in one house—the city—the individual citizen will do his best to help keep that house in order, say civic leaders.

They urge other cities to try the municipal picnic as a means of introducing citizens to each other and their parks.

BABES HAVE RIGHT TO CRY, JUDGE DECIDES

New York, Oct. 21.—Babies have a right to cry, even if they live in apartment houses and their crying is irritating to the other tenants.

Judge Young decided in the Seventh Municipal court when John J. Dillon, lessee of an apartment house at 47 Claremont avenue, brought action to evict Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Eisenberg, tenants, on the ground that their twenty-month-old son, David, was a nuisance when he cried.

Several other tenants of the house, mostly unmarried women, testified that the baby "seemed to have a pair of leather lungs, which he used frequently," and added that his last crying made their life unbearable. They had complained to the landlord, to the police, fire, and health departments for relief and the court action was finally brought to evict the family.

J. H. BAKER SERIOUSLY ILL

Retired Federal Judge Believed to Be Dying at Goshen.

Goshen, Ind., Oct. 20.—John H. Baker, a retired judge of the United States district court, is seriously ill at his home here. Judge Baker is nearly eighty-four years old. He was admitted to the bar in 1852, and elected to congress from the Thirtieth district three times, 1871, 1876, 1888. President Harrison appointed him judge of the United States district court in 1892, and he remained on that bench until 1902, when he was retired because of the age limit. His physicians hold out no hope for his recovery, and his friends believe he is dying.

MANY VIOLATE LIQUOR LAWS.

Several Offenders Are Fined in Delaware Circuit Court.

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 20.—George Hubbard, charged with operating a "blind tiger," was fined $100 and costs and was sent to jail by Judge Frank Ellis, of the circuit court. Edward McCray, also found guilty on a similar charge, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in jail. The men were indicted by the grand jury.

Jacob Jenkins was found guilty in the circuit court of making an illegal sale of liquor and was fined $75 and costs. A "blind tiger" charge against him was dismissed. On his plea of guilty to the charge of selling liquor illegally, James Dawson, one of the men held in connection with the death of Isaac Cox, was fined $50 and costs. Earl Thornburg, charged with operating a "blind tiger," was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to the state penal farm for sixty days, but the sentence was suspended. Milton Smith was acquitted in the city court of the charge of operating a "blind tiger."

ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLEMENT.

Terre Haute Land Company Manager Arrested on Indictments.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 21.—William C. Doak, president of the Doak-Riddle-Hamilton company, which is engaged in the insurance and real estate business, was arrested by Sheriff Kreitenstein on three indictments returned by the grand jury for embezzlement. It is charged that he embezzled $2,155 belonging to the company, which has been selling agent and manager the last fifteen years. Doak gave bond for $2,500.

Rumors have been current for some time of a shortage in Doak's accounts with the land company, which was organized several years ago for the development and sale of lots in the northwestern part of the city.

October 5 Doak brought suit against the company for $4,500, which he alleges was due him for his services since June, 1900, when he began his duties as manager of the company, of which J. H. Ray and J. W. Richardson, of the North Baltimore Bottle Glass company, are president and secretary, respectively.

CITY COURT FINES STRIKE-BREAKER

John Palmer, Jr., Pleads Guilty to Toting a Revolver.

In the city court, Thursday morning, John Palmer, jr., a smooth-faced youngster employed as a strike-breaking motorman on the city car lines, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons and was fined $10 and costs and his weapon was ordered destroyed by the sheriff according to law. Young Palmer was arrested one night last week when he left his car, after it had been stoned on West Main street, and flourished a revolver. He testified that he had not had the weapon on his person until he left his car to search for the person who had thrown a brick through the windows of the car. Attorney S. L. Morris, of the firm of Barrett, Morris & Hoffman, counsel for the Traction company, appeared for Palmer and withdrew a plea of not guilty, entered one of guilty and arranged to pay the fine.

Victims of Car Riot Still in Bed. On the representation of Prosecuting Attorney S. L. Callahan, the Frank Tibbles and Theodore Bruick, who engaged in a fight Sunday on East Creighton avenue, when both had their skulls fractured, that physicians stated neither man would be able to be in court for three or four weeks, the cases of assault and battery against the two were continued until November 11 and the bond of $1,000 in each case was made to stand. John Palmer, sr., was continued under $100 bond as a witness.

Susie Calhoun Is Held.

Susie Calhoun, the 16-year-old girl taken from a street car on which she had been riding for several hours Monday night as a guest of the conductor, a youngster employed as a strike-breaker, was certified to the juvenile court and was given into the custody of Police Matron Fannie M. Winch. She had changed her mind about not wanting to return to her parents in Anderson, and said she was now willing to go. It was thought best to hold her. Attorney K. Frankenstein, who had been employed by the girl's street car admirer, interested himself in the girl's behalf, but the court declined to consider his views of the case. The conductor had offered to pay the girl's fare back to Anderson. Susie ran away from home in Anderson five weeks ago, according to a letter received from her father, and had been in Dayton, O., and other places before coming to Fort Wayne, where employment in a minister's family had been procured for her by the Y. W. C. A.

Other City Court Cases.

Peter Houch, a loiterer, and Dick Beals, Henry Cole and Frank Casey, drunks, were turned loose.

Adam Mackin, a loiterer, was continued until Oct. 31 and went to jail in default of bond.

SUPPLIES AT REFORMATORY.

State Political Divisions Beginning to Obey Law Passed in 1905.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Oct. 21.—The first results of the efforts to obtain regard for the law of 1916, requiring all political divisions of the state to buy what supplies they can from the Indiana reformatory, is being felt in the trunk schools of that institution though so far the majority of counties have not made any considerable purchases. The Marion county order for furniture and shoes is said to me the first ever received from that county, although the law has been on the statutes ten years and a penalty is provided for wilful disregard of the law, including a possible removal from office.

The printing trade school at the institution has been busy getting out catalogues and folders showing the articles manufactured at the institution. So far as known, Clark county has only bought a desk for the sheriff's office and a large table for the auditor's office since the enactment of the law. Both of these are of excellent workmanship.

The trade schools have recently been busy making mattresses and a car load of felt was received last week to be used on large orders for various state institutions.

TAKES THREE TO STOP FIGHT.

Mayor, Ex-Mayor and Justice of Peace Are Involved in Quarrel.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Oct. 19.—A justice of the peace, the mayor and an ex-mayor were involved yesterday when a fight broke out between two matrimonial agents opposite the interurban station. However, the mayor and his predecessor were involved only as peace-makers. Willie Kraus and Edward Coward were arrested on charges of provoke and assault, after they had engaged in a struggle to obtain a prospective man and wife. Mayor Ernest

EDISON DAY

Special Concert of Mr. Edison's Favorite Records All Day

This is Edison Day. Given over in nearly every place in honor of the man who has done so much for his fellow men.

We will play a list of twelve of Mr. Edison's favorite records all day.

Hear the Edison Diamond Disc records which Mr. Edison calls his favorites. See if you can tell why they appeal to him more than any other of the exquisite Edison re-creations.

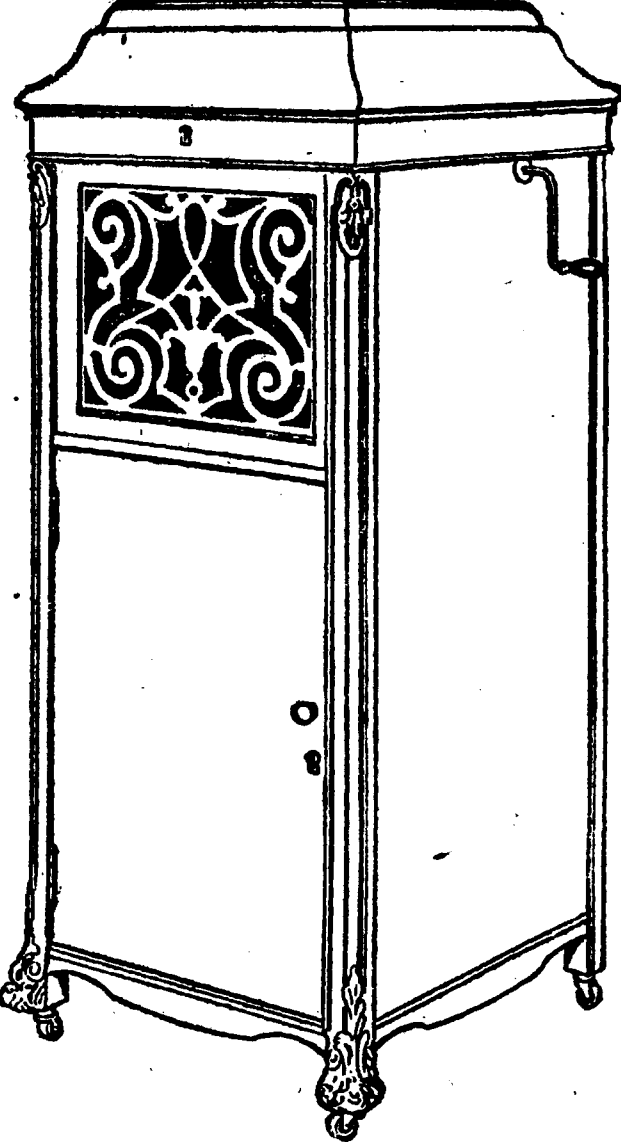

See if you agree with Mr. Edison.

The laboratory re-creation of the voices and instruments of many famous artists may be heard today if you will come in. Among them is Alice Verlet, the Belgian coloratura soprano, hailed by European critics as the new "Queen of Song." Hear the re-creation of her voice in Caro Nome, from Rigoletto. Hear also Marie Delna, Carl Flesch, Paulo Gruppe, Thomas Chalmers, Albert Spalding and others. All favorites of Mr. Edison. See full program below. Ask if you wish to hear your own favorite from the great library of Edison Records, the best in the world of music. We will be glad to play it for you.

EDISON WEEK OCTOBER 18th to 23rd

The whole country is celebrating Mr. Edison's great achievements this week. Today, October 21st, has been set aside as Edison Day, in honor of one of his greatest inventions.

On December 9, 1914, the Edison factories were destroyed by one of the greatest fires that ever occurred. In twenty-three days, Mr. Edison was again making phonographs and records. Today, only ten months after the fire, he actually is producing 100% more disc records, and 50% more phonographs than before the fire.

Style 250, Official Laboratory Model

The New Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph is one of Mr. Edison's greatest inventions. It is his pet and hobby. The perfected musical instrument resulting from four years' continuous research by the master inventor.

All music lovers should hear the new Edison this week. Note how perfectly it reproduces the artist's music—human, life-like, natural. The laboratory re-creation of music as opposed to manufactured music.

Concert Today

No Charge for Admission

Come and hear Mr. Edison's favorite records at the special Edison Day Concert today. Hear also the choice program of exquisite music selected from the great library of Edison records. No charge for seats. You will not be asked to purchase. We are giving these special concerts this week in recognition of Mr. Edison's great achievements.

HERE'S HOW THEY'D DIVIDE UP U. S. A.

Amazing Proposition Makes America Prize in War Settlement.

Paris, Oct. 10.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The subjoined curious communication written on thick official-looking folio paper without any indication of its origin has been delivered by messenger at the office of the Agence Havas, the principal news agency in France:

"The United States as the prize for settlement of the present European conflict.

"It is stated on high authority that suggestions have been made in the diplomatic circles of European chancelleries declaring that the easiest solution and the one most acceptable to all the warring nations would be the partition among them of the United States of America. The United States of America are a most inviting prize as compensation for the sacrifices rendered by these nations, and an arrangement on the basis of the respective relations of the different nations is surprisingly practicable.

"So far from being a visionary scheme for a solution of this great world conflict, the fact is only too apparent that only a small part of the effort expended in the sanguinary struggle, now raging, would have sufficed to satisfy all nations in their respective ambitions.

"A noted diplomat declared his surprise, that this idea of the partition of the United States had not merged sooner, because the land is so largely made up of the constituency of all the warring nations.

"The tentative plan to satisfy thus the national ambitions of the European countries at war, instead of prolonging the internecine struggle is broadly outlined as follows:

"Great Britain is to occupy New England, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

"France is to get the French parts of Eastern Canada and the states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Tennessee, and Kentucky.

"Germany is to occupy the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

"Japan is to take the Pacific coast, the state of Oregon, upper and lower California.

"Mexico is to be compensated for lower California by ceding to it Arizona, New Mexico and part of Texas.

"Russia will receive Alaska.

"The Panama Canal will be declared free, whilst the western states, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Washington, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Utah and Colorado will be consolidated into an imperial crown-domain of the German empire.

"Though these 'satisfactions' are to be acquired in a concerted campaign, each of the several nations is to effect the occupation of its own allotted territory.

"Thus, it is claimed, would best be met the rights and interests of the different nations of old Europe, as it would safeguard their nationals under their respective flags.

"Whatever be said about this bold solution it should be appreciated that in many ways it is more feasible than the three successive partitions of Poland, which nevertheless are historic facts.

"Truth is sometimes stranger than fiction. This alleged tentative understanding of the powers at war may be relegated to imaginative fiction, but it is surely not stranger than the sober truth, and it might easily take its form."

Society

Beautiful weather, a charming hostess and a Halloween celebration for a luncheon-bridge party were the delights that fifty ladies enjoyed as guests of Mrs. E. F. Keller at the Country club on Thursday. The luncheon was at 1 o'clock and the bridge playing afterwards. Yellow and pumpkin colors were carried out as much as possible in the luncheon menu, favors and tally cards, as well as in the artistically arranged decorations. Mrs. Muhlfeld, of Peru, who is visiting her niece, Mrs. Averil, and Miss Sue Robinson, of Peru, who is the guest of Mrs. F. L. Brown, were the only visiting guests present.

Fort Wayne club women as well as other club women of northern Indiana are interested in the announcement that Mrs. Clark Fairbank, of this city, decided on Wednesday to become a candidate for the office of president of the State Federation of Clubs. Up to this time Mrs. Fairbank has steadfastly refused to consider the candidacy at all. But at the convention of the state organization of D. A. R. meeting in Terre Haute this week, Mrs. Fairbank is attending, pressure was brought to bear upon her to such an extent that she yielded to persuasion and her candidacy is therefore announced. There has been considerable talk about having a candidate for the office from northern Indiana, although Mrs. Lewis E. Cox, of Terre Haute, is the announced candidate from the southern part of the state. Mrs. Fairbank declined to consider the candidacy because of her great interest in other work, the department of conservation and the endowment fund work of the federation. She is also interested in local work, particularly the Morning Musical society of which she has been president for many years; the local Art school and the Equal Franchise society. Mrs. Fairbank has always been prominent in D. A. R. work in this city and was a delegate from Mary Penrose Wayne chapter to the state convention. Prominent club women heartily endorse her candidacy. The Indiana Federation of Clubs will convene in Indianapolis the coming week. Mrs. Lewis Cox is a brilliant and popular woman who has held the office of vice-president of the state federation twice and is well known to club women of the state. It is said that there is some "politics" in the circles of clubdom and there may be considerable friction between the northern and southern factions of the state when it comes to the election of officers.

The Eta Alpha club will be guests of Miss Marjorie Dailey at their fortnightly dinner on Saturday evening.

Miss Mary Kane, of the St. James apartments, has returned from an extended visit in Saginaw, Mich.

Mrs. A. L. Zickgraf and daughter, of Cottage avenue, left Thursday for Edgerton, O., for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vickers, of Harrison, Ohio, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Millard for a short visit, went to Chicago on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Belden Eckenrode are now at home in the White apartments. Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Dunkelberg are entertaining Hugh Chalmers, of Detroit, Mich., for a few days.

Miss Mary Jane Crane entertained her sewing club Wednesday afternoon at her home in College street. Other members of this club are Dorothy Mossmann, Mary Katherine George, Dorothy Gumpier and Amy Thomas.

The Bonta Mac sewing club met with Mrs. William Lichtsinn, 921 Washington boulevard east, on Tuesday afternoon and spent a pleasant time. Music was a feature of the afternoon. Mrs. Haas, of Lakeside, will be the hostess next time.

Miss Rachel Conn, of Milton, Wis., who is visiting Miss Marian Ingham, of Webster street, was the honor guest at a theater party on Wednesday afternoon, given by Miss Nora Barbour. The young ladies went to the Jefferson theater and to a confectioner's afterwards.

Four young women whose birth anniversaries come in October held a birthday celebration on Wednesday evening in honor of themselves. They went to the English tearoom for dinner and to the Temple theater afterwards for entertainment. The young women were Misses Anna MacNaughton, Margaret Baus, Mabel Martin and Alma Dorr. Master Frank Edmunds, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edmunds, celebrated his fourth birthday on Wednesday at a party given by his mother. The children who were guests were Mary Ellen and James Heif, Dorothy Myers, Dorothy Houser, Evelyn and Mary Haines, David Bush, Buster Walter, Dorothy Niebergall and Billy Edmunds.

The Little Dutch club members went to Bluffton Thursday to be guests of Mrs. Charles Arnold. The ladies of the club who formed the party are Mrs. Alex Wilson, Mrs. Frank Stewart, Mrs. Edward Riker, Mrs. William Lawson, Mrs. O. O. Thwing, Mrs. Margaret Wood, Mrs. J. E. K. France, Mrs. Frank Kelsey, Mrs. J. S. House and Mrs. W. J. Ungemach.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dunbar, of Ely street, entertained at a family dinner on Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. Dunbar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunbar, of Newwater, Tenn. Those present besides the honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Aaron McCullough, of Holmesville, Ohio; James and Jennie McCullough, Mr. and Mrs. Christ Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. McCullough returned to Ohio Thursday morning.

Thirty-two ladies of Concordia ladies' society assisted Mrs. William Hahn, of West Main street, celebrate her sixty-third birthday anniversary on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Hahn served a tempting supper such as she is famous for preparing and the company spent a delightful time. A basket of flowers, which was one of many gifts that Mrs. Hahn received, decorated the long supper table. Mr. Hahn is in Cleveland just now visiting their daughter, Mrs. Kaase.

Miss Eva Elder, a bride-elect of this fall, was honored recently by a very pretty party that Miss Bertha Greiner, of Vesey avenue, gave in her honor. Games and refreshments were enjoyed by Misses Eleanor Kern, Florence Sels, Harriet Drogemeyer, Frances Corcoran, Helen Covington, Anna Scherzinger, Sophie Renken, Florence Benken, Rose Offerle, Louise Malchive, Flossie Ehrhart, Alvina Allman, Bernadine Hergeirather, Rosamond Townsend, Alma Hoffman, Mrs. M. Bohrer, Mrs. Gephart and Mrs. Henry Greiner.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Majestic to Offer "The Only Girl" Next Wednesday.

At the Majestic on next Wednesday Joe Weber will present for the first time in this city the latest musical comedy success, "The Only Girl," which has just completed a run of nearly one entire year at the Lyric theater, New York. The piece is the collaborative effort of Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom, who have, in the past, been responsible for our best musical productions, including "The Red Mill" and "Mlle. Modiste." These two have worked in conjunction with Fred C. Latham, the noted stage director, remembered in the past for having staged so many of the Herbert-Blossom productions. One can easily understand the success of "The Only Girl" when such master minds as Weber, Herbert, Blossom and Latham are concentrated in one effort. In addition to these four, considerable credit must be given to Ludwig Fulda, inasmuch as it was from his charming comedy, "Our Wives," that inspired Mr. Blossom to adapt it to musical comedy.

Poss found in mummy cases have been placed quite recently and found to grow.

HAVE PRETTY HOME WEDDING ON THURSDAY.

MR. AND MRS. W. F. HITZEMAN.

The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Engleking, of 828 East Jefferson street, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Thursday afternoon when Miss Clara Engleking and Mr. William F. Hitzeman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hitzeman, were married by Rev. Jacob Miller. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Wilhelmine Engleking and the groom by Mr. Louis Gerwig. The wedding music was furnished by Mr. Elmer Stahl, pianist, and Mr. Charles Roembke, violinist, and they played the bridal music from "Lohengrin" as the bride couple took their place under an arch of sunflowers and white flowers, and "Evening Star" in subdued tones during the reading of the marriage service. The bride wore a tailored dress of white pussy willow tulle with collar of lace and a trimming of chiffon and white plush arranged in tailored effect. The bride wore a long veil of tulle that trailed slightly. It was held to the bride's hair with a band of lace fastened on both sides with tiny clusters of roses. The bride's bouquet was of white roses. The bridesmaid was gowned in a Nile green tulle dress with a corsage bouquet of sunburst roses and a rose in her hair were finishing touches to her pretty costume. As soon as congratulations had been extended to the bride and groom an elegant wedding dinner was served to the company numbering nearly fifty and including only the relatives of the two families and a few of the closest friends of the bride and groom. The bride's table was decorated with white roses, sunflowers and the wedding cake that was also entwined with sunflowers and swansonia. The house was festooned with bitter-sweet berries mingled with salvia blossoms while groups of palms and ferns formed an appropriate background. The bride and groom are to take a wedding trip for a few days and will be at home to their many friends at 1125 High street, after Nov. 21. For traveling the bride wears a suit of black cloth with pin stripe of white and having collar and cuffs of tan broadcloth. A hat to correspond with the suit is made of black velvet with broadcloth crown of tan color and a bird-of-paradise ornament. Miss Sylvia Slavov, of Defiance, O., and Mr. Grover Hall, of Defiance, were the only guests from out of town present at the wedding. Mr. Hitzeman is a grocer with a store located near the entrance of the Lincoln highway to the city. Both bride and groom are well known young people and St. Paul's Lutheran church circles.

AT THE TEMPLE.

SPLENDIDLY DRESSED.

Temple Theater Players' Production of the Rosary.

Better dressed than any road production of the drama ever seen in this city is the presentation of The Rosary, being given by the Temple players this week. As usual, of course, the show has been painted from top to bottom, and the closing scene before the Chapel of the Rosary, is a particularly effective one. The scenic artist has created a stage setting that it is difficult to believe was painted to be used but one week and then cast aside for another now in the paint frame. The stained glass window reproductions are real triumphs in scenic art, so good in fact that one rarely encounters their parallel except in the highest priced road shows. The opening scene, the garden of Bruce Wilton's home, is backed by a landscape curtain that is more than passingly good.

The players themselves are giving the Rosary a remarkable production, probably introducing a little more comedy than in some presentations, but never sacrificing any of the dramatic power of the intense scenes.

AT THE EMPRESS.

George Bartlett, that funny little Hebrew comedian, and his crew of merry-makers open at the Empress today in an entire new show, new scenery, new comedy, new costumes, new songs, and in fact everything new from beginning to end. The show that this clever comedian will present is called "The Hotel De Luxe." It is a most laughable farce with plenty of funny situations that keep you in a most happy mood throughout. The Harmony Trio will present an entire new repertoire of Irish and other melodies, and it is a treat to hear these three crowned heads of harmony land sing their Irish songs. "The Hotel De Luxe" will be with us but today, Friday and Saturday, and anyone who misses a chance to go on one of these three days will miss the comedy that has scored throughout the country.

AT KEITH PALACE

HAVE A PIFFICK OR TWO.

They Are Worth Only $9,000,000 in Dreamland.

Kick aside those pifficks lying on the sidewalk and step high to keep your feet out of the champagne flowing in the gutters of Dreamland, when you make the trip to that fantastic heaven for doppers with Bob Mathews and Al Shayne at the New Palace this week. The short gentleman tossing pifficks to the birds and buying everything in sight as he wafts down the main stem of Dreamland, is Perry Hull's ghost. He was one of the first citizens of Dreamland before he got himself jerked to jail. These piffick things are the coins of the realm of Dreamland and are worth approximately $9,000,000 each. Perry Hull, or Charles L. Warren, as he is called in Dreamland, had aches of them. One of the angriest and most spirited bills of the entire season is the current program at the New Palace. Patriola and Mayers, vaudeville's foremost eccentric dancers, are doing some steps this week that have proved a riot with the addicts. Once upon a time there was a real voice in vaudeville, and now and then it reappears in a new incarnation. It is here this week in the throat of Miss Ethel Hopkins, daughter of the late Col. Hopkins, of international fame as an entertainer.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

VALESKA SURATT AT ORPHEUM.

Famous Beauty of Great White Way in "The Soul of Broadway."

Valeska Suratt, one of the most discussed women of the modern stage or screen, is known throughout the world as the fashion plate of the dramatic profession. Her gowns have made millions gasp by their daring and originality, as well as by their dazzling lavishness of design. In making her screen debut in "The Soul of Broadway" at the Orpheum theater during the coming three days, Miss Suratt has outdone all her previous efforts in gowns and millinery, fashioned by famous modistes, wearing in all 150 gowns, some daintily and uniquely simple, others that are calculated to make the feminine portion of her audience break into astonished exclamations.

It is estimated that Miss Suratt changes her costume completely during every forty feet of film run. Many of these fashionable creations are designed to match the "sets" in "The Soul of Broadway," which latter in themselves are unlike anything ever seen before in a playhouse production.

Some of the notable coming attractions at the Orpheum theater are Theda Bara in "Carmen," Ethel Barrymore in "The Final Judgment" and Francis X. Bushman and Marguerite Snow in "The Silent Voice."

AT THE JEFFERSON.

"THE MASTER OF THE HOUSE"

Famous Dramatic Star, Julius Steger, at Jefferson Today and Tomorrow.

In presenting "The Master of the House" today and tomorrow at the Jefferson, the public is given the first opportunity to see on the screen Julius Steger, who appeared in the original stage play during its long run at the Maxine Elliott theater, New York, and also on tour.

Mr. Quimby, owner and manager of the Jefferson, has had the opportunity to personally review this film, and the fact that it was booked for two days after his review is sufficient to assure Jefferson patrons of a rare treat in its production. "The Master of the House" story in itself is one of those interest impelling affairs that come to the public once in a decade, and the great and glorious situations, compiled by a movie director, makes the famous story doubly attractive.

It tells one of the most potent stories ever created by a fictionist, dealing with a husband who tires of his wife, whom he deems old-fashioned, and his attempt to graze in pastures new, with disastrous results, which bring about a reunion with his wife.

THE GRAND.

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "Thirty."

The special feature attraction at the Grand today is "Thirty," a two reel Essanay written by Victor Eubank, supplies the material for this interesting newspaper picture. Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are featured in the cast.

The office and press room of a Chicago daily is effectively made use of to lend the proper atmosphere. The above is the fourth Bushman Review shown at the Grand so far and each Thursday brings a larger crowd to view these popular plays. The management wishes to announce that next Thursday Bushman will appear in "Providence and Mrs. Urmey." This feature comes in three parts.

SAYS HE IS BEING TRAILED AS A SPY

Man Picked Up in St. Louis is Now Held for Mental Observation.

St. Louis, Oct. 21.—A man who said he was Hiram Lewisohn, son of a prominent London playwright, was held for observation at the City hospital here today pending investigation of a story he told the local police last night of having been trailed from London to this city by sleuths from Scotland Yard, who thought he was a spy.

The prisoner carried business cards giving 32 Craven street, Strand, London, as his residence. He gave the police the names of two New York women whom he said were his mother and sister, but inquiries at the New York address evoked the statement that no Hiram Lewisohn was known there. Another card in Lewisohn's pocket bore the name of L. G. Jennings, 2519 East Washington street, Indianapolis, Ind. Lewisohn said his troubles began in London four months ago when he met an American woman at a dinner and unintentionally gave the impression that he was a spy. His father, the prisoner said, saved him from execution by asserting that young Lewisohn was of unsound mind. When taken in charge by local police Lewisohn said he was en route to San Antonio, Tex.

MET HIM ON TRAIN.

Indianapolis, Oct. 21.—L. G. Jennings, of this city, whose card was found in the pocket of Hiram Lewisohn, detained in St. Louis, said he met Lewisohn on a train coming from New York and that Lewisohn asked him for his card.

"Lewisohn told me he was from London, and that he was trailed by a detective," said Jennings.

"After I talked with Lewisohn another man on the train came to me and, representing himself to be a detective, asked what Lewisohn had said. I did not like the looks of the detective and didn't tell him anything. Lewisohn did not appear exactly rational and a woman passenger, who said she came over on the ship with Lewisohn, told me that the latter had been kept in a straight jacket most of the way over after his clothes had twice been set on fire."

Jennings said he saw the man only on the train and did not know anything about him except what he had been told.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

If peevish, feverish and sick, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

DEATH FROM THE SKY DRAWS FOLK NEARER

Fear of Zeppelins Making People of London One Vast Family.

By Mary Boyle O'Reilly.
London, England, Oct. 10.—(By mail).—In three nights London has not slept! "Twin Zeppelins" have cruised above the darkened city showering down incendiary and explosive bombs.

Day after day miles and miles of shattered windows, 50 buildings burning—a score of them humble homes, and 200 unarmed men, women or children burned, mutilated or killed—that is how the enemy makes war.

Every Englishman realizes that the great air raid intended to leave London in smoldering ruins may now be only a matter of hours.

The nervous strain is terrific—but there is no sign of panic. Instead, the greatest city on earth has suddenly become a vast village of friendly neighbors.

In the darkened streets and shadows strangers speak frankly of the coming danger—cold English convention has disappeared and 7,000,000 people are as one vast family.

The dimly lit train speeding through darkness toward outer London was crammed with mothers and their babies. The weary woman beside me gathered her awed and silent brood around her knees.

"My brother's wife has sent for us," she explained. "And them with six children of their own. Sure, you never know your friends until you need them. We were friends as girls, only, like others we drifted apart."

"When the police ordered all to seek safety in their cellars—my heart went cold. Our tenement has no cellar, no more have any neighbors for miles around. It seemed like we must be the poor that God forgot."

"I tried my best to keep up before the children—then just at dusk a tired lad fetched me a dispatch. 'Hannah, dear,' it read, 'come at once and bring the little ones.'"

The solemn five-year-old, upright on his mother's knee withdrew a puckered thumb from rose lips. "Mummy," he demanded, "was it the bad Zeppelin brought us our new auntie?"

Outside the train windows shadowy processions of women and children streamed toward a lighted church basement.

"Church or chapel welcome all alike tonight," said a woman near by. "Somehow it seems that more good than evil must grow of these awful air raids."

Every hundred yards along dim curbs the electric flashlights of policemen winked in the darkness. Their reassuring voices directed a surging throng.

"All the tenements near the munition factories and gas works have been cleared by the women policemen," explained the conductor.

From the nights which guard London I could count a dozen searchlights sweeping the arch of the dark with mile-long flashes. Returning by underground I found every empty station guarded by quiet fighting men in khaki—territorially ready to prevent bomb attacks on the tunnels.

A trainload of red cross nurses were hurrying toward the threatened city. Each carried an emergency kit. "We spoke of the giant 'birds of death' hovering over London and the terrible test of long, long waiting."

The sympathetic young nurses smiled gravely. "Then one, more talkative than the rest, spoke with conviction. 'Of this be very sure,' she said. 'It means much to a city to learn what things really count and the unimportance of trifles.'"

"Today there is no doubt that a braver, kinder, more self-forgetting spirit has come into thousands of homes as a direct result of the air raids over London."

NOTE OF HORROR IN WHITLOCK'S REPORT?

Execution of British Nurse by Germans as Spy Stirs London.

London, Oct. 21.—The circumstances connected with the execution by the German authorities at Brussels of Miss Edith Cavell, a British nurse, occupy constantly increasing attention in London. The forthcoming publication of the report of Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, on his efforts in Miss Cavell's behalf, is awaited with keenest interest. This report will be published in tomorrow morning's newspapers. The Mail says the report is a long one and adds:

"This account will strike a note of horror throughout the world. It will tell of the wonderful heroism of a woman who had nursed German wounded. It will tell of the greatest fight for a woman's life that was ever fought, of unavailing efforts of nobles and neutrals to combat the callous secret cunning of the Germans."

The Post publishes today a letter from Miss Cavell's cousin concerning her devotion to her work as a nurse.

"My cousin's devotion to the alleviation of the suffering caused her to devote her life to nursing in Brussels," the letter says. "She voluntarily remained there to continue her work when the city was taken by the Germans. She would have nursed a German with as much tenderness as an Englishman."

"In a letter to me she said, 'We have no wounded here now. The allies do not come here and the Germans are sent back to their own country. The few that remain are nursed by their own countrywomen, so we are denied the great consolation of being of use in our own special way.'"

"She allowed the womanly quality of compassion to get the better of prudence and self-interest. For this she has suffered untoward miseries and died a martyr's death."

English newspapers draw a parallel between the case of Miss Cavell, in Belgium, and Mrs. Louise Herbert, who was sentenced to six months imprisonment as a spy in England. Mrs. Herbert's appeal was heard at Durham yesterday. She admitted that she had sought information regarding munitions and intended to send this information to Germany. The judge asked her yesterday:

"Did you intend to send the information to Germany if you got the chance?"

"Yes I did," she replied.

Mrs. Herbert also admitted she had corresponded with Germany through friends in Switzerland. The judge, astonished by her frank answers, remarked: "This woman has a conscience—she wishes to answer truthfully and deserves credit for that. At the same time she is dangerous." He affirmed the sentence of six months' imprisonment.

OPENS FIRE ON A PRIEST.
Former Inmate of Insane Asylum Locked Up After Attack.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 21.—Angered over an alleged grievance William Frye fired two shots at Rev. C. Rhode, pastor of Holy Cross Catholic church yesterday afternoon as the priest was walking along the street.

Both bullets missed their mark. Rev. Father Rhode sprang upon his assailant and disarmed him. At the police station, Frye's only comment was: "I tried to make good my word."

Rev. Father Rhode told the police Frye was at one time in an insane asylum.

It was said.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weak, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in uric acid, no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.

MEAT PRICES ARE AS LOW AS EVER

Quotations Are About the Same as Last Year, Declare Local Dealers.

Fort Wayne residents who have been wailing and gnashing their teeth because the European war is forcing the high cost of living up higher will be disappointed to hear that the war is doing just the opposite—forcing the high cost of living down. Sounds strange, but it's true nevertheless. Figures prove it and figures won't lie.

A story emanating from the east claims the war has boosted the cost of living 15 per cent in the last year and to make it sound authentic the price of meat is quoted as statistics. An investigation in Fort Wayne proves the story is exaggerated grossly and that anything from liver to choice sirloin steaks can be purchased today in Fort Wayne as cheaply as ever before. Pork may be slightly higher than at this particular time last year, but the war has nothing to do with it.

The story showing that the war has forced the cost of living skyward quotes the price of prime rib roast at 24 cents one year ago and claims it is now selling at 28 cents, an advance of 4 cents a pound. Fort Wayne prices for rib roast are from 12 1/2 to 15 cents a pound, the same as a year ago.

The story from the east further claimed that excessive exportation had caused the increase. Fort Wayne meat men contend that the embargo placed on an announcement of the state board of education, made public today, W. C. Wood, a member of the board, said that the state board is ready to issue certificates to military instructors with proper qualifications and that they will be paid at the same rate as other special teachers. The ruling affects seventeen high school companies now organized and is expected to act as a stimulus to the organization of many other companies.

AS PART OF HIGH SCHOOL COURSE.
California Prepares to Provide Military Instruction.

San Francisco, Oct. 21.—California is to provide military instruction as part of the public high school course, according to an announcement of the state board of education, made public today.

W. C. Wood, a member of the board, said that the state board is ready to issue certificates to military instructors with proper qualifications and that they will be paid at the same rate as other special teachers. The ruling affects seventeen high school companies now organized and is expected to act as a stimulus to the organization of many other companies.

ASK UNIVERSITIES TO HELP.

Movement to Develop Ideals of American Citizenship.

New York, Oct. 21.—One hundred and fifty universities and colleges were invited by the National Americanization committee to co-operate in a movement to develop ideals of American citizenship, efficiency and the civilian side of preparedness throughout the country.

The committee was organized at a meeting in the home of Vincent Astor last October 15. The committee states that if the colleges can prepare students for politics, finance and social service, they may well prepare them for the work of Americanization. Trained leaders, the committee said, are needed to weld the many people of this country into one nation for peace or war.

Mrs. R. M. Bolman, wife of Dr. Bolman, 1421 Wells street, dropped two diamond rings valued at $650 and a gold watch into the toilet at her home Wednesday. Plumbers had to work several hours digging up the waste pipe and overhauled drains before the valuables were recovered.

Physician's Skin Remedy

Dr. Holmes, the well-known skin specialist, writes: "I am convinced that the D. D. D. Prescription is as much a specific for Eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D. D. D. remedy for years. This soothing compound of oil of wintergreen and other healing ingredients gives instant relief the moment it is applied. It strikes through the pores, kills and throws off the gnawing disease germs and quickly heals the inflamed tissues. All cases of skin disease, mild or violent, yield to this soothing liquid wash."

WHAT THE CLOCK DID TO THE DOCTOR

This released the spring, which set the key whirling with great rapidity in the doctor's hand. The sharp edges of the key cut his fingers to the bone and tore gashes in his hand, inflicting a serious wound. Luckily Dr. Sphon held a policy in the Fort Wayne Mercantile Accident Association, and he was liberally recompensed because of his disability.

The case with which we meet with serious mishaps is well illustrated by the case of E. W. Sigl, of Fort Wayne, who received a sprain in his shoulder while adjusting a spring in his automobile. Like Dr. Sphon, Mr. Sigl held a policy in the Mercantile and received an ample financial recompense because of his mishap.

The growth of the Mercantile to its present large proportions is due to the fact that for a cost not to exceed $10 per year it provides for the removal of $5000 in case of death by accident and many other liberal features. See the Secretary, L. H. Ransom, in the People's Trust Building, for full information. Phone 2494. Many who have been held interested in the Mercantile as a splendid means of protection against loss by accident are now turning to it with enthusiasm because of the more recent revelations of its benefits to many policyholders.—Advertisement.

The Ratchet Broke.
D. R. GEORGE W. SPOHN, of Elkhart, Ind., at the close of a busy day, stopped to wind the clock at his home before retiring. While in the midst of the seemingly harmless occupation something happened which might not occur again in many lifetimes—the clock handed him an injury which he will never forget. The ratchet within the clock, which holds the mainspring, broke while the doctor was holding the key in place.

INJURED REGULARS GET BACK INTO LINEPurdue's Strong Men to Face Boilermakers
Saturday.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 21.—Despite the painful injuries they received in the strenuous Wisconsin game Saturday, Captain Blocker, Pultz and Buechner are all out again for practice with the rest of the Purdue squad, and it is likely that the Boilermakers will be able to present their strongest front to Chicago next Saturday at Stagg field. Indications are that 1,200 students will accompany the team to Chicago. Coach Smith gave his men a comparatively light workout again this afternoon, thinking it best not to take any chances of injuring any of his limited supply of back field material. The men yesterday afternoon had blackboard drill and some signal work and shadow scrimmage. A strong effort is being made by the coaches to strengthen the offense and inject more speed into the backs. It is believed that Purdue's defense will not be found wanting.

The two Chicago players most feared by Purdue this year are Flood and Russell. It was Flood who last year tore open the Boilermakers' defense and his line plunging was responsible for Chicago's scoring.

Purdue Has Stronger Line.
This year the Purdue line is stronger than last year's, due to the good work of Physical Director Catts, who has devoted much of his time in the last few weeks to drilling the forwards. With such an array of fighters as Blocker at center, Mason and Droun at guards, Berns and Buechner at tackles and VanKen and Stinchfield at ends, it looks as if Purdue's forward wall will be able to cope with the Maroons' line, although the giant Redman and other heavyweights on the Chicago team will greatly outweigh Purdue's light forwards.

The followers of the gold and black eleven are very hopeful of victory Saturday. Having been defeated by Wisconsin this is regarded as Purdue's last chance to secure a successful season. To lose to Chicago, many believe, will mean defeat by Iowa and probably by Indiana as well. But a victory over the Maroons would be regarded as a very favorable omen and an indication of the Boilermakers' ability to defeat both Iowa and Indiana.

FAIR ANITA REACHES
HER JOURNEY'S ENDWas First Woman to Drive from Coast to Coast Alone.

New York, Oct. 21.—Miss Anita King, a motion picture actress of Los Angeles, arrived here yesterday in a Kissel Kar after a strenuous journey of forty-nine days from the coast.

A remarkable feature of the trip was the fact that Miss King not only drove the car all the way herself, but came across without any companion. She is probably the first driver of the fair sex to make the trip alone.

Miss King, who came in a rather roundabout way, covered 5,200 miles. Outside of a wild dash from Los Angeles and San Francisco she made no attempt at fast time, stopping off at various towns and cities to lecture at movie houses.

Miss King, who was entertained at luncheon in the Hotel Knickerbocker yesterday by Paul C. Clodio, Russell L. Engle, C. H. McCausland, of the Kissel Kar company, said:

"About her only mishap occurred just at the start of her trip, when she lost the trail and her car got stuck in the Great Salt Flats, twelve miles outside of Wadsworth, Nev."

Miss King was rescued in an hysterical condition by some prospectors. While Miss King's car was covered with mud and dirt she herself looked fresh. When asked why she was not even sunburned, replied that "grease paint was the secret."

Miss King passed through this city several weeks ago, and stopped at the Anthony hotel.

STAR GIVES HINTS ON OFFENSIVE LINE PLAY.

SEVENTH OF A SERIES OF PICTURES POSED BY EDDIE MAHAN, HARVARD CAPTAIN, AND ONE OF THE GREATEST PLAYERS THE GRIDIRON HAS PRODUCED, SHOWING HOW HE PLAYS FOOTBALL.

(By Eddie Mahan, as told in an interview with Brown Holmes, special sport writer).
Linemen, on offense, should assume a good deal like the position as a sprinter.

The sprinter puts both hands on the ground, while the linemen needs to put only one, for balance. Keep the knees off the ground and dig the toes in, so to push the body forward with a lot of steam. Charge with all the steam you've got, and start the instant the ball is moved.

A REGAL PROCLAMATION.

Mounting his high horse, Ban Johnson gallops about the baseball arena clicking his spurs and clanking his armor, as he protests against post-season baseball tours. He contends in a loud voice that the national commission was neither conferred with nor consulted when George F. Bancroft started his cross-country tour with American and National league teams.

Hereafter, remarks the portly Mr. Johnson, there will be no post-season tours.

THROWS SCHOBOR ONCE.

Gus Kervaras, a Greek wrestler, got away with just half of his promise to throw Bill Schobor twice in forty-five minutes at the Empress theater Wednesday night. He threw him just twenty-three minutes after they first locked, but couldn't repeat.

YES, MR. PULFORD, WE SECOND THE MOTIONToledo Scribe Ups and Says
a Few Harsh Words.

(By George R. Pulford, prominent sport writer).

The dropping of four ball players and Harry Legore, Yale fullback, and the man around whom the coaches expected to build a champion eleven, is the outcome of a deception that has been practiced for years by college athletes, and one to be expected until university athletic authorities take the bull by the horns and lift the ban on summer baseball. Jim Thorpe, the greatest athlete this country ever produced, lost his Olympic trophies because he played ball in a summer league, although judging by his performances in the National, it is doubtful if the charges that Thorpe played ball could have been sustained. He probably played at it. Just so long as summer resorts, hotels and business concerns continue to support baseball teams for advertising purposes, just so long will college ball players continue to take advantage of the opportunity presented to earn money at a business they are qualified for. And just so long as our institutions of learning continue to make summer baseball a crime, just so long will they encourage deceit. The only solution is to permit college stars to play summer baseball if they see fit. This will prevent the athlete playing under an assumed name and thus cheating not only the public and his alma mater but himself. Summer baseball offers many a student opportunity to earn money in vacation time who otherwise might not earn anything. There is nothing disgraceful in the playing of summer baseball save that under existing circumstances the student tries to pull the wool over the eyes of the collegiate authorities. Wouldn't it be better to grant the athletes permission to play for summer hotel and business house teams, during vacation time, than to have them do it anyway and feel guilty about it afterward?

ABE ATTELL CLAIMS BOXERS OF TODAY ARE AFRAID TO GET HIT

(By Brown Holmes).

Abe Attell, featherweight champion twelve years, says the difference between the "draw boxers" of today and the "knockout fighters" of other years is that present day boxers do not "set" themselves to punch.

I called on Attell, busy as a vaudeville performer, to get his idea of why nearly every bout nowadays goes to a draw or referee's decision, while in the old days knockouts were numerous.

"There is as much difference in the old and new style of boxing as in day and night," said the little fellow who for twelve years stood against the best in the land and saw prospective champions come and go while he continued to hang onto the crown.

"Most of the boys in the ring today are afraid to get hit. A lot of them are pretty boys who don't like to get their hair mussed or their maps soiled. Conditions are such that they can dance through six or ten rounds and get away with it.

In the old days we fought. Look at the gang I had to tackle—Kid Broad, Herrera, George Dixon and that lot. No tango tea with those boys. It was bluff, bang, slam all the time.

"A fighter to hit good and hard has to 'set' himself. He has to put his feet on the floor solidly and put all his weight into his punch. Those boys we see nowadays are so busy bobbing around to keep from getting hit, they never set.

"I think there's only one fellow in the ring today who hits right—hits like the good old boys did—and that's Mike Gibbons. But Mike won't go in close and take a chance.

"Compare some of these parlor dancers with Terry McGovern, Herrera and the like. This fellow Herrera hit Benny Yanger on the jaw one night and Yanger struck the floor so hard his shoulder bone was broken.

"Herrera hit me on the chest one time and knocked me clear through the ropes.

For a month I could feel a heavy weight on my chest. Even now, when I take a deep breath I think of the time the Maxie hit me.

"Herrera was the hardest hitter I ever faced. George Dixon was the best in all around ability. Geg, he was clever. My hardest fight was with Bat Nelson. He was a lightweight and I was a featherweight, but I signed for fifteen rounds, figuring I could outbox him. Outbox nothing. We mauled one another for fair. That was a terrible night."

Abe boxed so many years he can't stop even when in full dress.

SUES STORAGE CO. FOR BIG DAMAGES

Peter S. Donahoe Demands $12,000 of Sherman-White Concern.

Alleging that by reason of the company's negligence and carelessness he sustained severe burns and other injuries, Peter S. Donahoe has begun action in the circuit court against Sherman White & Co., owners of Fort Wayne's big cold storage plant, for $12,000. Donahoe received his injuries Feb. 2 last when a fire broke out in the basement of the plant at Clinton and Murray streets. He was employed as operator of the freight elevator at the time. The complaint charges that the gasoline storage tanks in the basement were not securely closed and that the fluid escaped and caught fire, igniting materials used for placing a cork lining in a storage room of the basement. He was carrying to the fifth floor at the time a quantity of lumber and was between the first and second floors when the fire broke out. A door in the basement end of the elevator shaft is alleged to have not been in proper condition for closing and the flames got into the shaft, burning him about the face and hands and filling his lungs with poisonous fumes and suffocating him. Charles M. Niezer is the plaintiff's attorney.

Divorce Suit Reach Over Seas.
Divorce suit reaches over seas. The superior court for divorce from Nellie Bartholomew, who is alleged to have abandoned him five years ago and returned to her home in England, refusing longer to live and cohabit with the plaintiff unless he go to her in the old world. The couple were married in 1903. William C. Geake is the plaintiff's attorney.

Notes of the Courts.
The Oslan Lumber company has sued Willard P. Smith in the superior court for $250 on a mechanic's lien and for $275 on account. Levi A. Todd is for the plaintiff's attorney.

Oliver S. Hanna has brought suit in the circuit court against Edward White and James B. White to collect a note, demanding $2,100, and in the same court a suit against Alexander L. John W. and Edward White for $750 on a note. Creighton H. Williams appears for the plaintiff.

Frank R. Dulin, Fred E. Zellers and O. N. Heston are committee appointed by Judge Yaple in the superior court to examine O. L. Rogers, who has applied for admission to the bar.

The suit of Fred C. Grossary vs. James R. Sturgeon has been sent to the Huntington circuit court on a change of venue from Allen county.

In the suit of Virgil Clark vs. Virgil Clark for divorce, the superior court has cited the plaintiff to appear Oct. 26 to answer charges of contempt.

Minnie Helberg has begun suit in the circuit court to have Henry F. Helberg declared legally deceased, and for the appointment of an administrator to look after his estate, which is alleged to be suffering from neglect. Helberg left Allen county in 1905 and since then has neither been seen nor heard from. William F. Prouchen is the plaintiff's attorney.

Hon. James B. Harper is sitting as judge pro tem in the circuit court during the brief absence of Judge John W. Eggenman, who has been called to Lafayette by the illness of a relative.

The Olinhaus Automobile company has brought suit in the circuit court against William J. and Nancy B. Stuck to collect $100 on a note. Byron Hayes appears for the plaintiff.

The suit of Jephtha Crouch & Sons vs. William W. Drive has been sent from the circuit court to Huntington county on a change of venue.

The suit of Jephtha Crouch & Sons vs. William W. Drive has been sent from the circuit court to Huntington county on a change of venue.

Judge John W. Eggenman has signed the discharge of John Jones from the Michigan City prison, where he was sent seven months ago for forgery. The discharge was given on recommendation of Warden Edwin J. Poppey.

The suit of Mary Hrossart vs. Katherine Brossard has been dismissed from the circuit court.

stolen money orders and picking up the cash as he went along. "Sentinel" furnishes Clue. A copy of Monday's issue of the Fort Wayne Sentinel containing a picture of Warren furnished Inspector Eskew his clue. He had just left a bank in Valparaiso where an express order had been cashed and on the street his attention was attracted to a newspaper in the gutter. He picked it up. It was "The Sentinel and Warren's features stared out from the page. There was a resemblance to descriptions given of the man who cashed the express orders. The Valparaiso bank cashier could not identify the portrait, but the lady cashier of a bank at Chesterton was sure it was Warren.

The Inspector's Work.
Inspector Eskew came to Fort Wayne Wednesday, started investigations and returned to Gary, found Dave Clam, the chauffeur who had driven the express forger, and L. M. Dukes, salesman in a clothing store, where the man with the forged orders bought a pair of trousers and gave a $50 express order in payment and received the change in cash. These men were brought to Fort Wayne Thursday afternoon and Warren was brought face to face with them in police headquarters. "I am did not believe Warren was his passenger on the long automobile trip, though he would not be positive, but Dukes was more certain. A search is being made among Warren's effects for the pair of trousers, which the salesman says he can positively identify.

Nelson Vanos, of Hoagland and Deatur, brother of Mrs. Beulah Youse-Warren, bride of the check swindler, has been in Fort Wayne from Wednesday afternoon until Thursday forenoon and spent considerable time making some inquiries concerning the unhappy plight of his daughter and her criminal husband. Mr. Youse, who is the divorced husband of Mrs. Rebecca Youse, mother of Beulah, has had little to say to his relatives and other friends in Fort Wayne, but he has indicated some strong opinions concerning the quality of the guardianship that could permit his daughter to be led into such a despicable marriage connection. He saw and conversed with Mrs. Youse-Warren on the matter.

Warren, at the county jail, under medical treatment to sustain him under the ordeal of a sudden deprivation of his favorite narcotic dope and it is believed he will be kept up. The clasp-trap that Beulah Youse's marriage to Warren is invalid and that she is not legally his wife is laughed at by legal authorities. Notwithstanding she may have sworn falsely as to her residence when a license was obtained in Laporte county, she is Warren's wife and fast unless it should be found that the poppy dreamer and check artist had another wife or wives elsewhere, which is not deemed improbable, though he strenuously denies it. She will remain Mrs. Warren until a court dissolves the hasty and calamitous tie that yoked her to her degenerate mate at Michigan City by the chaplain of the penitentiary.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. William Orthlieb, of 817 West Wayne street, have returned from a trip to the Pacific coast, during which they visited the expositions and San Francisco and San Diego.

Quilts are so much the fashion just now that they are bringing a fancy price, while many admirers of fine needlework are piecing and quilting new ones from old patterns. On Friday afternoon there will be an exhibit of old and modern quilts of handsome patterns and work at Trinity English Lutheran church parlors, corner of Clinton and Wayne streets. Tea and wafers will be sold for the benefit of the Visiting Nurse league.

Fifty friends united in perpetrating a surprise on Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Holman, of 1204 Dayton avenue, on October 17, in celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage. The guests took a handsome and useful gift with them, as well as the wherewithal for a feast of good things to eat. All spent a merry time and Mr. and Mrs. Holman will remember the party with much pleasure.

Miss Gladys Becker, of East Wayne street, has as her house guests for several days Mrs. Ralph Sands, Miss Helena Sands, Miss Clara Bender, Kurtz Miller and Todd McKee, all of Columbus, O. The visitors made the trip by motor. Many of the older residents of Fort Wayne will hear with regret of the demise of Mary Gay Humphreys recently at her home in New York. Miss Humphreys lived in Fort Wayne in her girlhood days but no relatives are surviving her who live here. Miss Humphreys was an author and besides two books she wrote for newspapers and magazines. She was employed by the Harper Brothers for a long time.

Mrs. Mary E. Bickel, 370 Baker street, will leave Thursday evening for her former home in Altoona, Pa., to attend the funeral of her brother.

DIES FROM PNEUMONIA AFTER WEEK'S ILLNESS

Mrs. Mary Brames Succumbs While Here on a Visit With Friends.

Mrs. Mary Brames, widow of Louis Brames, the well known Bottling Works proprietor who died two years ago, passed away at 9:35 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Joseph hospital, following a brief illness of but one week in duration. Death was due to pneumonia.

Following the death of her husband two years ago she moved with her family to Detroit, and came to Fort Wayne six weeks ago for a visit. She was preparing to return to her home when she contracted the disease. Mrs. Brames was born one mile east of New Haven on the Lincoln highway and was the daughter of Herman Tibbets, a pioneer settler of Allen county.

She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church of this city and of the Rosary and Altar society of the same congregation. Surviving she leaves four children—John, Louis, Anna and Antoinette Brames, all of Detroit. The remains will be taken to the home of Herman Kappel, 529 Montgomery street, where friends may view the remains after 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Funeral services Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock and at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church. Interment at the Catholic cemetery of this city.

MARTIN.

Mrs. Melinda Martin, wife of David Martin, residing two miles east of Monroeville, died Wednesday at the family home at the age of 83 years. Death was due to infirmities of old age and followed a comparatively brief illness. She was born in Champaign county, Ohio, and had resided there nearly her entire life. She was a member of the Methodist church since seventeen years of age. Mrs. Martin was the mother of thirteen children, three of whom preceded her in death. Surviving besides the husband are the following children: Joseph, Oliver and A. L. Martin, of Fort Wayne; Bert, William and David Martin, of Monroe township; Sam Martin, of Port and Ore; Mrs. J. Bowen and Mrs. Nancy Stuck, of this city, and Mrs. Mary Stephenson, of Michigan.

BERCOT.

Funeral services for Miss Isabelle Bercot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Bercot, formerly of Allen county, but more recently of Cleveland, who died at her parents' home, will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the New Haven Catholic church.

WANT CREDITORS' CLAIM DISMISSED

Referee in Bankruptcy Sol A. Wood has taken under consideration a motion made by Trustee Claycomb asking that the claim of $633,410.07 presented by the creditors' committee of the Winona Assembly and Summer School association be disallowed. The trustee sets forth that the creditors' committee is no longer authorized to act for the individual creditors. It is believed that the motion will be sustained.

The Ladies' Turner society will give a pedro party Friday evening in the Turner hall on West Superior street.

"First, that the Indiana Real Estate association does hereby voice its protest against and dissatisfaction with the present system of taxation in the state of Indiana.

"Second, that we hereby recommend that a law or laws be placed upon our statute books providing for the classification of all kinds of property for taxation, such laws to provide for maximum rates for each class and providing for higher rates to meet emergencies when sanctioned by a vote of the people in the government unit where such emergencies may exist.

"Third, that inasmuch as we have found that the valuation placed upon taxable property in the different communities of the state varied all the way from 25 per cent to 75 per cent of its real value and that where a tax rate was the highest, the valuation was the lowest, and whereas it is the belief of your committee that a great deal of this variation in valuation is due to inefficient assessing officers and lack of general supervision, we therefore recommend that this association endorse an act which would provide for a state department which would have general supervision of the assessing of all property for taxation and whereas such an undertaking as this is of such magnitude and would involve so many intricate details in working it out, and whereas this committee has not been able to gather sufficient information as to how such a system might be worked out, we hesitate at this time to make any further recommendations in connection with the phase of the proposition.

"Fourth, we further recommend that the Indiana Real Estate association continue to interest itself in this matter of taxation. This committee, having gathered some data which would possibly be of benefit to further the work, would recommend that a committee be appointed to continue the work and that final report be made to our next convention."

Members of the committee were E. L. Cottrill, Joseph S. Kies, E. E. Lue and J. A. Cuddeback, of Detroit, Mich., president of the Chalmers Motor company, and one of the country's leading business men, arose to speak every person in the hall stood up and cheered the demonstration resembling a political convention rather than a gathering of real estate men.

"He's all right; who's all right?" Chalmers, yelled the delegates.

"I have always been a firm believer in more taffy while we live and less epitaph when we die," was Mr. Chalmers' acknowledgment of the enthusiastic ovation that was accorded him. Mr. Chalmers spoke on the subject of "Advertising and Salesmanship," and was followed by an address by Eben H. Wolcott, member of the Indiana tax commission on "Needed Tax Reforms in Indiana."

Honesty Only Policy.

Mr. Chalmers declared that instead of honesty being the best policy, it is the only policy, there being no best to it, in discussing proper methods of advertising and salesmanship. Every business man is confronted with five problems, money, merchandise, markets and men, but the most important is the last named. All other problems disappear, he said, if the right man is on the job. The underlying principles of all kinds of business are the same. The same methods of advertising and selling will sell anything. Mr. Chalmers declared that the 100 per cent salesman is the man who can sell anything to anybody who speaks the same language.

The speaker ridiculed the business man of today who refuses to advertise and said that the statement that advertisements are not read, he referred to a number of well known slogans that immediately suggest the name of the firm and the products handled by that firm. He declared that selling slogans are worth as much as the tangible assets of the institution.

"It is the unusual and progressive methods that win nowadays," he said, "and he is the leading man in your town. You can do it if you try." Mr. Chalmers declared that the essential features in advertising are honesty, being sensible and persistent. He said that what danger signs are to railroad crossings, advertising is to business. Very few things are bought nowadays, but they must be sold.

Address By Eben H. Wolcott.

The short comings and ridiculousness of the present taxing methods in Indiana were pointed out in an address Thursday morning by Eben H. Wolcott, member of the Indiana tax commission, on "Needed Tax Reforms in Indiana." The present law encourages dishonesty," he said, "and is both inconsistent and inaccurate." Several figures were given to demonstrate the impossibility of receiving satisfactory results under the general property tax.

"Classification or income tax worked out scientifically along lines of ability to pay or benefits derived, which are now in force in a number of states, would secure satisfactory results in Indiana," Mr. Wolcott said. "A low fixed tax on intangibles in states where it has been tried has brought to light and listed for taxation a sufficient amount of property, heretofore hidden, to more than equal at a low rate, under classification tax, the amount of taxes received at the old rate under the general property tax. For example, in 1907, under the general property tax, Baltimore had only listed for tax $800,000,000 in tangible property; in 1908, under the four mill tax passed in 1907 and effective in 1908, these property values increased $55,000,000 and in 1910 about $200,000,000.

"I favor the exemption of household goods, not exceeding $300 to $500 from taxation. The average net assessed value of household goods in 1914, was only $40, and in some counties as low as $10. There are about 500,000 householders in Indiana and at $40 they represent about $20,000,000 taxable property or about one per cent. of the total value of the property listed for taxation."

Must Change Constitution.

Mr. Wolcott first called attention to the constitution and its limitations as to the question of taxation. He declared that the interpretation by the general assessor that all property be assessed at true cash value is absolutely impossible and impracticable in the present condition. Then he told of the taxing machinery of the state, there being 5,000 deputy assessors paid $2 a day; 1,016 township assessors paid $2.50 a day, these being the direct assessing officers. Then there are the ninety-two county assessors, with power to put on omitted property, and the board of review, consisting of five members, and over these are the state tax commissioners. He characterized the system as had, unsatisfactory and results in much inaccuracy.

The first day of the convention closed with a Housier camp meeting at the Shrine temple on West Main street for the men and a theater party at the New Palace for the women. At the camp meeting members of the Shrine patrol presented a splendidly arranged entertainment. A surprise was sprung when Captain Edward H. Kilbourne, of the Shrine patrol, and a member of the local real estate exchange sang an original topical song to the tune of "Swanee River" which was received with the wildest enthusiasm.

At the close of the camp meeting the visiting ladies were brought from the New Palace theater and a social hour with refreshments was enjoyed.

Evansville Joins.
Members of the Evansville delegation met at 300 Columbus Wednesday evening, enjoyed dinner at the Anthony and then voted to enter the state association as an exchange and not as individual members. A number of other boards throughout the state will probably take the same action.

BOY'S NECK BROKEN.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 21.—Vilco, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Henthorn, living west of here near the Shades, was accidentally killed while playing with his three-year-old brother at their barn. The boy attempted to get into a granary that had sliding boards which served for a doorway. He was standing on a box, one of the boards of which fell, and in falling the boy's neck was broken. Mrs. Henthorn was away from home at the time, and she returned she found her son's body suspended from one of the boards.

"The extraordinary circumstances of such a time have done much to quicken our nation's consciousness and deepened and confirmed our confidence in the principle of peace and freedom by which we have always sought to be guided. Out of darkness and perplexities have come firmer comings of policy and clearer perceptions of the essential welfare of the nation. We have prospered while other peoples were at war, but our prosperity has been vouchsafed us, we believe, only that we might the better perform the functions which war rendered it impossible for them to perform. Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fifth of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people throughout the land to cease from their wonted occupations and worship render thanks to Almighty God.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

now cut off from Saloniki. The arrival of the allied troops is awaited anxiously. "The Serbians in the north hold the Rakianatz-Alexanderovatz-Dahigolobovi and the Asagna-Kosmai lines and the right bank of the Kolubazza, and the eastern front they hold the Zaitchav-Krainovatz-Piot-Vlassina line, but the Bulgarians have taken the towns of Vranja and Volosso, cutting the line to Saloniki in two places."

AEROPLANES NOT ENOUGH.

London, Oct. 21.—The facts that aeroplanes alone cannot be relied upon as an adequate defense against Zeppelins and that expert naval gunners had been attached to anti-aircraft batteries and search light stations in London were the most interesting statements made by A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, in answering a running fire of questions in the house of commons today relative to the preparations taken to check air raids. Bad weather, he repeated, had hampered the British aeroplanes during the recent Zeppelin attack. The entente powers are bringing all possible pressure to bear on Greece in order to elicit an unequivocal definition of her policy toward the other Balkan states and the European belligerents. "They have intimated clearly that on account of the geographical position of Greece and her treaty obligations to Serbia her announced policy of neutrality will be difficult, if not impossible to maintain. It has become a question in the opinion of the allied diplomats of not permitting Greece to continue what is considered an ambiguous policy until their opponents in the war are able to utilize the neutral position of Greece to their own advantage.

The city fire department was called to the residence of H. Jacobs, 308 West Superior street at 10:02 o'clock Thursday morning, where sparks from the chimney set fire to the roof of the house. The loss amounted to $20.

Earl Achenbach has gone to Chicago, where he will spend a few days visiting friends.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

HALF OF PIQUA ROAD BRIDGE IN

Other Half Will Be Installed
—Shop News.

Half of the steel bridge of the Pennsylvania subway at the Piqua road is in position and the men engaged in installing it expect to get the other portion in position next week. The subway will probably be opened to traffic in two or three weeks. Work upon it commenced early in the summer and has been pushed rapidly along, notwithstanding that it had to be accomplished without interrupting traffic on the railroad, there being many tracks at that point. The work, in addition to extensive excavation, involved the raising of the Pennsylvania tracks four feet.

SAYS OPPORTUNITIES ARE GOOD.
Hugh Chalmers Believes in Chances of Success in Business.

"The opportunity for success in business was never greater than it is now," said Hugh Chalmers, of the Chalmers Motor Car company, of Detroit, in an address before the Bowser Efficiency club last night. Then in a half-hour's talk Mr. Chalmers gave illustrations from events in his own experience and the experience of others who had been successful, declaring that failure would not come to the man who threw all his energy into his business. General Manager S. B. Bechtel was the first speaker at the meeting, his talk being about the relationship between the club and the company. Treasurer C. A. Dunkelberg then made a short speech, concluding by introducing Mr. Chalmers. The Bowser Efficiency club has 102 members and it is said every one was present.

FIRST MEETING A GOOD ONE.

The first meeting of the season at the Pennsylvania roundhouse yesterday noon, under the auspices of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., was largely attended and indicates a growing interest on the part of the railroad men in religious work. Rev. C. E. Boyer, of the Crescent Evangelical church, was the speaker and music was furnished by Frank Rupert and Fireman M. C. Wolford, the former at the organ and the latter with a cornet. The next meeting at the roundhouse will be of a musical character. The bulletin announcing this meeting also contained the statement: "We are planning regular meetings here this winter and would like to have you fellows help us out as much as possible." Rev. Mahlon Tunison, of the South Wayne Baptist church, presided at the meeting at the east car shops today, at which the attendance was also good. Tomorrow weekly noon-day meetings will be

FAMOUS ACTRESS SAYS COFFEE HARMS COMPLEXION

Declares Coffee Habit Grows on One, Dulls the Mind, and Weakens the Muscles.

People who desire to retain youthful looks and a clear, healthy skin, may be surprised to learn that so eminent an authority on beauty as Lillian Russell declares, in a recent issue of the Chicago Herald, that "both coffee and tea have a harmful effect on the complexion. The most youthful skin can be made dry and sallow by the over indulgence of tea or coffee."

"It always depresses me when I hear a woman say, 'I must have a cup of coffee the first thing in the morning, and generally slip it in bed.' She would be shocked if she heard someone else say that they must have a cocktail before they could begin the day."

"I heard a most beautiful old woman say, 'Do you think I would dry up my blood and ruin my skin by drinking tea?'"

"The coffee habit grows on one, and when coffee is used as a stimulant there is a reaction, which means depression and causes over indulgence or the use of stronger stimulants. In the continued use, stimulants dull the mind and weaken the muscles."

NOTE.—It is a satisfaction to know that in the pure-food drink, Instant Postum, increasing thousands are finding a delightful morning beverage—a beverage free from drugs or any harmful substance, and free from coffee's ill effects, but rich in those food elements supplied by Nature for building good blood and strong, healthy bodies.—Advertisement.

SLEEPING CAR FOR FLORIDA.

The G. R. & I. announces that it will inaugurate a through sleeping car service November 2, to be operated once a week, on November 2, 9, and 16, until Tuesday, Nov. 23, when the service will become semi-weekly, on Tuesdays and Fridays. The cars will be a part of train No. 6 arriving here at 11:30 and leaving at 12:01 at night. The Pennsylvania ticket office has received considerable inquiry about this service, indicating the interest taken in and praising a good business this fall and winter.

THERE'S JOY AT THE CASH HOME.

Twins daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cash yesterday and the father has been busy since receiving congratulations which are being delivered personally by mail and by telephone. The little ones have been christened Marjorie and Margaret and they weigh, respectively, seven and a half and eight pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Cash reside at 441 East Creighton avenue. Mr. Cash is the general secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A.

MRS. SARVER TAKEN HOME.

Mrs. B. F. Sarver, who was taken to the St. Joseph hospital three weeks ago today, suffering from nervous trouble, has slightly improved and her physician permitted her removal to her home today. It will be some days, however, before Mrs. Sarver will be able to leave her bed. Mr. Sarver is general foreman of the boiler department of the Pennsylvania shops.

B. R. T. AUXILIARY MEETING.

Loyal lodge No. 85, Ladies' Auxiliary to the B. R. T., will have business of importance to transact at the meeting tomorrow afternoon and the officers are very anxious to have a big attendance. Plans for the fall and winter work will be a part of the business, but there is a more important question to be considered.

TAKES MOTHER EAST FRIDAY.

Foreman B. F. Sarver, of the Pennsylvania boiler-shop, will accompany his mother to Allegheny Friday night, leaving on Pennsylvania train No. 24. Mrs. Sarver has been here several months and will now visit another son, G. E. Sarver, assistant foreman of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop at Allegheny.

SYRIAN HAS FOOT HURT.

Antone Corry, a Syrian, employed in the car wheel foundry at the Bass works, had one of his feet badly bruised this morning when a car wheel rolled over the member. He was attended by the company's surgeon and then sent to his home. The injury is not serious.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

J. M. Zollars and Charles Volz, of the Pennsylvania planing mills, are sick and off duty.

W. A. Barrett left for Rockford, Ill., today on business for the Bass Foundry and Machine works.

J. C. Brake, clerk at Road Foreman C. R. Colney's office, is at Rockford, Ind., visiting friends today.

Machinist John Luley, of the Bass shops, is sick and has been absent from the works for three or four days.

Maurice Desautels, Nickel Plate freight conductor, returned to work yesterday after a ten days' vacation.

Assistant Trainmaster A. F. King, of the Wabash, was in the city today looking after business for the company.

A son was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Bendure, of Weissner Park avenue. The father is an electrician.

Brakeman William Hise, of the Nickel Plate, is on a ten days' vacation, which he will spend hunting in the Kankakee swamps.

E. W. Koehl, clerk for Foreman G. E. Graham, of the Wabash, is suffering from a severe cold and will spend the week end with relatives at Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. O. P. Snook, wife of Gang Foreman Snook, of the Pennsylvania erecting shops, has gone to Cleveland to spend a few days with relatives.

Mrs. Meyer, wife of Material Inspector E. C. Meyer, of the Wabash, is suffering severely from an attack of rheumatism and not able to walk at times.

Mrs. Williams, wife of Foreman Arthur Williams, of the Pennsylvania tool room, will go to Canal Dover, Ohio, tomorrow to spend a week with relatives.

Fred Leys, and John Rupp are absent from the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, the former on account of injured eyes and Mr. Rupp on account of sickness.

Machinist W. Hursch had one of his hands painfully cut yesterday when he attempted to prevent a piece of metal falling from the machine he was operating.

Engineer B. F. Thompson and Engineer Emil Jamey, of the Pennsylvania, are off duty, the former to look after business and Mr. Jamey on account of his wife being sick.

Frank Courser, of Cleveland, is here for a short visit with his father, C. A. Courser, of the Bass works. The young man is a material inspector for the New York Central.

J. Keener, material inspector for the Hocking valley railroad, with headquarters in Columbus, Ohio, inspected 200 wheels yesterday at the Bass Foundry and Machine works.

Mrs. B. H. Hamm and Mrs. A. E. Dornte, whose husbands are employed in the Pennsylvania machine shop, will go to Chicago Saturday to spend a few days with relatives and friends.

Walter L. Niemeyer resumed his place at the desk in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop office this morning.

For three days he was the guest of relatives and friends in the country.

Clyton H. Johnson, business agent of the Wabash, is in receipt of inquiries for machinists. Two are wanted in a railway shop in an Illinois city. None could be found here, however.

M. E. Knoll, formerly employed at the Fort Wayne Electric works, now working in the Ford factory at Detroit, has given them a visit here.

With his mother, Mrs. William H. Knoll, President W. H. Caniff, of the Nickel Plate, passed through the city in his private car on train No. 2 yesterday afternoon. The local superintendents accompanied him over the Chicago and Fort Wayne division.

S. F. Bowler's company will erect a three-story fire-proof building, 25x40 feet in dimensions, for a filing vault, in which to keep the books and papers of the concern. Excavation for the foundation is now being made.

The Western Gas Construction company is retooling some of its suspended employees, business at the plant being much better than it was some months ago. Forty-five men were given employment at the factory this week.

Fred W. H. Schaphorst, clerk at the Pennsylvania machine shop, will be off duty the last two days of the week, to complete his vacation term, a part of which was spent some weeks ago. The time will be chiefly spent in doing work at his home.

R. E. Sullivan, who recently left the St. Joseph hospital after undergoing a surgical operation two weeks ago, called at the Pennsylvania round house yesterday to see his friends.

When he sprang from the wagon loaded with garden truck under the hallucination that it was going to be struck by a Nickel Plate freight train.

Mrs. Mary Hurley, 22 years, alighted on a track in front of an approaching passenger train at Kingsville and was instantly killed. The young lady resided at Kingsville and was visiting relatives near Kingsville. The wagon from which she sprang got over the tracks in safety.

With the exception of T. W. Demarest, superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania Northwest system, the Pennsylvania men from this city who were with General Superintendent W. C. Downing on his inspection trip, will turn home tonight. Mr. Demarest will accompany Mr. Downing over the Eastern and E. & A. divisions, the inspection trip ending at Pittsburgh Saturday night. Among the division officials who accompanied Mr. Downing over the Western division were Superintendent Otto Schroll, Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, Division Engineer Guy Scott, Division Operator H. B. Reynolds, Trainmaster C. L. Hamilton, Road Foreman at Englewood, C. B. Colney, Assistant Division Engineer Harvey Hall, Master Carpenter D. C. Zook and Road Supervisor John Birtwhistle. The party arrived here from the west at 5 o'clock last evening and remained here until 8 o'clock this morning, when they left on an inspection of sub-division C.

OSTEOPATHY AND THE DELICATE SCHOOL GIRL.

(State Educational Bureau.)

Even the most robust and generally healthy children show the deleterious results of the modern system of education, that "forwarding" in most of our larger cities. The child that starts the school year in excellent physical condition, after the freedom and fresh air of the summer vacation, in many instances, becomes nervous, fidgety and more or less anemic as the school year progresses.

Of mental strain and physical confinement in overheated, poorly ventilated schoolrooms.

How much more likely is such a result in the case of the delicate, high-strung, sensitively organized, adolescent girl, whose nervous system is more susceptible to the strain of the school year than that of the boy.

Regularity of meals, plenty of sleep, out-of-door exercise, and a diet of nutritious food should be supplied.

The most common cause producing this class of patients is slightly misplaced vertebrae, ribs or twists of sacral articulation, bringing pressure upon the sympathetic nervous system and internal organs. It is gratifying to the parents to notice the quick return of health to those patients under competent osteopathic adjustment.

To the conservative and thoughtful do we especially appeal by reason of abundant proof that osteopathy is the safe and sane way to health; that osteopathic adjustment brings comfort, adds health, prolongs life, aids all cures many, injures none and thereby disarms mankind of any good reason to remain without health.

CHURCH CHANGES ITS NAME.
Southside Church Will Hereafter Be Known as South Wayne Baptist.

At the annual meeting of the congregation of the Southside Baptist church, held at the church last night, besides the adoption of a new constitution the members decided to change the name of the church and hereafter will be known as the South Wayne Baptist church. New officers are to be elected at the next meeting.

The new constitution is in several ways a distinct change from the one previously in force. All modern methods of church organization are incorporated and it is believed that the church now has as efficient a plan of organization as any church in the state.

The Bible school will be entirely under the control of a board of religious education which will appoint the officers and teachers as well as transact all business. There is also a board of social service which is in control of all social functions, civic work, boys' and girls' organizations and community betterment. This board is to give permission for the use of the church for all functions and provide supervision for them.

A treasurer to whom all funds coming into the church and bible school are paid, and by whom all bills are paid is a further advance. It is hoped to centralize all finances in the one treasurer eventually.

LARGEST IN THE STATE.
Frances Willard W. C. T. U. of This City Bears This Distinction.

The Frances Willard Women's Christian Temperance Union of this city bears the distinction of being the largest union in the state with an active membership of 220 and 40 honorary members. This union met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George P. H. L. Porter near the scene of the accident and later removed to St. Joseph hospital.

There was another accident Wednesday evening on the Driving park line when a machine driven by O. C. Crago, 1614 Cass street, collided with a street car. The machine was put out of commission.

One Man Blocks Traffic.
Several cars were held up for some time Wednesday evening by a pedestrian who walking down the center of the track on the Broadway line refused to get off.

Bricks were hurled against the side of a car on West Main street and through a window of an East Creighton car at Lafayette and Wallace streets.

The carmen's union now has 157 members. Ray Horn, an old employee of the company who has been ill for several weeks, joined the striking carmen Wednesday.

Members of the Woman's Union Label League will serve a dinner Thursday evening in Harmony hall. The proceeds will be donated to the carmen.

NO FURTHER EFFORT TILL COURT DECIDES

Then It May Be That Governor Will Be Asked to Take a Hand.

No further effort to bring officials of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company and their former employees together in an attempt to settle their differences will be made until after the cases pending before Judge A. B. Anderson in the federal court at Indianapolis are settled. The hearing is set for next Tuesday.

After the cases in the federal court are disposed of it is not at all improbable that Governor Samuel M. Ralston will again be asked to take a hand.

Will Organize Company.
That a co-operative stock company will be organized for the operation of an automobile bus line to compete with the street cars seems now to be assured and it is probable that definite action will be taken at a meeting of the Federation of Labor to be held Monday evening. Representatives of a number of automobile companies will meet the special committee Thursday evening.

The plan has been suggested that each of the 7,000 or 8,000 union men in Fort Wayne take shares of stock in a transportation company of $10 each, five months being given in which to pay. It is figured that the money derived in this manner will buy twenty automobile buses and build a garage.

School Teacher Hurt.
Miss Mary Greenwalt, teacher of a school six miles east of the city, was seriously injured at 7:30 o'clock, Wednesday evening, when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by a Driving park car at Florida drive and State street. Her companion, Harry Spencer, owner of the car, was rendered unconscious, but his condition is not regarded as serious.

The automobile was struck from the rear and the windshield, falling unconscious into a pile of sand. Miss Greenwalt's head was cut open, requiring fourteen stitches to close. She also was badly cut on the chin and on one hand. Both were carried into the home of Dr. H. L. Porter near the scene of the accident and later removed to St. Joseph hospital.

There was another accident Wednesday evening on the Driving park line when a machine driven by O. C. Crago, 1614 Cass street, collided with a street car. The machine was put out of commission.

One Man Blocks Traffic.
Several cars were held up for some time Wednesday evening by a pedestrian who walking down the center of the track on the Broadway line refused to get off.

Bricks were hurled against the side of a car on West Main street and through a window of an East Creighton car at Lafayette and Wallace streets.

The carmen's union now has 157 members. Ray Horn, an old employee of the company who has been ill for several weeks, joined the striking carmen Wednesday.

WOMAN IS BACK FROM WEST BATTLE FRONT

Swedish Author, Only Woman to Enjoy Privilege, Tells of Trip.

Paris, Oct. 21.—"Soldiers who had not seen a woman for months crowded around me to pay their respects," said Marika St. Jernstedt, a Swedish author and the first woman to visit the French battle front by invitation of the general staff, on returning to Paris today. "Their bearing proved," she added, "that they have not lost a particle of the traditional French polish in the months of burrowing in the earth far from refining influences. Their wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts may be proud of them."

Miss St. Jernstedt is not only the first woman to succeed where so many men have failed, but she is likely to be the last of her sex to enjoy the privilege of being specially conducted to the front. The French general staff is opposed to the presence of women in the zone of operations.

"The party will be within range of the enemy's artillery," objected the official to whom she appealed. "Won't you be afraid?"

"What I fear most," Miss St. Jernstedt replied, "is that I shall not be permitted to get close enough to show you I am not afraid."

The party approached close enough to inspect thoroughly the field of the recent operations in the Champagne and what Miss St. Jernstedt saw of it she declared to the Associated Press "surpasses all imagination."

"I went so rapidly from one strong impression to another that it is difficult to recall them all," she continued. "I traversed miles of devastation over ground, every rod of which had been heaved up and where remained not a sign of vegetation. Where there should have been shrubs and trees or crops and flowers, an arm stuck out here and a leg there, and all was pervaded with a sickly odor that oppresses."

"An undefinable sadness in the presence of so many evidences of death diminishes somewhat as you get in contact with the indifference of those who have lived amongst it for more than a year. Perhaps the strong impression came from the sight of two inert bodies, that we took at first for wounded, being carried back from the lines. They were two heroes who had made the supreme sacrifice. Nothing more could be done for them."

"Every member of the visiting party was moved but for all you could see it was to the stretcher bearers and to the soldiers who saw them pass nothing but a daily incident. They carried them back from the lines to the cemeteries that could be seen everywhere on approach to the front. A bottle stuck into each mound contains the individual history of each actor in the tragedy for his loved ones to learn after it is all over."

GAS, HEARTBURN INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

"Pape's Diapiesin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapiesin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion. Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapiesin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.—Advertisement.

UNSKILLED WORKERS GET LITTLE MORE PAY

But Wages in German War Material Trades Are Booming.

Berlin, Oct. 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Labor statisticians, who have been watching the situation closely and critically since the months of war have passed, agree with a fair degree of unanimity on the general effect of the conflict on wages, but disagree to some extent on the relation between the wages paid today and the cost of living—as to whether or not the workingman's pay has increased as fast as prices of foodstuffs have.

They agree that the men in the "war materials" trades, and the women for that matter, today are receiving 50, 70 and even 100 per cent. more than they ever did. In most cases the advance is nearer to 100 per cent. than 50 or 70, because there is no limit to the amount of work to do, there is unlimited opportunity for over-time work, wages are higher than usual and help is scarce.

In other skilled trades that supply ordinary needs—the printing and carpenter trade, for instance—the advance is agreed, is neither so great nor so even. The printer is making from 3 to 5 marks a day more than he used to; the carpenter's gain depends on how much he has the strength or the inclination to do; the brewer is getting an extra 10 marks more a week; the leather worker, like the carpenter, can be gauged only by his capacity.

The benefits accruing to the unskilled workers simply cannot be estimated because they are so variable and so dependent upon employers' generosity, changing circumstances and the like. The authorities are agreed that these workers have been less benefited than any others, but find it impossible to determine the degree of benefit.

Alvin Koerten, secretary of the central employment bureau of the Berlin trades, who might be termed a walking statistical office, and who is constantly in close touch with workers of all kinds is positive that living costs have advanced faster than wages, and that the "war materials" workers are the only ones who have kept up.

It is pointed out that food prices have risen from 80 to 100 per cent. or faster than the wages either of unskilled labor or of those branches of skilled labor not engaged in making war materials. Though far from being a pessimist, his inclination is to look at the matter from the standpoint of the many who have had a minimum of gain out of higher wages.

Max Steffen, head of the huge employment agency for unskilled workmen, even less than Mr. Koerten, believes that prices have outstripped wages, chiefly because he is in closest touch with the great mass of men, and women, on whom the effect of the war has been more to give them work than to raise the wages they had been getting.

He has seen most of the thousands who drift into his enormous establishment placed where they can earn a livelihood more readily than ever before, but he also has heard from countless lips the story of the difficulty of making both ends meet. His own experiences with the cost of living has made him loathe to believe that the war has been an unalloyed benefit for the worker who stays at home.

Quite of a different opinion is Dr. O. Becker, head of the Association of German Employment bureaus, who forms his opinion from facts and figures gathered from all parts of the German empire, and who, in consequence, believes that the general situation of the workman has vastly improved and that his wages, by and large, have gone up faster than the cost of living.

In arriving at this decision he takes into account the situation of the unskilled workers, and in agreeing with Mr. Steffen that their wages increase have not been appreciably great, he believes that the more and more favorable picture of the country worker, in conjunction with the rapid decrease in non-employment, over-balances higher prices.

The women, far more than the men, have been the gainers in the unskilled trades, and to them, it is believed, is due the large and unexpected increase in savings deposits which the banks have recorded. A portion of them—the minority it is estimated—have, it is true, had to go to work alongside husbands and brothers who are not serving in the army, but a larger portion are comparatively prosperous.

This is due, as Mr. Koerten explains, roughly to two things. In the first place the highest and most expensive member of the family, the man, is gone, and the expenses of his upkeep are being met by the government. In the second place, the woman now has more than one source of income—her share of her husband's pay and what she herself earns. This applies, of course, only to the working woman.

Some fifty thousand women in Berlin alone, are doing men's work. The greater part of them at the same time receive from the state at least something toward their support. The exact ratio of the present family income to that of, say, fourteen months ago, is unobtainable, but it is believed in a large number of cases to be nearly as great as before.

With the family's chief expense away, it has been possible for the women to establish almost a record in saving. Thus July deposits in Berlin savings banks this year were 12,365,000 marks, as against 8,720,000 marks last year. The withdrawals reached 4,105,000 marks, in comparison with 9,286,000 marks in 1914, an unusually high figure caused by the war scare.

At the Berlin Municipal Savings bank alone, the 107,681 depositors during the year ending August 31, 1915, banked 7,518,915 marks, an average of about 70 marks, where the average in 1913 and 1912 was only 57 marks, and in 1911, 60 marks. In 1912 the savings books averaged 478 marks, in 1913 the figure rose to 487, and in 1914 to 506 marks. This average dropped in April only to 467 marks, after 10,500,000 marks had been withdrawn by depositors within twelve days, and 18,000,000 and 30,000,000 respectively, had been put into the two war loans.

ADMITTS IT ALL A FAKE.
Rochester Youth Wired Himself to Railroad Tracks.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Newton Hoffman, the youth who was found wired to the Erie tracks at South Avon Monday night and whose foot was cut off by a southbound electric car, admitted last night that he wired himself to the track by the head and feet and then tied his own hands behind himself with a handkerchief. "I do not know what I did for," he said in his statement. "I had no reason to do it. Nobody knocked me down." Monday night Hoffman said that he was snatched by two highwaymen and wired to the track by them.

There will be a banquet given at the diningroom of the church Friday evening, by the men of the Presbyterian church. Members from Paulding, Cecil and adjoining towns will be present.

Worth Ahmond, superintendent of the Hicksville Telephone Co., was an Antwerp visitor Wednesday.

There will be a masquerade party at the home of M. E. Thompson Monday evening, November 1st.

Harry Wallace, of Cecil, O., was an Antwerp visitor Wednesday, called here on a business errand.

Little Robert Husted, aged about 4 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Husted, living just over the Indiana state line, met with a serious accident a few days since. He was playing around a gasoline engine which was in motion and was caught by the fly wheel and whirled around the shaft. No one was near at the time, and when discovered he was lying on the ground about ten feet from the engine where he had been thrown by the velocity of the fly wheel. He was considerably bruised, and his right leg was broken in two places. His contact with the machine tore his shoes and lower garments off, and his escape from death can be attributed to the giving away of these garments.

RELIGION, TEMPERANCE AND HEALTH

Don't Overlook the Fall Clean-up; It's Most Important for Health.

FALL CLEAN-UP.

Don't begin the winter with a basement full of rubbish.

Burn this rubbish during the first cold days of early fall. On such days a fire is desirable. Combustible rubbish is as good a fuel, for the purpose, as anything else. So the stove or furnace can be utilized to destroy the rubbish and the rubbish can be utilized to take the chill from the house.

Every cellar should be cleared of accumulations of rubbish that if left to grow old and mouldy will prove injurious to the health of the household.

The next few weeks probably will give ideal weather for work in and about the house. So, before cold and snow interfere, basements can be cleared, back yards made neat and alleys prepared for the winter.

There is much satisfaction in cleanliness and order: more than many of us realize. There would be no filthy basements and littered yards if we all understood the pleasure that comes of home care and good results.

This pleasure is contagious. Go into any neighborhood, where well kept lawns, clean walks and alleys and neat homes prevail. You will find that practically all the homes are neat and orderly. This is contagious. And this because order is contagious.

Carelessness is one of our national characteristics. However, the habit is dangerous in dealing with the affairs of health. The diseases that have wrecked nations but wait the moment when we carelessly forget.

FRESH AIR.

Don't try to economize on fresh air! If you do, health will suffer and it is far cheaper and better to keep good health than it is to try and regain it once lost.

Cultivate the fresh air habit; walk in it, sleep in it, work in it, and live in it. It will put bloom in your cheeks, fire in your eye, and sharpen your wits. Why more fresh air? Your blood needs the oxygen in it, to feed the hungry cells in every part of your body. Your tissues need it to withstand the hostile attacks of fierce germ enemies. Your disposition needs it, for oxygen and optimism are in the same part of the alphabet.

The lungs give off poison with every expiration. When in a room which is not constantly receiving a supply of fresh air, one must rebreathe this de-vitalized, befouled air again and again. Stop and think before the cold weather really sets in and brings the diseases bred of closed houses and bad air—pneumonia, tuberculosis and colds. Then see that your bedroom, living room, street car, church, school, theater, lodge hall, and office are provided daily with fresh air.

Open the windows and dress a bit warmer if necessary, but get your full share of fresh air.

Colic in babies is commonly due to the fermentation of undigested food in the bowels, with the formation of gas. It is due to the food being unsuited to the digestive capacity of the infant. It can be avoided often by diluting the feedings with water.

THE WATCHWORD

In one of the rock galleries of Gibraltar, two British soldiers had mounted guard, one at each end of a tunnel. One was a Christian, the other was seeking Christ. It was midnight; and as the soldiers were going their rounds, one meditating on the blood of Christ, which had brought him peace, the other brooding over his doubts and fears, suddenly an officer challenged the Christian soldier, and demanded the password. "The precious blood of Christ," called out aloud the startled soldier, forgetting the watchword in the thoughts of his heart. Immediately he corrected himself, and gave the watchword: and the officer, amazed, passed on. But these words had rung through the rock galleries, and, echoed by the solid walls, had struck upon the ear of the doubting and seeking soldier as a messenger from heaven. It seemed as if an angel had spoken with words direct from the throne, "The precious blood of Christ." "Yes," he said, "that is just what I need."

DON'T SNUB.

Don't snub a boy because he wears shabby clothes. When Edison, the inventor of the telephone, first entered Boston, he wore a pair of yellow linen breeches, although it was in the depth of winter.

Don't snub a boy because his home is plain and unpretending. Abraham Lincoln's early home was a log cabin.

Don't snub a boy because of the ignorance of his parents. Shakespeare was the son of a man who was unable to write his own name.

Don't snub a boy because he chooses a humble trade. The author of "Pilgrim's Progress" was a tinker.

Don't snub a boy because of his physical disability. Milton was blind.

Don't snub a boy because of his dullness in lessons. Hogarth, the celebrated painter and engraver, was a stupid boy at his books.

Don't snub any one; not alone because some day they may outstrip you in either race of life, but because it is neither kind, nor right, nor Christian.—Selected.

Al Jennings Now "Holding Up" Men For Christ

Al Jennings, the man who came back. At the right is Jennings as he looks today. The other picture shows him as he looked when an outlaw.

New York, Oct. 20.—"Hands up!" cried Al Jennings, train robber, and along his extended arm his gray eyes surveyed the restless rows of people. Heads were ducked and arms thrown up!

It happened yesterday in Brooklyn. But the people were in church, and it was "Hands up for Jesus," that Al Jennings meant! This once desperate bandit and highwayman, later district attorney and candidate for governor in Oklahoma, has now taken up his new job of relieving souls of sin with the same simple directness with which he used to relieve good souls of money at the point of the gun.

Jennings has been converted to Christianity himself only a few months. He was converted to banditdom while still a youth, by the brutality of his environment, and for many years he led a dandified career of train robbery and outlawry.

Al Jennings ended in the penitentiary—and reformation! The ex-bandit's revival is a huge success. Thousands flock every night to the church where he is opening his career as a second Billy Sunday. But Jennings doesn't use the Billy Sunday methods. He speaks to his hearers in the same cool, steady, straightforward voice that once addressed his victims over the barrel of a 45.

"I'm holding up men for Christ and I'm much happier than I ever was when I held them up for money—and more successful, too!" he declares.

MARY HATH CHOSEN THE BETTER PART

KEEP OUT OF BAD COMPANY

There are two reasons for this. First, "Birds of a feather flock together." Second, "Evil communications corrupt good manners." If you are in bad company, many people will judge you by your company, and like poor Tray you may be beaten for other people's faults. Many a man lies in prison today for some crime which he never committed, simply because he was in a bad crowd. Someone did the wrong, others escaped, and he found himself in the clutches of the law. Further, you will not only be judged by the company which you are in, but you will become like the company which surrounds you. If you run with dogs you will learn to bark. If you stand in the way of sinners you will become like them; and the very fact that you are willing to stay in such company shows that you are more like them now than you are willing to own. If you are honest, conscientious and faithful and true, your soul will abhor the ways of ungodliness. You will keep clear of them. If you go

Halt!—Right About.

"What is this conversion that you talk so much about, and say people must have?" asked an officer one day of a private who was an earnest, active Christian.

"Sir," was the reply, "it is when the captain of our salvation cries 'Halt!' and then when we halt, it is 'Right about face!'"

Conversion is more than "theory," or "head-knowledge," or "talk." It strikes deeper than the skin; it influences the heart.

A reformed man is not a converted man. Conversion is not a beginning to amend or trying to be better, but is a great cure done at once, and done for ever.

Earthly doctor cures his patients by making them better every day, but conversion is God's work on man that transforms him from being a child of Satan, to being a Son of God.

Conversion is a turning round, a being something that I was not before, a thinking differently, to what I thought before. It is having a new motive power, new hopes, desire, relations, going a new road, sailing to another port, having a new owner, being under fresh orders, having another paymaster, fighting under another captain. Before, it was self for self. Now, it is self for God. Before, it was justification of self. Now, it is condemnation of self. Before, it was condemnation of God. Now, it is justification by God. Conversion touches the very root of self, and is a revolution of the whole being, a fundamental change of every principle of life.

A truly converted person will be able to say:
Blind I was, now I see;
Lame I was, now I walk;
Dumb I was, now I speak.

LET US HAVE GRACE.

"Let us have grace, whereby we may offer service well-pleasing to God."

On one occasion a nurse in one of the great London hospitals complained to Bishop Taylor, Smith, chaplain-general to the forces, that she had been rudely treated by some of the patients. "Thank God for that!" was the reply. "What do you mean?" asked the astonished nurse. "Why," said the bishop, "if you are carrying a vessel, and somebody knocks up against you, you can spill out of the vessel what is inside. And when people misjudge and persecute us, we can only spill what is inside. In the case of a godless man, he will probably swear—and be sorry. But if you are Christ-filled, filled with the Holy Ghost, you will manifest the gentleness of Christ, and make men astonished. Count it all joy when the testing-times come. What I pray for is not that you may have less trials, but that you may have more grace."

JUST YOU AND I.

If you and I—just you and I—Should laugh instead of worry;
If we should grow—just you and I—Kinder and sweeter hearted;
Then sure, in some near by and by, A good time would be started.
And what a happy world would be For you and me—for you and me!

RESOURCES.

Poverty has always been considered a calamity. It is, provided we understand in what real poverty consists.

Real poverty is a lack of resources. False poverty, which is often no poverty at all, is a lack of things.

A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he possesseth. Very often you find people with plenty of money, with a large house full of costly furniture, with horses and carriages and automobiles, with rich clothing and expensive food and drink, who are yet wretched, bored and miserable, so that they turn to drunkenness and vice for entertainment.

They have no inward resources. And for that no amount of possessions can compensate.

On the other hand, people of limited means, who have to work daily for a living, and whose worldly goods are next to nothing, are often cheerful, bright, glad to be alive and truly rich in spirit. They are wealthy, for they have interests, and a dozen interests are worth more than a million dollars' worth of things.

There is a deal of nonsense uttered about sorrows of the poor. The hap-piest class of people in the world are those who have to work for a living, who have to get up when the bell rings, and go to bed on time.

And the most miserable folks I know are those who have nothing to do but to amuse themselves. The wretchedest section of the world is the Smart Set, whose business it is merely to indulge themselves, to spend money they have not earned, and to experiment in inventing new immoralities.

The poorest people on earth are those that have no resources but to buy things too costly for them to buy, to intoxicate themselves with various forms of alcohol, and to substitute the excitement of dissipation for the joys of true love.

Pity, do not envy, these unfortunates, for their poverty is terrible. But pity no man who loves his work, and works hard enough to enjoy his leisure; pity no woman who is interested in home-making and in her children; pity no person at all who has found the secret of "plain living and high thinking."—Dr. Frank Crane, in Woman's World for November.

BUSINESS AS USUAL.

The slogan of the English merchants since the outbreak of the great war, repeated in many instances by huge signs placed over the stores, is "Business as usual." Troops are passing through the crowded streets. Motor cars and buses clatter by. Millions of pounds are being spent for war. Thousands of the nation's brilliant young men are being slain on the European battle field and people on the empire over are speculating on the fate of the nation but, "Business as usual," is the watch word.

Let that too be the watch word of the church in these times of war and rumors of war. "The King's Business as Usual." Instead of retrenchment, let there be expansion. Instead of fear, let there be courage. Instead of confusion, let there be purposeful devotion to duty. "The gates of hell shall not prevail" against His church and kingdom.

THE INFLUENCE OF A SONG.

A number of people were in a street car one day. Some were worn and tired, others were feeling out of sorts, and withal it was a rather sorry-looking party. The car stopped, and a lady with a little girl entered. The little girl got up on her knees and looked out the window, and before long she began to sing in a clear, childish voice:

Jesus loves me, this I know,
For the Bible tells me so;
Little ones are always bound,
To Him who is our great King.
It rather startled the people; the tired began to smile, the cross began to look better, and before long all the people in the car looked different. What the child's song did for the people there, the song will do for the singer. You cannot sing songs of praise without putting light to discouragement.—Service.

Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, the veteran warrior, in a speech delivered before the Anti-Saloon league, at Atlantic City, declared that the liquor traffic is more destructive than the war now raging in Europe. This testimony, coming from a man who by his own merits rose from the ranks to the command of the army of the United States, who knows what war really is, and who is neither a sentimentalist nor a "long hair," deserves the attention of every thoughtful person.

After expressing the hope that at the conclusion of the war in Europe, a wiser and more humane method may be devised for the adjudication of international controversies, General Miles said:

"The colossal devastation, spoliation and sacrifices that now shock the civilized world with inexpressible horror are enacted in the open day, and yet there is another demon of destruction more silent, more subtle and yet equally deadly—the demon of liquor."

This demon corrupts government, impoverishes communities, desolates homes, destroys character, degrades and degenerates a race, enslaves and starves women and helpless children. It replaces prosperity and happiness with sorrow, crime and desolation.

"Yet, in its stealth-like and constant iniquities, it desolates more countries and homes than the destructive engines of war now engaged in the continent of Europe."

In his state, drunkenness is responsible for the decline of those skilled industries on which the prosperity of New England rests. He declared that the license system was a failure both in its moral and economic aspects. He pointed out that the growth of population in the license cities of Massachusetts is 72 per cent. less than in the no-license cities. The increase of valuation is 46 per cent. less in the wet than in the dry cities, and the per capita earnings $74 less. The death rate in the wet cities is 24 per cent. higher than in the dry. There is 50 per cent. more crime other than drunkenness, and three times as many in the poorhouses where the license system prevails compared with the no-license communities.

The men who make these statements are not irresponsible cranks. Their testimony is worthy of serious consideration.—Editorial, Los Angeles Tribune.

STRONG HEARTEDNESS

The strength of the man is not in the amount of his muscle, for a dead man has as much muscle as a live one. There is an inward energy that gives strength to persons who otherwise would be weak and faint. Sometimes good news gives fresh strength; sometimes persons are made strong by an encouraging word or a determined will, or by anger, hate, or fear.

It is plain that our strength depends not merely upon physical power, but upon something within us which we may not understand, but which we cannot ignore. Hence the propriety of the exhortations which come to us to "be strong," and to "be of good courage," and to strengthen ourselves in the Lord. "Let the weak say, 'I am strong,'" says the scripture, and in many instances through the power of faith, and the courage and encouragement which comes from God, persons "out of weakness" were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, and turned to fight the armies of the aliens. "I can do all things," says the apostle; "through Christ that strengthened me"; and if persons who spend their time mourning in discouragement, and telling what they cannot do, lamenting their feebleness, and throwing obstacles in their own way, would simply stand up like men, go forward in the strength of God, and make up their minds that they can do something, and go about it and do it; in a multitude of instances these weak, wavering stumbling, fearing, helpless, useless souls would strengthen themselves in the Lord their God, and through God they would do valiantly.

All prophets and apostles and saints inspire us with courage. They bid us to be strong in the Lord and in the power of his might. Those who strengthen the weak hands and confirm the feeble knees are to "say to them that are of a fearful heart, be strong, fear not, behold your God will come, even God with a recompense; he will come and save you."

O weak, and weary, struggling children of God, take courage, be of good cheer, be strong, fear not. Your light affliction is but for a moment; your captain leads his hosts to certain victory; and if faithful to Him you shall be more than conquerors, and stand at last triumphant with the hosts of the redeemed, bearing the palms of victory, and singing the song of triumph before the throne.

A MOTHER'S HOLLOW MIRTH

"I am reminded of an incident which I witnessed a few days ago on an outgoing train," says a writer in the Indianapolis News. "A plainly-dressed old woman, and a tall, awkward, young man, evidently her son, had been in the city and were going home. There was an uncertainty in the boy's step as he came into the car, which indicated that he was considerably intoxicated. They sat down together and he at once began to talk in a loud voice. His words were drivelling nonsense, without a tinge of humor. His mother, however, seemed strangely insensible to her son's disgrace. She laughed freely at the incoherent remarks, and replied to them, though in so low a tone that her words were inaudible to the passengers."

"People exchanged surprised glances and began to talk of the unusual scene. Some thought the mother indifferent to her son's condition, and therefore little better than he, herself. Others were more charitable, and did not believe she realized his condition. "As I listened it seemed to me the woman's tones were not natural. There was something that sounded strained and affected in her laugh. Her old bonnet was drawn down so that her face was entirely hidden, and I observed she kept it so, carefully. Then I began watching her closely, for I wanted to see her features. I felt that a glance at them would assure me whether her cheerfulness was real or feigned. The train hurried along, and I began to think my watchfulness was to go unrewarded. The young man rambled foolishly on with his talk, and his mother continued to laugh at his pointless wit. Then the engine whistled, and the couple prepared to get off. I leaned forward and saw the woman fumble about searching for a package. The hand she put out trembled like an aspen. As she arose from the seat she turned her head and I caught a glimpse of her face. Her eyes were dimmed with tears, and her furrowed cheeks were wet. The expression of her countenance was so sad that it rises up before me day and night. The poor woman in her pride had preferred to appear unconscious of her son's disgrace, hoping the strangers who witnessed it might not comprehend."

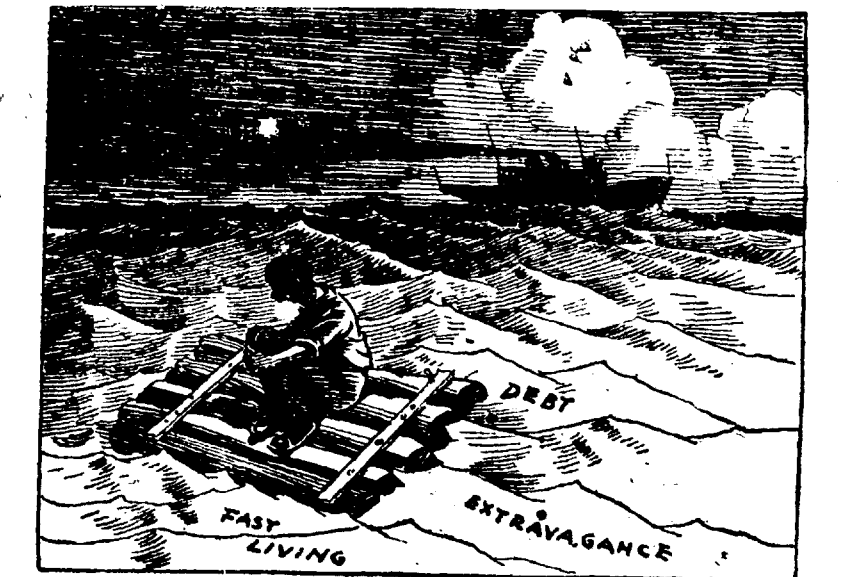

His Temper Getting the Better of Him

When M. de Persigny was French minister of the interior he received a visit one day from a friend, who, on sending up his name, was shown into the great man's sanctum. A warm discussion arose between them. Suddenly an usher entered and handed the minister a note. On opening it he at once changed his tone of voice, and assumed a quiet and urbane manner. Puzzled as to the contents of the note, and by the marked effect it had produced upon the minister, his friend cast a furtive glance at it, when, to his astonishment, he perceived that it was simply a plain sheet of paper, without a scratch upon it! More puzzled than ever, this gentleman, after a few minutes, took his leave, and proceeded to interrogate the usher, to whom he was well known, for he himself had been minister of the interior. "You have," said he, "just handed to the minister a note, folded up, which had a most extraordinary effect upon him. Now, it was a plain sheet of paper, with nothing written upon it. What did it mean?" "Sir," replied the usher, "here is the explanation, which I must beg you to keep secret, for I do not wish to compromise myself. My master is very liable to lose his temper. As he himself is aware of his weakness, he has ordered me, each time that his voice is raised sufficiently to be audible in the ante-room, without delay to place a sheet of paper in an envelope and take it to him. That reminds him that his temper is getting the better of him, and he at once calms himself. Just now I heard his voice rising, and immediately carried out my instructions."

JAPANESE GAMBLER'S WAY.

Hidetaro Hosana was a Japanese gambler. He had a wonderful facility in the manipulation of dice, and could make them fall any way he chose. During an illness brought on by a drunken revel, a copy of the New Testament was put into his hands, and he read it through with great interest. His message was carried home, and he became a Christian. After his recovery he was beset by his old friends from every quarter, and his talents became his temptation. One day he read in the gospel of Matthew, "If thy right hand offend thee, cut it off and cast it from thee." It was the third finger of his right hand that could grip the dice and make them fall as he wished. It was this finger that caused him to stumble, so he cut off the offending finger and cast it from him.

Which, Young Man, is Your Port?

Two men sat on the deck of an ocean liner as it sailed out of the New York harbor. It was midnight. Both were silent in thought.

"How big is the sea," interrupted one, "yet how small. See that little raft over there? Well, it's probably been floating over the ocean for months and months and it's still helpless, at the mercy of the waves, at the command of the slightest turn in the wind. To that little raft, the Atlantic is a billowy world of sea without a port. But with this liner it is different. In a few days it will have crossed it without having left its course for a minute. It has a pilot and he's steering it straight along to its port."

And there, as the two men gazed over the stilted sea, was unconsciously preached a powerful sermon. Young man, it was a sermon for you.

The raft didn't have a pilot and the raft will never have a port. The steamer set out for a definite somewhere and the steamer will keep on until it reaches that port. You, young men, may be like the raft or the huge liner. If you haven't a goal in life you're like the raft that has no port. And if you haven't ambition, steadfastness and character, you're like a ship without a pilot. If you are the slave of habit, if you are tossed from your course by fast living, extravagance or debt, if you are thrown from your course by temptation, your fate will be that of the helpless raft.

If you will succeed, pick your course first, steam up, make hard work, ambition and character your pilot, and there is no port you can't reach. It's time to set sail today! Will yours be the port of somewhere or the port of nowhere?

How To Make the Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind and You Save $2. Fully Guaranteed

This home-made cough syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Its promptness, ease and certainty in conquering distressing coughs, chest and throat colds is really remarkable. You can actually feel it take hold. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough—relieves even whooping cough quickly. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you—at a cost of only 64 cents—a full pint of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.50. Takes but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils.

You will be pleasantly surprised how quickly it loosens dry, hoarse or tight coughs, and heals the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in quaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, be sure and ask your druggist for "2½ ounces Pinex," and don't accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

OVER-EDUCATION IS CURSE OF CHILD LIFE

No Schooling Until Ten Years Old is Plant Wizard's Advice.

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 21.—That children should not be sent to school until they are 10 years old, is the claim of Luther Burbank.

"The work of breaking down the nervous systems of the children of the United States is well under way," said Burbank. "It is abnormal and cruel to run all children through the same mill and stuff and cram their little heads to the breaking point. A child is vastly more sensitive than a plant, and the first ten years of its life should be surrounded by sunshine, cheerfulness, love and laughter. Some children are absolutely unfit for certain studies, and to make the girls 10 years old study mathematics fit for the mind of a person 25 years old is the height of folly."

"Do not dress the children in costly clothing. An over-dressed child is as badly off as an under-dressed child. You cannot raise a healthy child on a healthy plant under a glass roof."

"On the root a child is fed the first ten years of its life depends its moral nature. How can we feed the poor? you ask. Isn't it as important for a nation to raise a good human crop as it is to raise good orchards? The feeding of the poor can be done nationally, without paternalism, or charity, and a nation in self-defense must take care of its people."

"There is not an attribute lacking in a plant that cannot be bred into it. The same is largely true of human nature. Heredity will make itself felt first, but in child-rearing, heredity and environment are equally important. What then can we expect from children raised in dusty factories, crowded tenements and unventilated schools? We let the weeds grow and then set fire to them by bad environment."

"What about the human will?" you ask. The most stubborn thing in the world is a plant whose habits have been acquired in years of time. Yet that plant's will can be easily broken by crossing it with another plant. The human will is a weak thing compared to a plant's will. Imagine, then, what possibilities there are for good and evil in such a sensitive thing as a child."

NEW HAVEN NEWS

New Haven, Ind., Oct. 21.—The marriage of Miss Bertha Sturms, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sturms, and Mr. Chester J. Albro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Albro, took place Wednesday morning at the Methodist Protestant parsonage. Rev. P. B. Leach performed the ceremony. They were attended by Miss Mabel Robinson and Arthur Bickel, of Fort Wayne. The bride was becomingly gowned in pale blue crepe de chine with an overdress of shadow lace, and carried bride's roses. Miss Robinson wore a dress of deep cream. After the ceremony the bridal party were driven to the home of the bride, where the wedding dinner was served. Only immediate relatives and close friends were present. During the afternoon the young couple left on a short bridal trip. For going away the bride wore a navy blue suit and hat to match. Both young people are widely known and popular here and their many friends wish them much future happiness.

Miss Ethel Bolyard was awarded the silver medal in the W. C. T. U. oratorical contest held at the Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday evening. The following young ladies, besides Miss Bolyard, gave readings: Misses Mil-

THE NEW UNIVERSITIES DICTIONARY

THIS paper, devoted to public welfare, fighting for better education, always seeking to give men and women, boys and girls, more chances for self-advancement, has secured for its readers the exclusive rights to the only dictionary containing the thousands of new words recently brought into general and proper use by scientific, religious, artistic and political advances.

All other dictionaries are out of date. Every dictionary printed before this year is useless. You cannot understand the big ideas that are rebuilding the world unless you have The New Universities Dictionary constantly at hand in home and office for quick reference.

Five great universities contributed the strength of their leading English and Latin teachers to the production of this great educational enterprise. With their distinguished assistance it was made a complete inventory of today's English. Harvard is represented in the book by Percy W. Long, A. M., Ph. D.; Cornell by Clark S. Northrup, Ph. D.; Pennsylvania by John C. Rolfe, Ph. D.; Columbia by Forrest S. Lunt, A. M.; Princeton by Morris W. Croll, Ph. D., and the Editor-in-Chief is George J. Hagar, whose biographical sketch in "Who's Who in America," takes up about a half column to relate his great services to education.

The New Universities Dictionary has not a dry line in the whole book—every page is of vital interest. Besides the best vocabulary ever printed, it contains twenty-five separate and distinct vocabularies of special activities, such as automobiling, golf, war, aviation, music, and many other arts, sciences and sports. Furthermore, it presents special dictionaries of Americanisms, foreign words and phrases, etc.

The book that this paper thus places within your grasp at the bare cost of handling is illustrated with expensive pictures, alone worth more than the reader is asked to contribute to the cost of distributing. It is the best illustrated dictionary in the world—profuse in page and double-page color plates, an absolutely new process of photographic reproduction.

Word-study is the short-cut to self-education. A well-stocked brain and a well-trained tongue provide the right word at the right time, and a whole fortune changes hands. That's the way millionaires are made. Make your start to-day. This paper presents the opportunity with the valuable coupon found elsewhere.

THREE WELL-KNOWN CITRUS-FRUIT PESTS

The Fluted Scale, the Purple Scale, and the Red Scale Are Important Insect Enemies of Citrus Trees—These Pests Multiply Rapidly, Covering Trunk, Limbs, Leaves and Fruit, Checking the Growth of the Tree and Rendering Its Fruit Valueless.

By C. L. MARLATT

The damage occasioned by scale insects is of several kinds. The first and principal injury is the extraction of the juices of the plant, the scale insect in its relation to its food plant being a mere pumping machine, which is continually absorbing the sap from its host. While the amount extracted by a single insect is very small, when multiplied by millions it greatly weakens the plant. With some species the excess is thrown off in the form of so-called "honey dew," which accumulates in drops and spreads over the bark or leaf as a sticky liquid. This liquid attracts ants, which very often give rise to the erroneous belief that the ants are preying on the plant.

Another form of injury results from the honey dew excretion, which not only prevents normal respiration, but develops a black fungus covering the leaves, twigs and fruit, and still further stifling the plant and reducing the marketable value of its products.

Associated with the damage due to the absorption of the juices of the plant by the scale insect is a diseased condition, particularly to be noted in the limbs, caused by the irritation excited by the beaks or by the injection of some poisonous liquid. The extreme injury by scale insects arises from the further fact that they are active the year round in climates where citrus trees can be grown. Their most rapid breeding season is from May to August, but continues throughout October and November. In the winter or rainy season they are more dormant and breeding is at a much lessened rate.

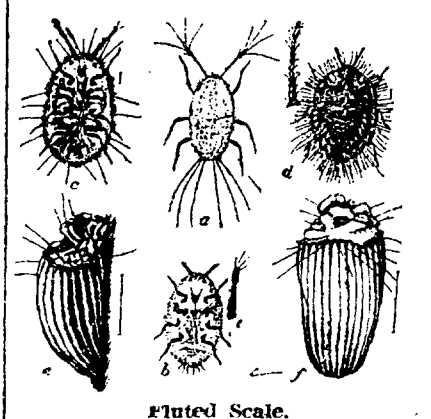

With most insects injurious to cultivated plants a periodicity is noted in their occurrence in injurious numbers. In the case of a sub-tropical species, like the scale insects affecting citrus plants, this periodicity is not so marked as it is with insects in temperate latitudes. That there may be more or less well-defined periods of destructive abundance, separated by periods of comparative scarcity is illustrated by the noted epidemic of scale infection which prevailed throughout the entire orange, lemon, and olive districts along the shores of the Mediterranean from Italy to Spain during the first part of the present century, which later subsided very largely of itself, efficient remedies at that date being practically unknown.

In this country, scale infestation varies considerably from year to year. The fluted scale, in California, increased enormously during the first ten or fifteen years and threatened the very existence of the citrus orchards. Thanks, however, to the Australian ladybird, and doubtless also to many native predaceous and parasitic insects, it is no longer feared in California. The long scale in Florida, also, was much more injurious in the first years of its activity than it has been since. In 1896 the black scale was very abundant and destructive in the orange districts about Riverside, Cal. Partly owing to adverse climatic conditions and partly to natural enemies, this insect has almost disappeared from this district, which is now one of the least affected by scale insects.

The facts are cited to give the citrus grower whatever encouragement they may offer, but not with the idea of belittling the need of remedial operations.

The original home of the purple scale is unknown, but it now occurs practically wherever the orange or lemon is grown. It was probably introduced into this country at an early date. It is frequently associated with the long scale, and is one of the most troublesome scale insects affecting the orange and lemon, because it is very difficult to get an application on the trees strong enough to kill all of its eggs with one treatment. For many years the purple scale was limited to Florida and the Gulf region, but some years since it was carried on Florida stock to California, where, fortunately, it has not yet become widely distributed. In general color Fluted Scale.

It is a brownish purple, and in shape duplicates the oyster-shell scale of the apple. The purple scale is not limited to citrus fruits, but occurs also on many other plants.

Neither the gas treatment nor any of the washes is a certain remedy for this scale, except in immature stages. It is usually necessary to make two or three applications of spray at intervals of two or three weeks to effect anything like extermination.

The red scale of Florida is another insect of world-wide distribution. As an orange scale it is not a very serious pest on trees grown in conservatories, but is very apt to thicken the leaves and fruit. It has a very wide range of food plants and is one of the commonest of scale insects. The red scale of California is quite distinct from the red scale of Florida. Its name comes not from the covering, but from the fact that the body of the mature female turns a reddish brown and shows through the thin transparent waxy scale. This insect, although for years very common and destructive in the groves of southern California, and enjoying also a cosmopolitan distribution has, curiously enough, never appeared in a destructive way elsewhere in this country. It is the most destructive and injurious of all the scale insects affecting the orange in California. It is controlled by the oily washes, and also by the gas treatment. So far no effective parasites or predaceous insects have been found to combat it.

The fluted scale is perhaps the most notable of all the scale insects attacking citrus plants, not so much from the damage now occasioned by it as from the problems of control which it has brought to the front and the international character of the work it has occasioned.

Australia is undoubtedly its original home, from whence it was introduced on Australian plants into New Zealand, Cape Town, South Africa, and California at about the same time.

It is a very hardy insect and will live for some time without food. The nature and habits of this insect makes it almost impervious to any insecticide washes, and the orange growers of California were rapidly losing heart.

In 1889, however, the natural ladybird enemy of this scale was discovered in Australia and imported into California. This ladybird, in a very short time, practically exterminated the fluted scale, saved the state of California annual damage amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars and removed this scale insect from the roll of dreaded injurious species.

CANNING TIME.

The wise housewife puts up only the juiciest, freshest and finest-flavored fruit, and that which is underripe rather than overripe, as it keeps and tastes better. Before beginning to can, have everything ready. Scald the bottles and have them scrupulously clean, especially the lids, and get new rubbers if the old ones are not elastic. Use graniteware, or a porcelain-lined kettle, and a wooden spoon; a granite ladle for dipping and a wide-mouthed funnel for filling the jars.

Set each jar on a deep plate and fill the jar till it overflows. Keep a silver fork in each jar, moving it gently. This will cause the air bubbles to rise and break. Take the fork out when the jar is full, wipe the jar, put on the cover, screw it tight and set aside to cool, tightening the cover, when cool, if necessary. Keep the jars in a cool, dry, dark closet. It is well to send jars into paper bags, writing the name of the fruit on the paper. Dark blue paper may be pasted on in sizes just to fit the bottles.

An Up-to-Date Farmer

One of the most progressive farmers the writer knows, lives in Virginia, about twenty miles from Richmond, on the James river. He farms about 1100 acres and no better farming is done anywhere, even in the "cracked" states of the north. This southern farmer long ago abandoned corn thinning and adopted crop rotation and every other modern method of farming and always with excellent results.

When he bought his corn shredder several years ago the neighbors were inclined to poke fun at him, but he tells how it helped him in this way: His corn crop runs between 70 and 80 bushels per acre. He cut every stalk and run it through the shredder. Keeping a careful account of the cost of work he figures that it does not exceed the ordinary gathering and cribbing cost, so that he gets a ton of fodder for a dollar, and he estimates that to be worth at least one-half as much as timothy hay. He says that if he can get $4.00 worth of good fodder by the investment of $1.00 he is very well satisfied.

He uses this shredded fodder with clover, cow peas and alfalfa and in this way doubles its value. He claims that this shredded fodder fed in this way keeps his cows and calves in first-class condition all winter and besides he can raise all the feeders for which he can produce corn and does it more cheaply than to go upon the market and buy them.

This southern farmer has demonstrated that he knows how to make the most of his land. He uses all the material from his corn farm and it is surprising that more farmers in the great corn belt of the north do not follow such methods. Millions of tons of good corn fodder are allowed to go to waste every year either by standing in the field after the corn is husked or by the shocks until they are ruined by snow and rain. Even if allowed to remain on the ground to be plowed under they are of little value compared with our southern farmer's method of using them.—C. M. S.

WHITE CATTLE OF ITALY.

The white cattle which predominate in northern Italy are of the Piedmont breed, and are particularly suitable as work animals. A yoke of these oxen of large size weighs 3,520 to 4,400 pounds. The weight of a fine white cow of the Piedmont breed is 1,210 to 1,540 pounds. Steers attain about 1,980 pounds. The Piedmont bull reaches about 2,200 to 2,420 pounds.

Another breed of white cattle is also found in Italy, known as Roman. This breed, however, is not properly speaking, of northern Italian origin, but comes from the neighborhood of Rome, in central Italy. The oxen of this breed are also particularly adapted as work animals, but are not so good for slaughter, their meat being not of such fine quality as that of the Piedmont variety.

There is also a breed of pure white cattle in Italy, known as Chianina. Set each jar on a deep plate and fill the jar till it overflows. Keep a silver fork in each jar, moving it gently. This will cause the air bubbles to rise and break. Take the fork out when the jar is full, wipe the jar, put on the cover, screw it tight and set aside to cool, tightening the cover, when cool, if necessary. Keep the jars in a cool, dry, dark closet. It is well to send jars into paper bags, writing the name of the fruit on the paper. Dark blue paper may be pasted on in sizes just to fit the bottles.

It is the opinion of breeders and dairymen in this district that none of the above breeds of cattle have been exported to North America. There are many breeders in Italy of the several classes of white cattle, but there are none who raise them especially for export.—Consul Nathaniel B. Stewart, Milan.

WOODPECKERS AND SAPSUCKERS NOT ALIKE

Of the Twenty-three Species of Woodpeckers of the United States Three Only Are Properly Classed as Sapsuckers—A Majority of Woodpeckers Seen Are Not Sapsuckers and Great Care Should Be Taken to Distinguish Them.

F. L. BEAL AND W. L. McATEE.

The California woodpecker is distributed throughout most of the oak-covered mountain and foothill region of California, northern Lower California and western Oregon. It lives generally wherever large oaks are abundant, and from these it gets much of its living. A peculiar habit has attracted much attention among non-scientific observers, that of drilling holes in tree trunks or large branches, in each of which it places an acorn or other nut. Where this bird is abundant all dead trunks or branches of any size, and many live ones, are punctured with these holes, frequently less than an inch apart. Where trees in the proper condition are not numerous, cultivated apple buildings and drills holes in the corners of houses or spires of churches; also it bores into telephone and telegraph poles and fence posts.

For the laboratory investigation of the food of the California woodpecker, 84 stomachs were available. The food was found to consist of 29.59 per cent of animal matter to 70.41 per cent of vegetable.

Their principal item of food is acorns. This amounts to 53.30 per cent of the yearly diet and was found in 58 stomachs. Where almonds are largely cultivated and this bird is abundant it exhibits a strong liking for this nut and stores it instead of acorns. In some cases it has been found necessary to shoot the birds whenever they entered the orchard in order to save the crop.

The foregoing shows that the food of the California woodpecker is not of much economic importance. It does not prey extensively upon the products of industry, except occasionally upon almonds, and its insect diet contains practically no useful species. Its worst sin is its propensity to puncture the corners and eaves of buildings and telegraph and telephone poles in order to store its nuts for winter use. This is a serious injury and will justify the destruction of the bird if no other remedy can be devised.

The red-bellied woodpecker ranges over the United States as far west as central Texas and eastern Colorado, and as far north as New York, Michigan, and southern Minnesota. It is rather more of a forest bird than some of the other woodpeckers, but it is frequently seen in thinly timbered country.

In Florida the bird has been observed to eat oranges to an injurious extent. It attacks over-ripe fruit and picks holes in it and sometimes completely devours it. The fruit selected is that which is dead ripe, so it is not often that the damage from this source is serious. The bird also sometimes attacks the trunks of orange trees as well as others, and does some harm.

For investigation of the food of the red-bellied woodpecker 271 stomachs were available. The food was found to contain 30.94 per cent of animal matter to 69.06 of vegetable. The former consists of insects and spiders, with a few tree frogs and lizards, while the latter may be considered as made up of grain, fruit and mast. Among the animal food a few wood-borers were found, and caterpillars averaged 2.88 per cent of the diet. Corn was the only grain found. Poison ivy seeds amount to 2.15 per cent of the diet and are eaten in every month from August to February inclusive. This bird shows a decided taste for fruit and may do injury, as it has in the Florida orange groves. The contents of the stomachs, however, show that the wild fruits are preferred, and probably only when these have been replaced by cultivated varieties is any mischief done.

Three-toed woodpeckers are found to be very beneficial. These are reidents of practically all parts of the United States. The great bulk of the food of these birds consists of the larvae of wood-boring beetles or moths. These are eaten with great regularity throughout the year, but somewhat more in the colder months than in summer. The total of wood-boring larvae, including both caterpillars and beetles, found in the food of these birds, amounts to 77.13 per cent. Their vegetable food may be included in four items: Fruit, mast, cambium and rubbish. The foregoing shows that these woodpeckers act as "conservators of the forest" in the strongest sense, as three-fourths of their food consists of the direct enemies of forest trees. It is unfortunate that in most places three-toed woodpeckers are not very numerous, and for this reason they should be protected and encouraged in every way possible.

Of the several species of woodpeckers in the United States only three may be properly classed as sapsuckers. These birds have short, bushy tongues, not adapted to the capture of insects, while the other woodpeckers have tongues with barbed tips which can be extended to spear leafless borers or other insects whose burrows in the wood have been reached by their powerful beaks. The sapsuckers practically do not feed on wood borers or other forest enemies. Their chief insect food is ants. About 15 per cent of their diet consists of cambium and the inner bark of trees, and they drink a great deal of sap.

The parts of the tree injured by sapsuckers are those that carry the rich sap which nourishes the growing wood and bark. It is evident, therefore, that the birds' attack on trees may have serious results. When a small proportion of the bark and cambium are removed, the vitality of the tree may only be lowered, or branches here and there may be killed. When the injury is more extensive, as it often is, the tree may be completely girdled, and of course killed. Hence, when sapsuckers are clear through the bark and often into the wood. Sapsucker picking disfigures ornamental trees, giving rise to pitch streams, gummy excrescences, and deformities of the trunks. Small fruit trees, especially apple, are often killed, and whole orchards have been destroyed by these birds. Sapsuckers are known to attack no fewer than 258 kinds of trees, shrubs, and vines in the United States, 63 of which are often seriously injured and 32 have been killed.

Hickory trees are favorites of the sapsucker, and it is estimated that the annual loss on hickory alone from this cause is about $600,000. It has been found that sapsucker work units for use such important ornamental woods as mahogany, black walnut, white oak, yellow poplar, chestnut, cherry, and hard maple; that it seriously blanches woods prized for peculiar qualities, such as ash, basswood, cypress, red cedar, holly, buckeye, and dogwood, and that it sometimes destroys the value of wood even for heavy construction, as southern basswood, spruce and western hemlock. It is evident that sapsuckers do not deserve protection.

The yellow-bellied sapsucker is the only woodpecker having the front of the head—from bill to crown—red in combination with a black patch on the breast. The red-breasted sapsucker is the only wood pecker that has the whole head and throat red. Great care should be taken to distinguish sapsuckers from woodpeckers.

Yellow-Bellied Sapsucker.

Next Year's Strawberry Patch

One of the hardest things to do this year is to keep the strawberry patch clean. The grass and weeds keep on growing no matter what effort is made to prevent it. Even persistent hoeing and cultivating have not been able entirely to eradicate them. The work will doubtless have to be continued until late in the fall if a crop of strawberries is wanted next year. The fight with weeds has been kept up for five long, weary months, and it would be folly to quit now. All of the work that has been done would count for nothing and there would probably be only a small crop of very small strawberries next summer. It is better to keep on, even though it does take considerable time that might have been devoted to something else. When strawberry time comes again and a nice crop of big berries is harvested, there will be the satisfaction of having conquered in an almost endless as well as exceedingly disagreeable conflict which so usually results in a bad-looking vine which is handicapped in growth by lack of proper training.

ARE YOU OPERATING A MOSQUITO FARM?

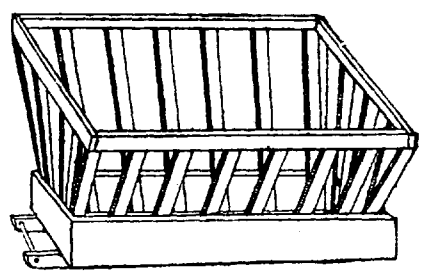

Do you know that you are probably a breeder of mosquitos? Many a man keeps a regular mosquito farm and does not know it. Are you one of this kind? You are, if on your premises you have open water barrels, empty tin cans, open water tanks, marshy or low ground that holds the water after rain. Of course, if you like being bitten by mosquitos and like to run the risk of having them carry to you some taint of disease, why you will not do anything to destroy the mosquito breeding places. If the people of every community would get together on the mosquito question, the "domestic" mosquito could be eliminated.

A deep, fertile, well-drained soil rich in lime and reasonably free from weeds is necessary for alfalfa. The lack of any one of these essentials is very apt to be the cause of failure, especially in the eastern and southern states, where alfalfa is at best produced with some difficulty.

Feed Rack for the Lambs

To get the best results from feed stock should have feed-saving and convenient racks and boxes.

Sometimes there is more feed wasted than eaten by the stock, especially when the corn is thrown out in mud eight or ten inches deep for the hogs to mow over, or when sheep oats and clover hay are piled out by a post or against the side of the barn to be trampled under foot by the cattle and horses.

A Handy Feed Rack, Which May Be Moved Around the Lot or Field.

A good size is as follows: For the body of feed rack make a box by 10 feet, with sides six inches high, the top rails 6 by 12 feet; at each corner the slats should be 2 by 4 inch stuff, the other slats 1 by 3 inch.

The slats should be 3 1/2 or 4 feet long and wide enough apart for the lamb's head to reach through and to pull grain from the box. Any material at hand may be used to make the rack. Permanent feed racks may be made on this principle out of heavy material in which to feed fodder, straw and hay to horses and cattle.

FRUIT AND POULTRY.

A profitable combination on a small farm within easy reach of a good market is fruit and poultry. Hens to do well, require a liberal range that cannot be secured on a small acreage, supply partial shade. They also require a variety of green stuff, with a sprinkling of insects. Such a combination may be easily supplied by planting the land to fruit and including it in poultry netting wire.

The development of the fruit industry in the Texas Panhandle has made wonderful progress. Few people realize its magnitude.

BLEMISHED FRUIT THE WORK OF CURCULIO AND CODLING MOTH

By E. P. TAYLOR.

Codling Moth on Apple.

There are comparatively few orchardists at the present time who doubt the value of spraying apples for the curculio and the codling moth. On the other hand, there are many who are, in reality, not protecting their orchards from these two cardinal apple pests as is possible or, indeed, practicable.

It is unnecessary to go into detail in explaining all the reasons why fruit, wormy from the codling moth or stung and deformed by the curculio, is permitted. Suffice to say that in many cases there is no reasonable excuse, except the failure of persons to carry out plans of spraying which are already well known to be effective.

There is a strong tendency, however, noted recently among many fruit growers to do more careful and intelligent spraying so that a higher percentage of first-class apples may be produced. A few years of partial fruit failures from adverse and uncontrollable weather conditions makes it even more necessary that in the other years we save our crops from destruction by insects—an accomplishment quite within our power. Among the many insects damaging the apple crop there are two which stand out pre-eminently as the most destructive. These are the curculio, the old offender commonly known as the plum curculio, and the well known codling moth. The damage done to apples alone by these two insects in Missouri by these two insects in a year when an average crop is borne runs into millions of dollars.

SPRAYS FOR HOUSE PLANTS.

For kerosene emulsion one-half pound of soap dissolved in one gallon hot water. Take from stove while hot; add two gallons kerosene. Mix until creamy. For plant lice mix one pint in ten pints of water to spray. Bordeaux mixture: Take four pounds copper sulphate, the same of unslaked lime and fifty gallons of water.

Where eggs are bred for pork, it is wise to breed two litters a year. In breeding sows for their progeny to keep up and increase the herd, breed once a year.

CAUSE OF ROPY MILK.

Ropy cream or milk is caused by a germ. The germ may come from a dusty stable or a stagnant pool of water through which a cow has waded. The difficulty may frequently be remedied by thoroughly scraping the dried manure from the barn and then whitewashing the interior, and by a thorough scolding of all pails, cans, and the separator.—R. M. Washburn, University Farm, St. Paul.

Some growers of head lettuce maintain that it costs from three to five times as much to grow head lettuce as the loose-leaf sorts.

in apple orchards, but there are a number of other natural or artificial checks against both insects which deserve mention.

Banding of the trees to capture the descending worms of codling moths as they search for a place for pupation was a practice even before spraying for codling moth was begun. It has been shown that they will sometimes capture as high as 40 per cent of the worms upon the tree, but it cannot be considered a practical operation when such far better results can be accomplished by spraying. When bands are used they must be looked after every ten days and the worms destroyed, to prevent the moth from maturing and making its escape. If this is not done they will only offer safer hiding places and do more harm than good. They are somewhat useful in trapping the first emerging worms in the summer in order to forecast the date of appearance of second generation worms.

Cultivation of orchards is one of the best of procedures for curculio destruction. It keeps the orchard free from many of the desirable hibernation places for the adults, and it unquestionably destroys a high percentage of the insects in the ground.

There are many useful natural insect parasites and other enemies of both curculio and codling moth which attack them in practically all their stages and assist very materially in preventing the damage from them being far greater than it is.

WEEDS.

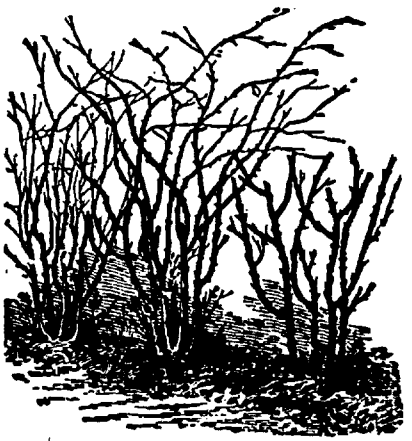

A very erroneous idea is prevalent among a great many farmers that a crop of weeds turned down is as good as a coat of manure. They are of as much value as a coat of shavings from a planing mill. The only thing I know they are good for is to furnish a splendid place in which the moths may lay their eggs for a big crop of cut worms the following spring and summer.—C. B. R.

The cypress vine has a profusion of scarlet star-shaped flowers. It is suitable to screen a window, or for a light trellis and grows rapidly from seed.

Pruning Berry Bushes

The question is often asked as to the amount of pruning necessary for blackberry and raspberry bushes and when this should be done.

This pruning of raspberry and blackberry bushes may be done at any time after the leaves have fallen. I could have my choice as to the date I would do the pruning at the close of the winter. But those who have large plantations are obliged to do the pruning when they have leisure time, therefore to such people I recommend pruning any time during winter. Where the winters are severe, the plants are bent down and each bush held down closely to the ground for protection. I would not recommend pruning these bushes thus protected until the winter is past, and the buds are beginning to start growth.

THE MASH WE FEED.

The mash we feed our fowls the year round is made as follows: Bran, 2 parts by weight; Cornmeal, 1 part by weight; Ground oats, 1 part by weight; Middlings, 1 part by weight; Meat scraps, 1 part by weight; Linseed meal, 1-5th part by weight. Mix thoroughly. To this can be added cut clover hay in any quantity, according to the way the fowls eat it.—M. K. B.

Shipping Hatching Eggs A Long Distance

If hatching eggs are carefully packed in a basket with a good cushion of excelsior in the bottom, they will carry great distances and give good results. It must not be expected, however, that they will give as large a percentage of hatch as might be the case nearer home. The writer has shipped eggs as far west as California and as far south as Florida—to say nothing about shipments to Canada and also to Panama—and the reports were very satisfactory. It is the jolting eggs are apt to get by transportation by rail, that is likely to weaken a strong germ or kill a weak one. For that reason they should be well packed in excelsior. Excelsior is to be preferred to any other material, as it is of a springy nature and baskets are better than boxes for the reason that being more convenient to handle, railroad employees are naturally more careful with them.—M. V. B.

VALUE OF BARNYARD MANURE.

The liquid excrement from farm animals contains nearly half the nitrogen as valueless voided by them and should be carefully preserved. When steers are fed on cement floors the value of the manure produced is more than $4.00 per year greater for each animal that when fed on earth floors.

Open barnyard manure is about one-half as valuable as stall manure. The least amount of nitrogen will be lost from stored manure if animals are kept on it or it is kept in a moist, well packed condition.

Manure used in connection with continuous cropping will not maintain the maximum yield of land when used in connection with crop rotation it increases the yield of all crops grown in that rotation. Manure used in conjunction with a complete fertilizer high in phosphorus will give better returns than when either is used alone.

Forest rangers and others are putting out a vast number of trees in the Sierra Madre mountains.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Favorable weather and big receipts at northwestern terminals more than offset in the wheat market today the effect of higher prices at Liverpool. After opening 41¢ @ 42¢ per bushel, December at $1.04 and May at $1.05 to $1.06, the market here underwent a further sag but then made a good rally.
The close was heavy, 1¢ to 1 1/4¢ @ 1 1/4¢
net lower.
Corn, like wheat, was bearishly affected by the fine weather. Opening prices, which ranged from a shade to 1/4¢ lower,
were followed by moderate additional losses before any recovery set in.
The close was unsettled, varying from 3/4¢ to 1/2¢ @ 1/2¢, compared with yesterday's finish.
Oats, although firm at the start, eased
off with other grain.
Demoralization in the hog market brought about much stop loss selling in provisions.

night gain of 21 points, and an advance of almost 200 points since the beginning of the month. Later it touched 559 1/2.
General Motors rose six to 350, later going to 363, and Studebaker showed a gain of seven points. Other specialties, including American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive, Allis-Chalmers, common and preferred, and American Woolen were higher by a point or more. U. S. Steel fluctuated narrowly and rails continued dull and irregular.

The Bethlehem Steel reached to 580 but General Motors made a new record at 370 and Studebaker at 184 1/2. Willys-
Overland also sold higher than ever, gaining 8 1/2 points, including its dividend at 265, while U. S. Industrial Alcohol on its rise of eleven to 123 and Maxwell Motors up 3 1/2 to 65. United States Steel became the feature of the second hour, advancing 1 1/2 points on heavy absorption to 87 1/2, its highest price of the current movement. London exchange was weaker and Continental Rails were nominal on cable interruption. Bonds were firm.
Ordinary specialties featured the final hour.
The closing was irregular.

CADESSIA GROTTO HAS A CEREMONIAL

Cadessia grotto No. 50, Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, presented its third ceremonial initiation at the Majestic theater, Wednesday night, and a good-sized class of candidates was present to receive the order. The work was discharged by the degree team of Cadessia grotto, which has conferred the order in all of the ceremonials here. The elaborate stage presentation of the rites was begun at 8:30 and completed two hours later, when the stage was turned over to the company of performers from the Empress theater and the local visiting prophets were entertained in a fashion that kept the members of the order applauding from beginning to end. The ceremonial was honored by the presence of Hiram D. Rogers, of Boston, past grand monarch of the supreme council, who came to Fort Wayne expressly to witness the work. He paid Director-General Robert J. Caspell and his degree team high eulogiums for the efficiency with which the work was presented according to the recently revised ritual. Visiting prophets came from New York, Chicago, Detroit, Toledo and other cities nearer. The Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets is composed of Master Masons and members of the higher degrees. Cadessia grotto was instituted less than a year ago and has had a flourishing growth.

After making accurate tests a German scientist has decided that German Gothic type is less tiring to the eyes than Roman letters.

Resinol will stop that ugly itching rash

The moment that Resinol Ointment touches itching skin the itching stops and healing begins. That is why doctors have prescribed it so successfully for twenty years in even the severest cases of eczema, ringworm, rashes, and many other tormenting, disfiguring skin diseases. Aided by warm baths with Resinol Soap, Resinol Ointment makes a sick skin or scalp healthy, quickly, easily and at little cost.

Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap also clear away pimples, blackheads and dandruff. Sold by all druggists; for trial free, write to Resinol, Dept. 14-S, Baltimore, Md.

TAKE GERMANS BY SURPRISE

Czar's Troops Win Important Victory Near Center of Long Front.

SERBIA'S FLIGHT MORE DESPERATE

Fact is as Much as Admitted in Official Statement from Nish.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Russian armies which recently have been prosecuting a vigorous offensive on the southern end of their front are now reported to have won an important victory further north in the central district of the long front. An official communication from Petrograd announces the capture of several German positions in the neighborhood of Baranovitch, north of the Pripiet river. The Russian staff states that more than 3,500 men, together with ten machine guns and one field piece, were captured.

The flight of Serbia's hard pressed forces assailed on the north and east by numerically superior armies of Germany, Austria and Bulgaria, is becoming desperate. As much is admitted in an official statement from Nish. This announcement confirms previous reports that the Bulgarians have captured Vranja on the Nish-Saloniki road. Communication on this line is interrupted in two places, impeding the advance of French and British troops whose arrival is being awaited with anxiety by the Serbians.

There are no signs of resumption of the offensive on the western front, which has been expected in England and France. The only fresh activity is German attacks near Rheims and Soissons and a small engagement in Lorraine. In every case, the French war office reports, the Germans were frustrated in efforts to reach the French lines.

Greece is still undecided what part she shall play in the operations in the Balkans. It is reported from Athens that new proposals have been made by the quadruple entente in an effort to procure the assistance of Greece. According to these advances, not only the island of Cyprus has been offered but also an extension of the Greek boundary at the expense of Bulgaria and Turkey almost to Constantinople, as well as to include certain territory in Asia Minor.

Petrograd, Oct. 21.—An important Russian success in the region of Baranovitch, resulting in the capture of several German positions, 3,552 men and ten machine guns and one piece of artillery, was announced today by the war office. Baranovitch is in the central portion of the Russian line, to the north of the Pripiet river. The war announcement follows:

"In the district southeast of Baranovitch our troops, after a dash and surprise, captured the German positions near the villages of Etkimovitsi, Oloke-larehina, Noviki and Nagornia. In the course of the day we took 852 German and Austrian officers and 3,552 men prisoners, in addition to capturing ten quick fitters and one gun."

NISH MAKES ADMISSION.

Only Arrival of Allied Troops Can Save Serbian Army.

Paris, Oct. 21.—An official statement issued yesterday at Nish is forwarded by the Havas news agency, says that the Serbian army is now menaced seriously. The Serbian war office says the railroad line to Saloniki has been cut in two places. The communication follows:

"The situation grows more and more serious. The resistance of the Serbian troops is desperate and heroic but the strong pressure of the Austrians and Germans from the north and of masses of Bulgarians from the east is menacing seriously the Serbian army, which is

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 21.—With one exception all officers of the Indiana Daughters of the Revolution were re-elected today at the closing session of the fifteenth annual conference held here.

Richmond was chosen as the place for holding the convention in 1916. No election of auditor was held. Mrs. Frank B. Feltner, of Huntington, is the present auditor.

WARREN SUSPECTED OF OTHER CRIMES

Effort to Identify Check Artist With Forged Express Orders.

Through co-operation of Chief of Police Charles Lenz and E. B. Eskew, of Chicago, traveling inspector for the Wells-Fargo Express company, an effort is being made Thursday afternoon to determine whether or not Charles Luther Warren, alias Commodore Perry Hull, the check swindler in jail here, is the man who has been cashing a large number of stolen and forged express money orders of the Wells-Fargo company.

Numbers of these money orders were cashed by a man in Gary, Valparaiso, Hobart, Chesterton and other Indiana cities and towns, and in several places in Illinois.

Warren in a general way answers the description of the man who a month ago made a hurried automobile trip through these places, dropping the

Assay Office is Unable to Keep Up With Inflowing Yellow Stream.

New York, Oct. 21.—So great has been the tide of gold poured into New York to pay the war bills of the belligerent nations that the task of melting it up to be turned into United States coin has almost overwhelmed the employees of the United States assay office here.

They are working longer than they ever did before but the piles of coin in bullion deposited by bankers grows instead of diminishing. No sooner is one consignment of the gold melted and sent to the Philadelphia mint than another shipment of millions is received. For two Sundays the whole force at the assay office has worked to keep abreast of the incoming gold.

Ordinarily about $100,000,000 in gold passes through the assay office in a year. Since July 1 the office has received and melted more than $2,000,000 worth, and nearly $30,000,000 of this was received within the last ten days. Nearly a year's work has been done in less than four months.

The gold arrives generally in the form of bullion, English sovereigns, French Napoleons and Japanese yen.

KERN AND PRESIDENT TO DISCUSS DEFENSE

Washington, Oct. 21.—Senator Kern, of Indiana, democratic leader of the senate, will discuss national defense tomorrow with President Wilson. He returned today from a visit to the middle west and said he thought the defense program could be put through congress without much difficulty. Regarding ways of raising additional revenues to pay for strengthening the army and navy, Senator Kern said that he believed the free sugar provision of the tariff law, which would become effective next May, would be repealed and that there might be some changes in the emergency stamp tax act.

CHARITY PROFITS BY WRESTLERS' WRANGLE

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 21.—Mayor Bosse today was holding the box office receipts of a wrestling match held here last night in which Joseph Stecher, Dodge, Neb., defended his title of world's heavy-weight champion against "Strangler Ed" Lewis, Lexington, Ky.

Claiming that the promoters did not live up to their guarantee of a fair match the mayor says a settlement will be offered the wrestlers and promoters by which two-thirds will be given to local charities. The match last night ended in a decision for Stecher when Lewis fell through the ropes and claimed he had been injured.

The officers re-elected today are: Mrs. Henry A. Beck, Indianapolis, state regent; Miss Emma O'Donnell, Indianapolis, vice-regent; Mrs. Otto Craven Rott, Remington, treasurer; Mrs. William G. Clark, Terre Haute, state historian; and Mrs. E. C. Atkins, Indianapolis, state chaplain.

Mrs. Frederick S. Bates, of Richmond, was elected state secretary to succeed Miss Anna Senkey, Terre Haute.

INDIANAPOLIS BUILDERS SPEND DAY GETTING HOUSE-BUILDING POINTERS FROM FORT WAYNE HO MES.

Here is a group of Indianapolis building men who spent most of Thursday combing the city for ideas in building. V. V. Miller, of the Wildwood company, acted as guide for the party, and they visited scores of new houses throughout the city. Reading from left to right, top row—J. Frank Cantwell, V. V. Miller, P. F. Balz, Emerson W. Chaille and A. T. Anderson. Bottom row—John W. Roberts, W. H. Kinnear and Frank B. Stout. They represent the prominent building firms of Indianapolis.

TAX REFORM GIVEN BOOST

Real Estate Men Go on Record Favoring Change in System.

HUGH CHALMERS IS GIVEN AN OVATION

Convention to Close With a Banquet at Anthony Hotel.

Members of the Indiana Real Estate association went on record Thursday in their second annual state convention as favoring the classification of all kinds of property for taxation, such laws to provide for maximum rates for each class and providing for higher rates to meet emergencies when sanctioned by a vote of the people in the government unit where such emergencies may exist and for an act to provide for a state department of assessment.

Following an automobile ride over the city starting from the Commercial club at 1 o'clock, the delegates went into session for the election of officers and the selection of a meeting place for next year. Lee J. Nye, of this city, is prominently mentioned for the presidency and Evansville is the most frequently mentioned as the next meeting place, although various cities of Indiana are asking for it, including Richmond, Terre Haute and Gary. The re-election of Scott R. Brewer, of Indianapolis, is assured.

Fort Wayne has never entertained more "live wires" than are in attendance at this meeting. As a matter of fact to be a successful real estate man hustling qualities are absolutely essential.

Close With Banquet.

The convention will close Thursday evening with a banquet at the Anthony hotel when Walter E. Cordon, of Detroit, president of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, will be the principal speaker. Other addresses on the program are: "The Dayton Plan," George B. Smith, vice president of Greater Dayton association; "The Real Estate Man," by Archibald M. Hall, Indianapolis, and "Fort Wayne With Might and Main," by Walter H. Ingham, Fort Wayne.

Tax Reform Favored.

The report of the special committee on the tax question in Indiana which was adopted by an unanimous vote, is as follows:

"The tax question in Indiana is a very live topic of discussion. As we all know, the tax rate and the valuation of real property have been steadily increasing for some years, until now in portions of the state it is practically confiscatory.

"The last legislature, realizing that something must be done to relieve the situation, authorized the governor of the state to appoint a special tax commission, (which he has done) to look into the question of taxation and propose remedies that may be presented to the legislature not later than January 1, 1917. This commission has been taking testimony and gathering all the information relative to what it possibly can and will, without doubt, present a comprehensive report to the legislature. The chairman of this commission is William L. Elder, of Indianapolis, a member of the Indiana Real Estate association.

"The Indiana Real Estate association for the purpose of doing a little investigation of its own to ascertain the facts about taxation, appointed this year a committee with instructions to call meetings in different portions of the state, to learn the views of the people.

Four Recommendations.

"Now, therefore, as a result of all the information that we have been able to obtain, we desire at this time to make the following recommendations:

OPEN NIGHT AT THE VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Walter E. Cordon, director of the vocational school, announces that the boys' vocational school will be open for inspection Friday afternoon and evening at the new Harmar school.

Everybody is cordially invited to come and watch the boys at work in the electrical, printing and carpentry departments. The boys will be at work in the evening in their respective shops for the benefit of visitors, and souvenir printed cards will be given out by the printing department.

HUGH TH. MILLER TO TRY IT ONCE MORE

Indianapolis, Oct. 21.—Hugh Th. Miller, of Columbus, former lieutenant governor and the republican nominee for United States senator in the last election, announced today that he would be a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator.

CAPT. J. C. HAZELET DIES UNEXPECTEDLY

Supposedly Minor Injuries Prove Fatal to Nickel Plate Officer.

CAPT. JOHN C. HAZELET.

Nickel Plate detective department, died last Wednesday afternoon. He was 41 years of age.

In company with Patrolman Frank L. Reneman, Captain Hazelet was going east of the city to investigate a car robbery. Both attempted to board train No. 56, a fast freight, Reneman catching the seventh car ahead of the engine. Captain Hazelet attempted to catch the engine but missed his hold and fell to the concrete platform in front of the station, alighting on his back and injuring his head.

Rendered unconscious by the fall he was carried into the station by the patrolman and later was taken to the hospital in the police ambulance. He regained consciousness and at noon walked with Reneman to a taxi and was taken to his home, 1612 North Harrison street. At 2 o'clock, when he again lost consciousness he was rushed to the Lutheran hospital. He passed away before physicians could operate.

The deceased took employment with the Nickel Plate as a patrolman, January 1, 1914, and a year later received the appointment as captain. He was widely known and two years ago was a candidate for republican nomination for sheriff of Allen county.

Besides the widow he is survived by a four-year-old son, Paul; the aged mother, a sister, Mrs. Joseph Miller, and four brothers, Charles, George, James and William Hazelet, all of near New Haven.

KENDALLVILLE MAN PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

F. L. Crone Says Spelling Book Follows Bayonet in Philippines.

Mohawk Lake, N. Y., Oct. 21.—The spelling book has followed the bayonet in the Philippines ever since the United States began to extend control over these islands until now there are 4,000 schools taught by 10,000 teachers and enrolling more than 600,000 pupils.

These facts were laid before the Late Mohawk conference on the Indian and other dependent peoples today by Frank L. Crone, director of education in the Philippines.

The school system, he said, is maintained by the Philippine people.

Frank L. Crone, director of education in the Philippines, is a northern Indiana man. His home is at Kendallville.

U. S. SOLDIERS ARE ATTACKED

BIG BAND MAKES ATTACK IN DARK

Driven Off After Clash, Leaving Its Own Dead on the Scene.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 21.—Three United States soldiers were killed and six others were wounded in an engagement with Mexican bandits near Ojo de Agua about 2 o'clock this morning.

The troops, guarding the place, which is near Mission, Tex., and about thirty miles north of Brownsville, were attacked by a large band of Mexicans.

Details of the fight are lacking, but in a preliminary report from Captain Frank H. McCoy at 3:45 o'clock Thursday morning, the information was given that five dead Mexicans had been found in the dark after the attacking party had been driven off.

Mexicans slain in the fight had white mustards bearing the words "Viva Villa."

FORTY MINUTES OF BATTLE.

Attackers Flee When Cavalry Reinforcements Reach Scene.

Brownsville, Texas, Oct. 21.—About seventy-five Mexicans at 2 o'clock this morning attacked fifteen American soldiers at Ojo de Agua, about sixty miles up the Rio Grande from here. Three soldiers were killed and six wounded and at least five Mexicans killed in the forty minute battle which followed. Some of the Mexicans fled across the Rio Grande into Mexico when American cavalry reinforcements came up.

PAIR OF BURGLARIES ON THE WEST SIDE

Two Daylight Jobs at Fox and Nichols Homes Are Productive.

While all the members of both households were absent between 1 and 4 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, burglars forced entrance to the residences of A. F. Fox, 1308 West Wayne street, and W. A. Nichols, next door west, and got away with considerable loot. From the Fox home the thieves took a fine camera set consisting of a large brooch and earrings to match, each piece being enclosed in a ring of pearls, and also got some rings, a wrist watch and other jewelry. The camera set was an heirloom owned by Mrs. Fox and had long been in her family. Though of much value it was greatly prized beyond its intrinsic worth by Mrs. Fox. The watch belonged to a daughter in the family. From the Nichols home $18 cash and a quantity of jewelry were taken. The robbers overlooked one watch at the Fox home and did not molest the silverware.

Entrance was gained at the Fox home by going through a cellar window and jimmying a door leading from the cellar to the upper part of the house. The Nichols home was entered through a window that was forced. City detectives who are working on the case found evidence that an attempt had been made to jimmy a door in the home of O. S. Rhodes, next door east of the Fox residence.

All the occupants of the three households were absent during the robberies, a fact it is believed the burglars knew before the attempts were made. There has been a plague of burglaries and burglars attempts on the west side during the past five or six weeks.

KING ALBERT SAYS NO TO REQUEST OF POPE

Will Not Lay Down Sword While His Country is "in Slavery."

Rome, Oct. 21.—Pope Benedict has just received from King Albert, of Belgium, a reply to an autograph letter from the pope urging the king to initiate steps looking to the conclusion of peace. King Albert replied in the negative.

The king thanked Pope Benedict for his promise to use his influence with Germany to bring about the evacuation of Belgium in the event of peace.

King Albert declared while his country was "in slavery," Pope Benedict is represented as disappointed at the outcome of his endeavors.

HERE IS U. S. NAVY OF 1925

Experts Picture Sea Fighting Force if Congress Approves Program.

What Defense Plans of Administration Mean to Navy Department.

Washington, Oct. 21.—What the United States navy will be in 1925 if the administration's defense program is approved by congress was described today by naval experts. The strength of the navy will be:

Battleships of the first line, 27. These ships would all carry more than eight big guns each, most of them mounted forward and aft on the decks, without target protection. By this great saving in weight, vessels of high speed, great endurance and wide cruising radius could have been obtained to reinforce the slower and smaller scout cruisers and destroyers in their mission of breaking an enemy's communication lines, destroying his commerce at sea and overwhelming convoys composed of light cruisers or destroyers. It is said that a speed of forty knots for these ships was suggested to enable them to flee from an enemy of greater gun power, but slower speed, such as a battle cruiser. The navy general board, however, favored construction of the bigger ships on the theory, it is said, that since European navies were equipped with battle cruisers, it was necessary for a well balanced navy that the United States should have equal or superior craft in gun power and speed. It was argued that battle cruisers of the type recommended would not be compelled to seek safety in flight from anything but a heavily armored and armed battleship.

The Submarines. Fleet submarines 18. The Schley, first vessel of this type designed for any navy, will be launched in a few months. She will make twenty knots on the surface, while the others will make twenty-five knots or more.

Coast defense submarines 149. This figure all submarines of the type now built or building and allows for the retirement of nine boats of the A and B classes, which are now on duty in the Philippines and at Panama and giving satisfactory service, despite the fact that they are twelve years old. Navy officers believe most of them will still be available for harbor defense in eight years' time.

Gun boats 31. These vessels are for river and shallow harbor use. The new program will add only two vessels of this type.

In addition to the foregoing, there are ten armored cruisers, five protected cruisers, four first class cruisers, twelve second class cruisers and nine coast defense monitors available for reserve fleet duty. It is not planned to build any more ships of these types.

For the task planned for navy designers by the new program it is probable that considerable additions to the civil employees in the departmental bureau of construction and repair, which will draw plans for the new ships, has a huge job before it; the weight of every rivet or bolt that goes into a 32,000 ton battleship must be calculated in order that she may be in proper balance, submerge to the proper depth and have the desired displacement. The department prides itself on the fact that no navy designed ship for the last twelve years has been overweight, a record unequalled by any foreign navy.

Not Unanimous on Point. While the general board of the navy has approved plans for six, eight gun, thirty-six knot super-battle cruisers to be built within the next five years, navy officers and officials, it was learned today, are not unanimous in favoring the type of ship. Before Secretary Daniels decided to recommend the big ships, an alternative plan for another type of vessel to cost about a third as much, had many adherents. The chief reason for favoring the smaller and less expensive ships, it is said, was that for the amount to be expended on the battle cruisers, eighteen of the other type could have been built and equipped probably in considerably less time. The alternative plan suggested a type of super-scout cruisers ranging from 7,500 to 10,000 tons displacement, with very light armor and equipped with only two fourteen inch guns each, one mounted forward and aft on the decks, without target protection. By this great saving in weight, vessels of high speed, great endurance and wide cruising radius could have been obtained to reinforce the slower and smaller scout cruisers and destroyers in their mission of breaking an enemy's communication lines, destroying his commerce at sea and overwhelming convoys composed of light cruisers or destroyers. FRENCH ARTILLERY CUTS DOWN ATTACK

Paris, Oct. 21.—Following their futile bombardment last evening to the east of Rheims, the Germans renewed their attacks in this region, according to an announcement made by the French war office. In spite of a very violent preparatory artillery fire they again were checked, and cut down by the fire of the French artillery and machine guns. They did not succeed in winning a single position in the French first line trenches.

SOAP DRIES; SCHEME OF PRISONERS FAILS

Novel Plan to Break Jail is Finally Foiled at Seymour.

Seymour, Ind., Oct. 21.—After working for three months to saw their way out of the local jail, George Bennett and Charles Howard were detected at their work yesterday. A few more hours and a little wet soap and they would have been free. The men had forced a narrow opening through their cell bars to gain their freedom they found it was necessary to cut away bars in a corridor window. Bennett, the smaller of the men, devised the scheme of sawing his body with soap, squeezing through the opening in the cell bars and thereby getting to the corridor, where he could work on the barred window. Their task was nearly complete when Bennett, naked and sopped, squeezed through the narrow opening and began sawing the last of the window bars. He heard footsteps coming down the corridor and darted for the hole in the cell. He wriggled half way through the opening and then he stuck. The soap had dried.

CYPRUS HELD OUT AS WAR BAIT TO GREECE

London, Oct. 21, 1:52 a. m.—Great Britain has made a formal offer of the island of Cyprus to Greece as soon as Greece undertakes to intervene in the war on the side of the allies. The Daily Telegraph makes this announcement this morning. Cyprus is the third largest island in the Mediterranean, sixty miles from the coast of Asia Minor. It was administered by Great Britain until Nov. 5, 1914, under a convention concluded with the Sultan of Turkey in 1878, but at the outbreak of hostilities with Turkey on the former date the island was annexed. It has an area of 3,584 square miles and a population of nearly 300,000.

WILL FIGHT WOMAN'S CLAIM.

Executor and Heirs to Frank Ray Estate to Dispute Hedrick Suit. Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 21.—Both the executor and the heirs in the Frank C. Ray estate will fight the claim of Jessie Hedrick of Danville, Ill., who alleges she is Ray's widow and asks her share of the property. Ray was a wealthy young sportsman, who died several months ago, presumably unmarried. He inherited a half-million from his father, Elias Ray, and proceeded to squander a large part of it in automobile and motor boat racing and long visits at Hot Springs and other resorts.

SEES ARISTOCRACY OF EDUCATION NOW

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 21.—That the rich by endowments now control the standards of education so that the poor boy no longer has an equal opportunity with the son of wealthy parents in obtaining a professional education was the statement of Rev. Russell H. Conwell, president of Temple University of Philadelphia, speaking before the Young People's Union in connection with the convention in session here. He declared that an aristocracy of education now exists. "The whole system has come about through endowing our universities and colleges by the rich and they naturally dictate the policy and standards set by the state board," Rev. Conwell asserted. "Nowadays it is how rich you are."

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.—Advertisement.

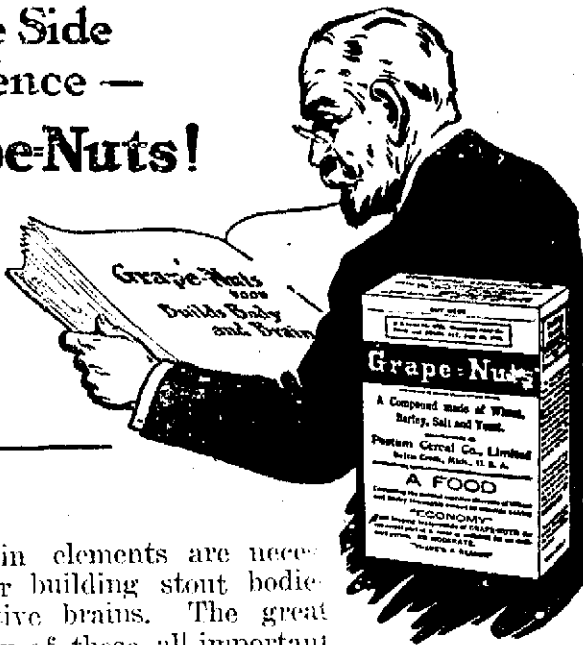

Capt. Jos. Bernier, Back from Arctic Hears About War

Capt. Joseph Bernier.

Quebec, Oct. 16. Capt. Joseph Bernier, the Canadian Arctic explorer, has just learned of the European war. He set sail for the north on July 4, 1914, making a successful trip to the new land known as Bathurst Island, which in 1916, will be recognized as a Canadian possession. It was not until the return of his vessel that the captain and his crew heard of the war.

On the Side of Science — Grape-Nuts!

Certain elements are necessary for building stout bodies and active brains. The great majority of these all-important elements for life and health are supplied by Nature in her field grains, wheat and barley. But white flour products lack these essential elements—Why?

Because the miller to make his flour look white and pretty throws out about 4-5ths of the mineral content of the wheat necessary for building brain, nerve and muscle.

Scientific opinion is on the side of

for supplying balanced nutritive values.

Not only does this famous pure food supply all the sound nourishment of the wheat, including the vital mineral elements—sturdy builders of brain, nerve and muscle—but of malted barley as well.

Grape-Nuts is easily digested, generally in about an hour—white flour products require about three hours.

Grape-Nuts is always ready to eat direct from the dust-proof, moisture-proof, germ-proof packet—delicious and economical!

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

EMIL EGLEY IS DEAD.

Deatur, Ind., Oct. 21.—Deatur, Ind., Oct. 21.—After many weeks of suffering that had its origin in an injury received when he was kicked by a horse, Emil Egley, a well known farmer residing west of Deatur, in Washington township, is dead. Mr. Egley was attending a sale at the George Bright farm in Kirkland township, when he received his injury. He was standing behind the animal when it became frightened and kicked, striking him in the lower part of the abdomen, and causing an intestinal rupture. Mr. Egley was born in Bern, Switzerland, on April 3, 1861, and grew to manhood in his native country, but at the age of 21 years came to the United States to make his home. He is survived by the widow, Magdalena Egley, and a family of sixteen children.

TO MAKE KENDALVILLE DRY.

Kendalville, Ind., Oct. 21.—The fate of Kendalville's seven saloons will probably be decided at an option election late in November. The dry forces in session at a conference were almost unanimous for having such an election called. Steps were taken toward perfecting a permanent organization to carry on a pre-election campaign, and it was announced that petitions would be placed in circulation at once. If the required number of signatures—one-fifth of the number voting at the last general election—are obtained, and dry leaders are confident that this will be an easy task, the petitions will be presented to the county commissioners at their next meeting, Monday, Nov. 1.

WAS BORN IN AUBURN IN 1841.

Auburn, Ind., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Anna Cosper McIntosh, wife of W. H. McIntosh and a resident of Auburn since 1866, passed away at her late residence here after a prolonged illness. About two years ago on Halloween she fell and disabled her right arm and has been an invalid ever since. She was born in Auburn, September 17, 1841, and was aged 74 years, 1 month and 2 days. Her parents were James and Mary Cosper and they were among the earliest settlers of Auburn. Later Mr. Cosper bought a tract of land four miles east of Auburn and they built a house where she lived until the war broke out. Then she went to Murrellsboro, Tenn.

BALIKY SAFE IS BACK HOME.

Montpelier, Ind., Oct. 21.—The large steel safe of the First National bank, which has been at the factory in Hamilton, Ohio, for the past four weeks, has arrived in this city. The safe is one with a time lock and was always set to open at 7 o'clock, but one morning refused to open. Experts were called, but after working for a few days, they gave up the attempt, and the safe was sent back to the factory where it was opened. New time locks were put in as the old ones were broken in an attempt to open the safe. By the safe refusing to open, $20,000, which it contained, was put out of circulation for several days and the bank had to borrow money for a short time to carry on its business.

MAY BECOME ARMY DENTIST.

Columbia City, Ind., Oct. 21.—Fred Wunderrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wunderrich, of this city, and who graduated from a Chicago dental college last spring, left for Columbus, Ohio, Tuesday evening, where he took the examination of the regular army in an attempt to pass the dental examination. Should he succeed in passing the examination he intends to go into the army as a dentist and will rank as a second lieutenant to start with. There are at present twelve vacancies in the army and Mr. Wunderrich is in line for one of these places, providing he passes the examination.

SCHOOL RECORDS MISSING.

Montpelier, Ind., Oct. 21.—The school board is very anxious to receive information relative to the teachers' records, board records, or any other information contained in the old town school records for a period extending from 1873, when the town of Montpelier was separated from the township schools, until 1891, from which date the records are complete. Professor Kelley and the board have been searching for the records but have been unable to locate them. On account of the teachers' pension and disability act, it is necessary that the records be found so that it can be ascertained what teachers are eligible under the new law, to benefit.

NEGRO HANGS SELF IN CELL.

Angola, Ind., Oct. 21.—Despondent because he had been bound over to the circuit court on a charge of arson, with no prospect of procuring $500 bond for his release, Samuel Johnson, a negro, brought here from Ashley, hanged himself in the Steuben county jail here with a rope improvised from his bed clothing, suspending himself from the bars of his cell. He was accused of having set fire to the home of Emily Summers in Ashley. He had resided in Ashley about a year, making his home with Mrs. Lindsey, a colored woman.

GIRL IS SEVERELY HURT.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 21.—Miss Esther Yager, aged about 15, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Yager, of Vera Cruz, was severely injured Wednesday afternoon, when she jumped from a corn sled, to which she was driving a team of horses. The sled still was in motion and the girl did not clear the knives, and one of the blades caught one of her feet. A deep gash was laid open back of the foot and ankle and an artery severed and possibly ligaments injured.

WARSAW RUNAWAY LADS CAUGHT.

Warsaw, Ind., Oct. 21.—A trip to the "wild and woolly west," attempted by Leonard Kelly, aged 13, and George King, aged 14, two school boys of this city, was frustrated by Marshal William Cox, of Milford. The runaways left Warsaw Tuesday afternoon, making their way to Milford on a Big Four freight train, and by getting off at Milford they hoped to catch a freight into Chicago.

HOLDS MURDERER WAS SUICIDE.

Wabash, Ind., Oct. 21.—The Wabash county coroner filed his verdict in the four murder case, declaring that Bert Fear died as the result of a shotgun wound in the breast, and that Mrs. Fear died from wounds inflicted by a revolver, both being killed by August Bion two weeks ago. The verdict says that the murder came to his own death by shooting himself through the heart with a shotgun. No reference is made to any possibility that Bion was killed by a member of a posse.

HOWE MAN HURT IN GOSHEN.

Goshen, Ind., Oct. 21.—Irvin Kenaga, of Howe, was injured about the head when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by a city car at the corner of Main and Plymouth avenue, here. The machine was driven by John Carper, also of Howe. They were crossing Main street and did not see the car until they were almost on the track. They tried to stop but could not do so soon enough to miss the car. Mr. Kenaga had a bad gash cut in the temple and also a gash under the chin.

DISTRICT W. R. C. ELECTIONS.

Hartford City, Ind., Oct. 21.—The Woman's Relief Corps district convention, in session here, elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Jesse Bugh; Hartford City; vice president, Mrs. Margaret Louthman, of Hartford; treasurer, Mrs. Evans, of Bluffton; delegate to national convention, Mrs. Maunie Shinneman; alternate, Mrs. Hannah Reiff.

ESTATE OF DR. METTS $5,000.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 21.—County Assessor H. S. Gaunt has filed his appraisal of the estate of Dr. A. H. Metts, formerly of Ossian, and who fell dead on the streets of that town. He values the estate at $5,400, the appraisement placed on sixty acres of land. Mrs. Wm. Doan, of Fort Wayne, a second cousin, is the sole heir to the estate. She made her home with Dr. Metts and family from the age of four.

A FINE TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE

Catarrh is such an insidious disease and has become so prevalent during the past few years that its treatment should be understood by all.

Science has fully proved that Catarrh is a constitutional disease and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers, salves and nose douches seldom if ever give lasting benefit and often drive the disease further down the air passages and into the lungs.

If you have Catarrh or Catarrhal deafness or head-noises, go to your druggist and get one ounce of Parmit (Double strength). Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved, take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head-noises, clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and mucus stop dropping into the throat. This treatment has a slight tonic action which makes it especially effective in cases where the blood has become thin and weak. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every person who wishes to be free from this destructive disease should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Exodus 19:16-25.

16 And it came to pass on the third day in the morning, that there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud; so that all the people that was in the camp trembled.

17 And Moses brought forth the people out of the camp to meet with God; and they stood at the nether part of the mount.

18 And mount Sinai was altogether on a smoke, because the Lord descended upon it in fire; and the smoke thereof ascended as the smoke of a furnace, and the whole mount quaked greatly.

19 And when the voice of the trumpet sounded long, and waxed louder and louder, Moses spake, and God answered him by a voice.

20 And the Lord came down upon mount Sinai, on the top of the mount; and the Lord called Moses up to the top of the mount; and Moses went up.

21 And the Lord said unto Moses, Go down, charge the people, lest they break through unto the Lord to gaze, and many of them perish.

22 And let the priests also, which come near to the Lord, sanctify themselves, lest the Lord break forth upon them.

23 And Moses said unto the Lord, The people cannot come up to mount Sinai; for thou chargedst us, saying, Set bounds about the mount, and sanctify it.

24 And the Lord said unto him, Away, get thee down, and thou shalt come up, thou, and Aaron with thee; but let not the priests and the people break through to come up unto the Lord, lest he break forth upon them.

25 So Moses went down unto the people and spake unto them.

Uniform Traffic Rules.

In originating and advocating a uniform code of traffic regulations for all American cities the Safety First Federation of America, in session at Detroit, is leading the way in a most important and highly valuable undertaking. We are told that the proposal received the most enthusiastic and unqualified endorsement, and that efforts to induce its adoption by cities everywhere will speedily follow.

The object of the code, which is a result of letters and discussions between public safety officials all over the country, is to lessen accidents by making the same traffic rules govern each city. Briefly, the code provides for the strict examination of all who drive automobiles; makes the police of each community supreme in the handling of traffic; prohibits glaring headlights; abolishes siren whistles and calls for mufflers; prohibits smoking cars and makes a uniform rate of speed of ten miles an hour in the business districts of all cities. It provides the kind of intention signals which shall be used by automobile drivers and also designates the kind of signals that shall be used by all traffic officers.

That the coming of the automobile has vastly increased the hazard of street traffic will be apparent at once, and in the abnormal conditions now prevailing in Fort Wayne the danger of accident is vastly multiplied by the scores of machines engaged in the jitney business, while the drivers of other vehicles also contribute their full quota to the possibilities of fatality or of serious injury to those who use the streets with them. The driver who chances to find himself in another city than that with which he is familiar is very apt, as well, to discover the existence of a set of traffic regulations and signals entirely different from those with which he is familiar, and the result is further complication and further danger.

Traffic rules have for the most part been gladly and gracefully accepted because of the public recognition of need for them. They are justifying their existence by expediting traffic and conserving human safety. The efficacy of the movement will be tremendously increased if all the cities will unite on a common agreed code that shall prevail wherever there is any likelihood of street congestion.

Rather later than usual, but on hand at last is the annual announcement that the Thanksgiving supply of turkeys will be short this year, the estimate of the crop being at least 40 per cent. below that of last year. Responsibility is placed upon the long period of heavy rain during the summer which chilled the birds and stunted their growth. Whether the forecast is accurate or not, it appears to be sufficient for all practical purposes, for prices have begun to advance on the strength of it.

Political writers over the state are noting some signs of re-suscitation about the progressive organization, with the occasional buzzing of a political bee about the camp. The striking thing about the whole situation, however, is the pronounced absence of the names of those who bore the party burdens in Fort Wayne during the heat of certain well-remembered days of yore. Can it be that the Fort Wayne progressive has taken rank in the catalogue of extinct species?

Congressman Cullop, of Vincennes, is preparing to send out 25,000 letters to his constituents inviting them to write him expressing their views on the various public matters that are likely to come before congress at its next session. He desires to "get a line" on sentiment in his district, but if Congressman Cullop gets 25,000 replies he's going to be too busy reading and digesting them to do much saving the country during the next few months.

Samuel G. Hudson, the candidate backed by Mr. Bryan, has just been appointed postmaster at Lincoln, Neb., which is pretty fair sort of circumstantial evidence that the former secretary of state has not completely severed diplomatic relations with the administration, even if he found himself unable to endorse all its policies in connection with the war situation.

Political "machines" and the liquor interests are charged by the ladies with responsibility for the defeat of the equal suffrage proposition at the special New Jersey election. Inasmuch as political machines and the liquor interests have a fashion of doing that sort of thing, there is, after all, no occasion for especial surprise at the charges.

And, besides, with the federal anti-narcotic law in good working order, where and how do you suppose Mr. Wayne or Mr. Warren or Mr. Hull—whichever his name may be—was able to procure the continuous supply of "dope" that materialized into those mental millions of his?

WHO IS AT FAULT?

(South Bend Tribune.)

Fort Wayne is agog just now over the interrupted romance of a young society girl who eloped with a pseudo-millionaire who has just been arrested for forgery. To make the thing more exciting a Purdue student, jilted lover of the girl, has announced he will shoot on sight the man who married his sweetheart.

The young folks are reported to have gone to Michigan City and there secured the license and were married. Just how they were able to obtain the license, considering the fact that Indiana women must, if the law is observed, obtain a license in the county in which they reside, is not clear.

It might be just as well for the authorities of Fort Wayne to learn whether the clerk of Laporte county violated the law in issuing a license to an Indiana woman not a resident of that county or whether the applicant perjured themselves in securing it. It has happened in this county before that a license was issued when it was illegal to do so; perhaps it has also happened in Laporte county.

The sooner county clerks are brought to a recognition that the law must be obeyed in securing a license and the sooner couples who perjure themselves are duly punished, the less likely is any community to have such affairs as Fort Wayne now has. It would be interesting to know who is at fault in this case.

SERUM WINS; PATIENT DIES.

(Chicago Post.)

The New York dailies have been devoting much space to a case of anthrax, a rare disease among humans, against which a Long Island citizen battled in Bellevue.

The federal bureau of animal industry provided a serum that has been used with great success to cure cattle afflicted with anthrax. The patient died, but the doctors say the serum did its remedial work thoroughly. The cause of death was not anthrax, but heart failure.

Had the patient's heart been stronger he would have recovered. That is encouraging to others, though of little comfort to the dead man's family. It is well to know that a disease hitherto considered fatal beyond all hope when found in human beings is within reach of science. Had Bellevue been provided with the anti-anthrax serum, its earlier use would probably have been wholly successful. Rare as anthrax is, it will be well if hospitals ascertain how they can get an immediate supply of the remedy in case the emergent need arises.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 69 E. Marginal avenue, Manassas, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Advertisement.

RED MEN RAISE ASSESSMENT.

Increase Per Capita for Care of Orphans to Thirty Cents.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 21.—The annual meeting of the great council of Indiana Red Men closed late yesterday, after the installation of the new officers. Shortly before adjournment the delegate members voted to increase the per capita assessment for the care of orphans of members from twenty cents to thirty cents. The increase will net about $18,000 a year.

A committee was named to create sentiment for the passage of a widows' pension law. Frank McConoughy, great sachem, announced the appointment of his deputies. They are: W. C. Ballard, of Jeffersonville; George I. Kinner, of Terre Haute; Dr. A. B. Gray, of Monticello, and Thomas M. Rogers, of Dunkirk.

TWO CHILDREN HAD CROUP.

The two children of J. W. Nix, merchant of Cleveland, Ga., had croup last winter. One was a boy of 6, the other a girl of 8 years. Mr. Nix writes: "Both got so choked up they could hardly breathe and couldn't talk. I gave them Foley's Honey and Tar and nothing else and it entirely cured them." This reliable medicine should be in every home for it gives immediate relief from colds, coughs and croup, heals raw, inflamed throat and loosens phlegm. Dreier Drug Co.—Advertisement.

15,000 CINCINNATIANS FROLIC AT FIRST MUNICIPAL PICNIC IN U. S.

Youngsters fishing in the free fishpond at Cincinnati's muny picnic.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 21.—Frank Rostock, editor of the Cincinnati Post, has what the staff calls a "bug" on parks.

He believes public parks aren't used enough by the public; that the parks should be made to produce larger welfare dividends for the money the city has invested in them; that if all the people could be got together for a day of play in the parks once in a while, they would get to know each other better.

While he was thinking thus one day, the municipal picnic idea was born in his mind. He had created a brand new American institution.

He carried the idea to the president of the park commission and that official saw that a municipal picnic was just the thing to solve the problem of how to introduce the people to their parks.

At its next meeting the park commission adopted resolutions making Rostock's idea a reality.

The four largest public parks were designated as the picnic grounds for everybody's picnic—the first municipal picnic ever held in the United States.

Neighborhood improvement associations named committees to co-operate with the park commissioners.

The result: 150,000 men, women and children were present, even though the weather was threatening.

Thousands visited the parks who had never been in them before.

The automobiles of the rich jammed the parking spaces.

In one park there is a huge reservoir that has recently been emptied. Ten thousand couples danced in this bowl at one time and without social distinction.

Outlying communities chartered special street cars to carry picnickers free. At dusk thousands of families had supper on the grass. It was really a great civic family having supper together.

And when the people of a city begin to see that they are as one family living in one house—the city—the individual citizen will do his best to help keep that house in order, say civic leaders.

They urge other cities to try the municipal picnic as a means of introducing citizens to each other and their parks.

BARBES HAVE RIGHT TO CRY, JUDGE DECIDES

New York, Oct. 21.—Barbes have a right to cry, even if they live in apartment houses and their crying is irritating to the other tenants.

Judge Young decided in the Seventh Municipal court, when John J. Dillon, lessor of an apartment house at 47 Westmont avenue, brought action to evict Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Eisenberg, tenants, on the ground that their twenty-month-old son, David, was a nuisance when he cried.

Several other tenants of the house, mostly unmarried women, testified that the baby "seemed to have a pair of leather lungs which he used frequently," and added that his noisy yelling made their life unbearable. They had complained to the landlord, for the police, fire, and health departments for relief and the court action was finally brought to evict the family.

J. H. BAKER SERIOUSLY ILL.

Retired Federal Judge Believed to Be Dying at Goshen.

Goshen, Ind., Oct. 20.—John H. Baker, a retired judge of the United States district court, is seriously ill at his home here. Judge Baker is nearly eighty-four years old. He was admitted to the bar in 1832, and elected to congress from the Thirteenth district three times, 1874, 1876, 1878. President Harrison appointed him judge of the United States district court in 1892, and he remained on that bench until 1902, when he was retired because of the age limit. His physicians hold out no hope for his recovery, and his friends believe he is dying.

MANY VIOLATE LIQUOR LAWS.

Several Offenders Are Fined in Delaware Circuit Court.

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 20.—George Hubbard, charged with operating a "blind tiger," was fined $400 and costs and was sent to jail by Judge Frank Ellis, of the circuit court. Edward McGray, also found guilty on a similar charge, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in jail. The men were indicted by the grand jury.

Jacob Jenkins was found guilty in the circuit court of making an illegal sale of liquor and was fined $75 and costs. A "blind tiger" charge against him was dismissed. On his plea of guilty to the charge of selling liquor illegally, James Dawson, one of the men held in connection with the death of Isaac Cox, was fined $50 and costs. Earl Thornburg, charged with operating a "blind tiger," was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to the state penal farm for sixty days, but the sentence was suspended. Milton Smith was acquitted in the city court of the charge of operating a "blind tiger."

ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLEMENT.

Terre Haute Land Company Manager Arrested on Indictments.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 21.—William C. Doak, president of the Doak-Riddle-Hamilton company, which is engaged in the insurance and real estate business, was arrested by Sheriff Kreitenstein on three indictments returned by the grand jury for embezzlement. It is charged that he embezzled $2,155 belonging to the Lincoln Land company, of this city, of which he has been selling agent and manager the last fifteen years. Doak gave bond for $2,500.

Rumors have been current for some time of a shortage in Doak's accounts with the land company, which was organized several years ago for the development and sale of lots in the north-eastern part of the city.

October 5 Doak brought suit against the company for $4,500, which he alleges was due him for his services since June, 1900, when he began his duties as manager of the company, of which A. L. Plau and I. W. Richardson, of the North Baltimore Bottle Glass company, are president and secretary, respectively.

CITY COURT FINES STRIKE-BREAKER

John Palmer, Jr., Pleads Guilty to Toting a Revolver.

In the city court, Thursday morning, John Palmer, Jr., a smooth-faced youngster employed as a strike-breaking noorman on the city car lines, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons and was fined $10 and costs and his weapon was ordered destroyed by the sheriff according to law. Young Palmer was arrested one night last week when he left his car after it had been stored on West Main street, and hurriedly a revolver. He testified that he had not had the weapon on his person until he left his car to search for the person who had thrown a brick through the windows of the car. Attorney S. L. Morris, of the firm of Barrett, Morris & Hoffman, counsel for the Traction company, appeared for Palmer and withdrew a plea of not guilty, entered one of guilty and arranged to pay the fine.

Victims of Car Riot Still in Bed. On the representation of Prosecuting Attorney S. A. Callahan that Frank Tibbles and Theodore Bruick, who engaged in a fight Sunday on East Creighton avenue, when both had their skulls fractured, the physicians stated neither man would be able to be in court for three or four weeks, the cases of assault and battery against them were continued until November 11 and the bond of $1,000 in each case was made to stand. John Palmer, Jr., was continued under $100 bond as a witness. Tibbles is a strike-breaking conductor and he struck Bruick, who is 16 years old, over the head with a switch hook, fracturing his skull and suffering a similar injury himself when Bruick hit him with a brick.

Susie Calhoun Is Held.

Susie Calhoun, the 16-year-old girl taken from a street car on which she had been riding for several hours Monday night as a guest of the conductor, a youngster employed as a strike-breaker, was certified to the juvenile court and was given into the custody of Police Matron Fannie M. Winch. She had changed her mind about not wanting to return to her parents in Anderson, and said she was now willing to go. It was thought best to hold her. Attorney F. Frankenstein, who had been employed by the girl's street car admirer, interested himself in the girl's behalf, but the court declined to consider his views of the case. The conductor had offered to pay the girl's fare back to Anderson. Susie ran away from home in Anderson five weeks ago, according to a letter from her father, and had been in Dayton, O., and other places before coming to Fort Wayne, where employment in a minister's family had been procured for her by the Y. W. C. A.

Other City Court Cases.

Peter Houch, a totterer, and Dick Beale, Henry Cole and Frank Casey, drunks, were turned loose. Adam Maack, a totterer, was continued until Oct. 31 and went to jail in default of bond.

SUPPLIES AT REFORMATORY.

State Political Divisions Beginning to Obey Law Passed in 1905.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Oct. 21.—The first results of the efforts to obtain regard for the law of 1905, requiring all political divisions of the state to buy what supplies they can from the Indiana reformatory, is being felt in the trade schools of that institution though so far the majority of counties have not made any considerable purchases. The Marion county order for furniture and shoes is said to be the first ever received from that county, although the law has been on the statutes ten years and a penalty is provided for wilful disregard of the law, including a possible removal from office.

The printing trade school at the institution has been busy getting out catalogues and folders showing the articles manufactured at the institution. So far as known, Clark county has only bought a desk for the sheriff's office and a large table for the auditor's office since the enactment of the law. Both of these are of excellent workmanship.

The trade schools have recently been busy making mattresses and a car load of felt was received last week to be used on large orders for various state institutions.

TAKES THREE TO STOP FIGHT.

Mayor, Ex-Mayor and Justice of Peace Are Involved in Quarrel.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Oct. 19.—A justice of the peace, the mayor and an ex-mayor were involved yesterday when a fight broke out between two matrimonial agents opposite the interurban station. However, the mayor and his predecessor were involved only as peace-makers. Willie Kraus and Edward Coward were arrested on charges of provoke and assault, after they had engaged in a struggle to obtain a prospective man and wife. Mayor Ernest

EDISON DAY

Special Concert of Mr. Edison's Favorite Records All Day

This is Edison Day. Given over in nearly every place in honor of the man who has done so much for his fellow men.

We will play a list of twelve of Mr. Edison's favorite records all day.

Hear the Edison Diamond Disc records which Mr. Edison calls his favorites. See if you can tell why they appeal to him more than any other of the exquisite Edison re-creations.

See if you agree with Mr. Edison.

The laboratory re-creation of the voices and instruments of many famous artists may be heard today if you will come in. Among them is Alice Verlet, the Belgian coloratura soprano, hailed by European critics as the new "Queen of Song." Hear the re-creation of her voice in Caro Nome, from Rigoletto. Hear also Marie Delna, Carl Flesch, Paulo Gruppe, Thomas Chalmers, Albert Spalding and others. All favorites of Mr. Edison. See full program below. Ask if you wish to hear your own favorite from the great library of Edison Records, the best in the world of music. We will be glad to play it for you.

EDISON WEEK OCTOBER 18th to 23rd

The whole country is celebrating Mr. Edison's great achievements this week. Today, October 21st, has been set aside as Edison Day, in honor of one of his greatest inventions.

On December 9, 1914, the Edison factories were destroyed by one of the greatest fires that ever occurred. In twenty-three days, Mr. Edison was again making phonographs and records. Today, only ten months after the fire, he actually is producing 100% more disc records, and 50% more phonographs than before the fire.

The New Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph is one of Mr. Edison's greatest inventions. It is his pet and hobby. The perfected musical instrument resulting from four years' continuous research by the master inventor.

All music lovers should hear the new Edison this week. Note how perfectly it reproduces the artist's music—human, life-like, natural. The laboratory re-creation of music as opposed to manufactured music.

Concert Today No Charge for Admission

Come and hear Mr. Edison's favorite records at the special Edison Day Concert today. Hear also the choice program of exquisite music selected from the great library of Edison records. No charge for seats. You will not be asked to purchase. We are giving these special concerts this week in recognition of Mr. Edison's great achievements.

HERE'S HOW THEY'D DIVIDE UP U. S. A.

Amazing Proposition Makes Settlement.

Paris, Oct. 10.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The subjoined curious communication written on thick official-looking folio paper without any indication of its origin has been delivered by messenger at the office of the Agence Havas, the principal news agency in France:
"The United States as the prize for settlement of the present European conflict."
"It is stated on high authority that suggestions have been made in the diplomatic circles of European chancelleries, declaring that the easiest solution and the one most acceptable to all the warring nations would be the partition among them of the United States of America. The United States of America are a most inviting prize as compensation for the sacrifices rendered by these nations, and an arrangement on the basis of the respective relations of the different nations is surprisingly practicable.

"So far from being a visionary scheme for a solution of this great world conflict, the fact is only too apparent that only a small part of the effort expended in the sanguinary struggle, now raging, would have sufficed to satisfy all nations in their respective ambitions.

"A noted diplomat declared his surprise that this idea of the partition of the United States had not merged sooner, because the land is so largely made up of the constituency of all the warring nations.

"The tentative plan to satisfy thus the national ambitions of the European countries at war, instead of prolonging the internecine struggle is broadly outlined as follows:

"Great Britain is to occupy New England, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.
"France is to get the French parts of Eastern Canada and the states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Tennessee, and Kentucky.

"Germany is to occupy the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

"Japan is to take the Pacific coast, the state of Oregon, upper and lower California.

"Mexico is to be compensated for lower California by ceding to it Arizona, New Mexico and part of Texas.

"Russia will receive Alaska.
"The Panama Canal will be declared free, whilst the western states, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Washington, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Utah and Colorado will be consolidated into an imperial crown-domain of the German empire.

"Though these 'satisfactions' are to be acquired in a concerted campaign, each of the several nations is to effect the occupation of its own allotted territory. "Thus, it is claimed, would best be met the rights and interests of the different nations of old Europe, as it would safeguard their nationals under their respective flags.

"Whatever be said about this bold solution it should be appreciated that in many ways it is more feasible than the three successive partitions of Poland, which nevertheless are historic facts.

"Truth is sometimes stranger than fiction. This alleged tentative understanding of the powers at war may be relegated to imaginative fiction, but it is surely not stranger than the sober truth, and it might easily take its form."

Society

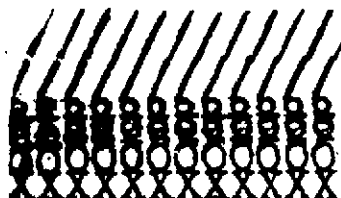

Beautiful weather, a charming hostess and a Halloween celebration for a luncheon-bridge party were the delights that fifty ladies enjoyed as guests of Mrs. E. F. Keller at the Country club on Thursday. The luncheon was at 1 o'clock and the bridge playing afterwards. Yellow and pumpkin colors were carried out as much as possible in the luncheon menu, favors and tally cards, as well as in the artistically arranged decorations. Mrs. Muhlfeld, of Peru, who is visiting her niece, Mrs. Averill, and Miss Sue Robinson, of Peru, who is the guest of Mrs. F. I. Brown, were the only visiting guests present.

Fort Wayne club women as well as other club women of northern Indiana are interested in the announcement that Mrs. Clark Fairbank, of this city, decided on Wednesday to become a candidate for the office of president of the State Federation of Clubs. Up to this time Mrs. Fairbank has significantly refused to consider the candidacy at all. But at the convention of the state organization of D. A. R. meeting in Terre Haute this week, which Mrs. Fairbank is attending, pressure was brought to bear upon her to such an extent that she yielded to persuasion and her candidacy is therefore announced. There has been considerable talk about having a candidate for the office from northern Indiana, although Mrs. Lewis E. Cox, of Terre Haute, is the announced candidate from the southern part of the state. Mrs. Fairbank declined to consider the candidacy because of her great interest in other work, the department of conservation and the endowment fund work of the federation. She is also interested in local work, particularly the Morning Musical society of which she has been president for many years; the local Art school and the Equal Franchise society. Mrs. Fairbank has always been prominent in D. A. R. work in this city and was a delegate from Mary Penrose Wayne chapter to the state convention. Prominent club women heartily endorse her candidacy. The Indiana Federation of Clubs will convene in Indianapolis the coming week. Mrs. Lewis Cox is a brilliant and popular woman who has held the office of vice-president of the state federation twice and is well known to club women of the state. It Say, Miss Typist, Have You Mobilized Type Armies for War?

RUSSIAN

GERMAN

Here, Miss Typist, are some army types to type on your typewriter if your fingers are deft and your touch sure. With a few taps on the keys, a few shifts of the carriage, a few "upper cases" and "lower cases" ticked off in the right place, you have a complete gallery of war heroes. Tommy Atkins may be Y'd and O'd and dashed into a jaunty quick step, and with O's and K's and more dashes you can equip a regiment of Russians, the dollar sign will help you to march the Belgian battalions and a simple twist of the W's and O's, dashes and periods, will give you an army of sturdy Germans. It's fun this typing of army types and it will incidentally teach you precision with the keys if you can find time between jolting down "Yours of the 10th received and contents noted" and "Yours very truly," to rally your type army into action.

is said that there is some "politics" in the circles of clubdom and there may be considerable friction between the northern and southern factions of the state when it comes to the election of officers.

The Eta Alpha club will be guests of Miss Marjorie Bailey at their fortnightly dinner on Saturday evening.

Miss Mary Kane, of the St. James apartments, has returned from an extended visit in Saginaw, Mich.

Mrs. A. L. Zickgraf and daughter, of Cottage avenue, left Thursday for Edgerton, O., for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vickers, of Harrison, Ohio, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Millard for a short visit, went to Chicago on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Bollen Eckenrode are now at home in the White apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Dunkelberg are entertaining Hugh Chalmers, of Detroit, Mich., for a few days.

Miss Mary Jane Crane entertained her sewing club Wednesday afternoon at her home in College street. Other members of this club are Dorothy Mossman, Mary Katherine Geater, Dorothy Gumpier and Amy Thomas.

The Bonta Mac sewing club met with Mrs. William Lichtsinn, 921 Washington boulevard east, on Tuesday afternoon and spent a pleasant time. Miss Mac, a feature of the afternoon, Mrs. Haas, of Lakeside, will be the hostess next time.

Miss Rachel Coon, of Milton, Wis., who is visiting Miss Marian Ingham, of Webster street, was the honor guest at a theater party on Wednesday afternoon, given by Miss Nora Harbour.

The young ladies went to the Jefferson theater and to a concert at the afterwards.

Four young women whose birth anniversaries come in October held a birthday celebration on Wednesday evening in honor of themselves. They went to the English tearoom for dinner and to the Temple theater afterwards for entertainment. The young women were Misses Anna MacNaughton, Margaret Baues, Mabel Martin and Alma Dorr.

Master Frank Edmunds, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edmunds, celebrated his fourth anniversary on Wednesday at a birthday party with his playmates.

Four young women were Mary Ellen and James Heit, Dorothy Myers, Dorothy Houser, Evelyn and Mary Haines, David Bush, Buster Walter, Dorothy Niebergall and Billy Edmunds.

The Little Duke club members went to Bluffton Thursday to be guests of Mrs. Charles Arnold. The ladies of the club who formed the party are Mrs. Alex Wilson, Mrs. Frank Stewart, Mrs. Edward Riker, Mrs. William Lawson, Mrs. O. O. Thwing, Mrs. Margaret Wood, Mrs. J. E. K. France, Mrs. Frank Kelsey, Mrs. J. S. House and Mrs. W. J. Ungemach.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dunbar, of Ely street, entertained at a family dinner on Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. Dunbar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunbar, of Sweetwater, Tenn. These present besides the honor guest were Mr. and Mrs. Aaron McCullough, of Holmesville, Ohio; James and Jennie McCullough, Mr. and Mrs. Christ Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. McCullough returned to Ohio Thursday morning.

Thirty-two ladies of the "Ladies' society" assisted Mrs. William Hahn, of West Main street, celebrate her sixtieth birthday anniversary on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Hahn served a tempting supper such as she is famous for preparing and the company spent a delightful time. A basket of flowers, which was one of many gifts that Mrs. Hahn received, decorated the long supper table. Mr. Hahn is in Cleveland just now visiting their daughter, Mrs. Kasse.

Miss Eva Elder, a bride-elect of this fall, was honored recently by a very pretty party that Miss Bertha Greiner, of Vesey avenue, gave in her honor. Games and refreshments were enjoyed by Misses Eleanor Kern, Florence Nites, Harriet Drogemeyer, Frances Corcoran, Helen Covington, Anna Scherzinger, Sophie Reinken, Florence Benken, Rose Offerle, Louise Malhrie, Flossie Erhart, Alvina Allman, Bernadine Hergenrath, Rosamond Townsend, Alma Hoffman, Mrs. M. Uehrer, Mrs. Gephart and Mrs. Greiner.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Majestic to Offer "The Only Girl" Next Wednesday.

At the Majestic on next Wednesday Joe Weber will present for the first time in this city the latest musical comedy success, "The Only Girl" which has just completed a run of nearly one entire year at the Lyric theater, New York. The piece is the collaborated effort of Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom, who have in the past been responsible for our best musical productions, including "The Red Mill" and "Mile. Modiste." These two have worked in conjunction with Fred G. Latham, the noted stage director, remembered in the past for having staged so many of the Herbert-Blossom productions. One can easily understand the success of "The Only Girl" when such master minds as Weber, Herbert, Blossom and Latham are concentrated in one effort. In addition to these four, considerable credit must be given to Ludwig Fulda, inasmuch as it was from his charming comedy, "Our Wives," that inspired Mr. Blossom to adapt it to musical comedy.

Pearls found in mummy cases have been planted quite recently and found to grow.

HAVE PRETTY HOME WEDDING ON THURSDAY.

MR. AND MRS. W. F. HITZEMAN.

The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Engleking, of 828 East Jefferson street, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Thursday afternoon when Miss Clara Engleking and Mr. William F. Hitzeman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hitzeman, were married by Rev. Jacob Miller.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Wilhelmine Engleking and the groom by Mr. Louis Gerwig. The wedding music was furnished by Mr. Elmer Stahl, pianist, and Mr. Charles Roemke, violinist, and they played the bride music from "Lohengrin" as the bride couple took their place under an arch of smilax and white flowers, and "Evening Star" in subdued tones during the reading of the marriage service.

The bride wore a dress of white pussy willow tulle with collar of lace and a trimming of chiffon and white plush arranged in tailored effect. The bride wore a long veil of tulle that trained slightly. It was held to the bride's hair with a band of lace fastened on both sides with tiny clusters of rosebuds. The bride's bouquet was of white roses. The bridesmaid was gowned in a Nile green tulle dress with a lace in becoming and stylish fashion and a corsage bouquet of anemone roses and a rose in her hair were finishing touches to her pretty costume.

As soon as congratulations had been extended to the bride and groom an elegant wedding dinner was served to the company numbering nearly fifty and including only the relatives of the two families and a few of the closest friends of the bride and groom. The bride's table was decorated with white roses, smilax and the wedding cake that was also entwined with smilax and swansons. The house was festooned with white sweet berries mingled with smilax blossoms while groups of palms and ferns formed an appropriate background.

The bride and groom are to take a wedding trip for a few days and will be at home to their many friends at 1125 Hugh street, after Nov. 21. For traveling the bride wears a suit of black cloth with pin stripes of white and having collar and cuffs of tan broadcloth. A hat to correspond with the suit is made of black velvet with broadcloth crown of tan color and a bird-of-paradise ornament. Miss Sylvia Shively, of Defiance, O., and Mr. Grover Hall, of Defiance, were the only guests from out of town present at the wedding.

Mr. Hitzeman is a grocer with a store located near the entrance of the Lincoln highway to the city. Both bride and groom are well known young people of St. Paul's Lutheran church circles.

AT THE TEMPLE.

Splendidly Dressed.

Temple Theater Players' Production of the Rosary.

Better dressed than any road production of the drama ever seen in this city is the presentation of The Rosary, being given by the Temple Players this week. As usual, of course, the show has been painted from top to bottom, and the closing scene before the Chapel of the Rosary, is a particularly effective one. The scenic artist has created a stage setting that is difficult to believe was painted to be used but one week and then cast aside for another now in the paint frame. The stained glass window reproductions are real triumphs in scenic art, so good in fact that one rarely encounters their parallel except in the highest priced road shows. The opening scene, the garden of Bruce Wilton's home, is backed by a landscape curtain that is more than passingly good.

The players themselves are giving the Rosary a remarkable production, probably introducing a little more comedy than in some presentations, but never sacrificing any of the dramatic power of the intense scenes.

AT THE EMPRESS.

George Bartlett, that funny little Hebrew comedian, and his crew of humorists open at the Empress today in an entire new show, new scenery, new comedy, new costumes, new songs, and in fact everything new from beginning to end. The show that this clever company will present is called "The Hotel de Luxe." It is a most laughable farce with plenty of funny situations that keep you in a most happy mood throughout. The Harmony Trio will present an entire new repertoire of Irish and other melodies, and it is a treat to hear these three crowned heads of harmony land sing their Irish songs. "The Hotel de Luxe" will be with us, but today, Friday and Saturday, and anyone who misses a chance to go on one of these three days will miss the comedy that has scored throughout the country.

AT KEITH PALACE

HAVE A PIFFICK OR TWO.

They Are Worth Only $9,000,000 in Dreamland.

Kick aside those pifficks lying on the sidewalk and step high to keep your feet out of the champagne flowing in the gutters of Dreamland, when you make the trip to that fantastic heaven for doppers with Bob Matthews and Al Shayne at the New Palace this week. The short gentleman tossing pifficks to the birds and buying everything in sight as he wafts down the main stem of Dreamland, is Perry Hull's ghost. He was one of the first citizens of Dreamland before he got himself jerked to jail. These piffick things are the coins of the realm of Dreamland and are worth approximately $9,000,000 each. Perry Hull, or Charles L. Warren, as he is called in Dreamland, had nodules of them.

One of the snappiest and most spirited bills of the entire season is the current program at the New Palace. Patriotic and Mayers, vaudeville's foremost eccentric dancers, are doing some steps this week that have proved a riot with the addicts. Once upon a time there was a real voice in vaudeville, and now and then it reappears in a new incarnation. It is here this week in the throat of Miss Ethel Hopkins, daughter of the late Col. Hopkins, of international fame as an entertainer.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

VALESKA SURATT AT ORPHEUM.

Famous Beauty of Great White Way in "The Soul of Broadway."

Valeska Suratt, one of the most discussed women of the modern stage or screen, is known throughout the world as the fashion plate of the dramatic profession. Her gowns have made millions gasp by their daring and originality, as well as by their dazzling lavishness of design. In making her screen debut in "The Soul of Broadway" at the Orpheum theater during the coming three days, Miss Suratt has outdone all her previous efforts in gowns and millinery, fashioned by famous modistes, wearing in all 150 gowns, some daringly and uniquely simple, others that are calculated to make the feminine portion of her audience break into astonished exclamations.

It is estimated that Miss Suratt changes her costume completely during every forty feet of film run. Many of these fashionable creations are designed to match the "sets" in "The Soul of Broadway," which later in themselves are unlike anything ever seen before in a photoplay production.

Some of the notable coming attractions at the Orpheum theater are Theda Bara in "Carven," Ethel Barrymore in "The Final Judgment" and Francis X. Bushman and Marguerite Snow in "The Silent Voice."

AT THE JEFFERSON.

"THE MASTER OF THE HOUSE"

Famous Dramatic Star, Julius Steger, at Jefferson Today and Tomorrow.

In presenting "The Master of the House" today and tomorrow at the Jefferson, the public is given the first opportunity to see on the screen Julius Steger, who appeared in the original stage play during its long run at the Maxine Elliott theater, New York, and also on tour.

Mr. Quimby, owner and manager of the Jefferson, has had the opportunity to personally review this film, and the fact that it was looked for two days after his review is sufficient to assure Jefferson patrons of a rare treat in its production. "The Master of the House" story in itself is one of those interesting impelling affairs that come to the public once in a decade, and the great and glorious situations, compiled by a movie director, makes the famous story doubly attractive.

It tells one of the most potent stories ever created by a fictionist, dealing with a husband who tries of his wife, whom he deems old-fashioned, and his attempt to graze in pastures new, with disastrous results, which bring about a reunion with his wife.

THE GRAND.

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "Thirty."

The special feature attraction at the Grand today is "Thirty," a two reel Essanay written by Victor Eubank, supplies the material for this interesting newspaper picture. Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are featured in the cast.

The office and press room of a Chicago daily is effectively made use of to lend the proper atmosphere.

The above is the fourth Bushman Review shown at the Grand so far and each Thursday brings a larger crowd to view these popular plays. The management wishes to announce that next Thursday Bushman will appear in "Providence and Mrs. Urry." This feature comes in three parts.

NOTE OF HORROR IN WHITLOCK'S REPORT?

Execution of British Nurse

by Germans as Spy Stirs London.

London, Oct. 21.—The circumstances connected with the execution by the German authorities at Brussels of Miss Edith Cavell, a British nurse, occupy constantly increasing attention in London. The forthcoming publication of the report of Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, on his efforts in Miss Cavell's behalf, is awaited with keenest interest. This report will be published in tomorrow morning's newspapers. The Mail says the report is a long one and adds:

"This account will strike a note of horror throughout the world. It will tell of the wonderful heroism of a woman who had nursed German wounded. It will tell of the greatest light for a woman's life that was ever fought, of unavailing efforts of nobles and neutrals to combat the ruthless secret cunning of the Germans."

The Post publishes today a letter from Miss Cavell's cousin concerning her devotion to her work as a nurse.

"My cousin's devotion to the alleviation of the suffering caused her to devote her life to nursing in Brussels," the letter says. "She voluntarily remained there to continue her work when the city was taken by the Germans. She would have nursed a German with as much tenderness as an Englishman."

"In a letter to me she said: 'We have no wounded here now. The allies do not come here and the Germans are sent back to their own country. The few that remain are nursed by their own countrywomen, so we are denied the great consolation of being of use in our own special way.'"

"She allowed the womanly quality of compassion to get the better of prudence and self-interest. For this she has suffered untold miseries and died a martyr's death."

English newspapers draw a parallel between the case of Miss Cavell, in Belgium, and Mrs. Louise Herbert, who was sentenced to six months imprisonment as a spy in England. Mrs. Herbert's appeal was heard at Durham yesterday. She admitted that she had sought information regarding munitions and intended to send this information to Germany. The judge asked her yesterday:

"Did you intend to send the information to Germany if you got the chance?"

"Yes, I did," she replied.

Mrs. Herbert also admitted she had corresponded with Germany through friends in Switzerland. The judge, astonished by her frank answers, remarked: "This woman has a conscience; she wishes to answer truthfully and deserves credit for that. At the same time she is dangerous." He affirmed the sentence of six months imprisonment.

OPENS FIRE ON A PRIEST.

Former Inmate of Insane Asylum Locked Up After Attack.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 21.—Angered over an alleged grievance William Fry, fired two shots at Rev. C. Rhode, pastor of Holy Cross Catholic church yesterday afternoon as the priest was walking along the street.

Both bullets missed their mark. Rev. Father Rhode sprang upon his assailant and spectators of the shooting assisted in disarming Fry. At the police station, Fry's only comment was:

"I tried to make good my word."

Rev. Father Rhode told the police Fry was at one time in an insane asylum.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weak, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sides, headache, dizziness, your stomach sick, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize those irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. Advertisement.

SAYS HE IS BEING TRAILED AS A SPY

Man Picked Up in St. Louis is Now Held for Mental Observation.

St. Louis, Oct. 21.—A man who said he was Hiram Lewisohn, son of a prominent London playwright, was held for observation at the City hospital here today pending investigation of a story he told the local police last night of having been trailed from London to this city by sleuths from Scotland Yard, who thought he was a spy.

The prisoner carried business cards giving 45 Craven street, Strand, London, as his residence. He gave the police the names of two New York women whom he said were his mother and sister, but inquires at the New York address evoked the statement that no Hiram Lewisohn was known there. Another card in Lewisohn's pocket bore the name of L. G. Jennings, 2519 East Washington street, Indianapolis, Ind. Lewisohn said his troubles began in London four months ago when he met an American woman at a dance and unintentionally gave the impression that he was a spy. His father, the prisoner said, saved him from execution by asserting that young Lewisohn was of unsound mind. When taken in charge by local police Lewisohn said he was en route to San Antonio, Tex.

MET HIM ON TRAIN.

Indianapolis, Oct. 21.—L. G. Jennings, of this city, whose card was found in the pocket of Hiram Lewisohn, detained in St. Louis, said he met Lewisohn on a train coming from New York and that Lewisohn asked him for his card.

"Lewisohn told me he was from London, and that he was trailed by a detective," said Jennings.

"After I talked with Lewisohn another man on the train came to me and, representing himself to be a detective, asked what Lewisohn had said. I did not like the looks of the detective and didn't tell him anything. Lewisohn did not appear exactly rational and a woman passenger, who said she came over on the ship with Lewisohn, told me that the latter had been kept in a straight jacket most of the way over after his clothes had twice been set on fire."

Jennings said he saw the man only on the train and did not know anything about him except what he had been told.

A box social will be given at the Philley schoolhouse on the Piquette road Friday evening.

DEATH FROM THE SKY DRAWS FOLK NEARER

Fear of Zeppelins Making People of London One Vast Family.

By Mary Boyle O'Reilly.

London, England, Oct. 10.—(By mail.)—In three nights London (as by night) Twin Zeppelins have cruised above the darkened city showering down incendiary and explosive bombs.

Dawn shows miles and miles of shattered windows, 50 buildings burning, a score of them humble homes, and 200 unarmaged men, women or children burned, mutilated or killed—that is how the enemy makes war.

Every Englishman realizes that the great air raid intended to leave London in smoldering ruins may now be only a matter of hours.

The nervous strain is terrific—but there is no sign of panic. Instead, the greatest city on earth has suddenly become a vast village of friendly neighbors.

In the darkened streets and shadows strangers speak frankly of the coming danger—cold English convention has disappeared and 7,000,000 people are as one vast family.

The dimly lit train speeding through darkness toward outer London was crisscrossed with mothers and their babies. The weary woman beside me gathered her awed and silent brood around her knees.

"My brother's wife has sent for us," she explained. "And then with six children of their own. Sure, you never know your friends until you need them. We are friends as girls, only, like others we drifted apart."

"When the police ordered all to seek safety in their cellars—my heart went cold. Our tenement has no cellar, no more have any neighbors for miles around. It seemed, like we must be the poor that God forgot."

"I tried my best to keep up before the children—then just at dusk a tired hand fetched me a dispatch. 'Lanah, dear,' it read, 'come at once and bring the little ones.'"

The solemn five-year-old, upright on his mother's knee with a puerile thumb from rose lips. "Mumme," he demanded, "was it the bad Zeppelin brought us our new auntie?"

Outside the train windows shadowy processions of women and children streamed toward a lighted church basement.

"Church or chapel welcome all alike tonight," said a woman near by. "Somehow it seems that more good than evil must grow of these awful air raids."

Every hundred yards along dim curbs the electric flashlights of police-women, winked in the darkness. Their reassuring voices directed a scurrying throng.

"All the tenements hear the munition factories and gas works have been cleared by the women police-men," explained the conductor.

From the nights which guard London I could count a dozen searchlights sweeping the arch of the dark with mile-long flashes. Returning by underground I found every empty station guarded by quiet fighting men in khaki—territorially ready to prevent bomb attacks on the tunnels.

A trainload of red cross nurses were hurrying toward the threatened city. Each carried an emergency kit. Wooping over London and the terrible threat of long, long waiting.

The sympathetic young nurses smiled gravely. Then one more talkative than the rest, spoke with conviction. "Of this be very sure," she said. "It means much to a city to learn what things really count and the unimportance of trifles."

"Today there is no doubt that a braver, kinder, more self-forgetting spirit has come into thousands of homes as a direct result of the air raids over London."

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

If peevish, feverish and sick, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign his little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

MEAT PRICES ARE AS LOW AS EVER

Quotations Are About the Same as Last Year, Declare Local Dealers.

Fort Wayne residents who have been waiting and gnashing their teeth because the European war is forcing the high cost of living up higher will be disappointed to hear that the war is doing just the opposite—forcing the high cost of living down. Sounds strange, but it's true nevertheless. Figures prove it and figures won't lie.

A story emanating from "the east" claims the war has boosted the cost of living 15 per cent. Anticipated the price of meat is quoted as statistics. An investigation in Fort Wayne proves the story is exaggerated grossly and that anything from river to choice sirloin steaks can be purchased today in Fort Wayne as cheaply as ever before. Pork may be slightly higher than at this particular time last year, but the war has nothing to do with it.

The story showing that the war has forced the cost of living skyward quotes the price of prime rib steak at 24 cents one year ago and claims it is now selling at 28 cents, an advance of 4 cents a pound. Fort Wayne prices for rib roast are from 12 1/2 to 15 cents a pound, the same as a year ago.

The story from the east further claimed that excessive exportation had caused the increase. Fort Wayne meat men contend that the embargo placed on freight shipment of meat is creating such a surplus in this country that the price is volupian toward the cellar.

AS PART OF HIGH SCHOOL COURSE.

California Prepares to Provide Military Instruction.

San Francisco, Oct. 21.—California is to provide military instruction as part of the public high school course, according to an announcement of the state board of education, made public today. W. C. Wood, a member of the board, said that the state board is ready to issue certificates to military instructors who meet proper qualifications and that they will be paid at the same rate as other special teachers. The ruling affects seventeen high school courses now organized and is expected to act as a stimulus to the organization of many other companies.

Movement to Develop Ideals of American Citizenship.

New York, Oct. 21.—One hundred and fifty universities and colleges were invited by the National Americanization committee to co-operate in a movement to develop ideals of American citizenship, develop the civic and civilian side of preparedness throughout the country. The committee was organized at a meeting in the home of Vincent Astor October 15. The committee states that if the colleges can prepare students for politics, finance and social service, they may well prepare them for the work of Americanization. Trained leaders, the committee said, are needed to weld the many people of this country into one nation for peace or war.

WHAT THE CLOCK DID TO THE DOCTOR

This released the spring, which set the key whirling with great rapidity in the doctor's hand. The sharp edges of the key cut his fingers to the bone and tore gashes in his hand, inflicting a serious wound. Luckily Dr. Spohn held a policy in the Fort Wayne Mercantile Accident Association, and he was liberally recompensed because of his disability.

The case with which we meet with serious mishaps is well illustrated by the case of E. W. Sigl, of Fort Wayne, who received a sprain of the shoulder while adjusting a spring in his automobile. Like Dr. Spohn, Mr. Sigl held a policy in the Mercantile and received an ample financial recompense because of his mishap.

The growth of the Mercantile to its present large proportions is due to the fact that for a cost not to exceed $10 per year it provides for the payment of $5,000 in case of death by accident and many other liberal features. See the secretary, L. H. Ransom, in the People's Trust Building, for full information. Phone 2494. Many who have been half-interested in the Mercantile as a splendid means of protection against loss by accident are now turning to it with enthusiasm because of the more recent revelations of its benefits to many policyholders.—Advertisement.

The Ratchet Broke.

DR. GEORGE W. SPOHN, of Elkhart, Ind., at the close of a busy day, stopped to wind the clock at his home before retiring. While in the midst of the seemingly harmless occupation something happened which might not occur again in many lifetimes—the clock hinged him an injury which he will never forget. The ratchet within the clock, which holds the mainspring, broke while the doctor was holding the key in place.

INJURED REGULARS GET BACK INTO LINE

Purdue's Strong Men to Face Boilermakers Saturday.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 21.—Despite the painful injuries they received in the strenuous Wisconsin game Saturday, Captain Blocker, Pultz and Boechner are all out again for practice with the rest of the Purdue squad, and it is likely that the Boilermakers will be able to present their strongest front to Chicago next Saturday at Stange field. Indications are that 1,200 students will accompany the team to Chicago. Coach Smith gave his men a comparatively light workout again this afternoon, thinking it best not to take any chances of injuring any of his limited supply of back field material. The men yesterday worked on handball, drill and some signal work and shadow scrimmages. A strong effort is being made by the coaches to strengthen the offense and inject more speed into the backs. It is believed that Purdue's defense will not be "unduly" worried.

The two Chicago players most feared by Purdue this year are Flood and Russell. It was Flood who last year tore open the Boilermakers' defense and his line plunging was responsible for Chicago's scoring.

Purdue Has Stronger Line.

This year the Purdue line is stronger than last year's, due to the good work of Physical Director Cutts, who has devoted much of his time in the last few weeks to drilling the forwards. With such an array of fighters as Blocker at center, Mason and Pultz at guards, Boechner and Duerchner at tackles and VanAllen and Stinchfield at ends, it looks as if Purdue's forward wall will be able to cope with the Maroon line, although the giant Redman and other heavyweights on the Chicago team will greatly outmatch Purdue's light forwards.

The followers of the gold and black eleven are very hopeful of victory Saturday. Having been defeated by Wisconsin this is regarded as Purdue's last chance to secure a successful season. To lose to Chicago, many believe, will mean defeat by Iowa and probably by Indiana as well. But a victory over the Maroons would be regarded as a very favorable omen and an indication of the Boilermakers' ability to defeat both Iowa and Indiana.

FAIR ANITA REACHES HER JOURNEY'S END

Was First Woman to Drive from Coast to Coast Alone.

New York, Oct. 21.—Miss Anita King, a motion picture actress of Los Angeles, arrived here yesterday in a Kissel Kar after a strenuous journey of forty-nine days from the coast.

A remarkable feature of the trip was the fact that Miss King not only drove the car all the way herself, but came across without any companion. She is probably the first driver of the fair sex to make the trip alone.

Miss King, who came in a rather roundabout way, covered 5,200 miles. Outside of a wild dash from Los Angeles and San Francisco she made no attempt at fast time, stopping off at various towns and cities to lecture at movie houses.

Miss King, who was entertained at luncheon in the Hotel Knickerbocker yesterday by Paul F. Glavin, Russell L. Bates, C. H. McCausland, of the Kissel Kar company, said:

"About her only mishap occurred just at the start of her trip, when she lost the trail and her car got stuck in the Great Salt Flats, twelve miles outside of Wadsworth, Nev."

Miss King was rescued in an hysterical condition by some prospectors.

While Miss King's car was covered with mud and dirt she herself looked fresh. When asked why she was not even sunburned, replied that "grosse point was the secret."

Miss King passed through this city several weeks ago, and stopped at the Anthony hotel.

YES, MR. PULFORD, WE SECOND THE MOTION

Toledo Scribe Ups and Says a Few Harsh Words.

(By George R. Pulford, prominent sport writer.)

The dropping of four ball players and Harry Legore, Yale fullback, and the innuendo around whom the coaches expected to build a champion eleven, is the outcome of a deception that has been practiced for years by college athletes, and one to be expected until university athletic authorities take the ball by the horns and lift the ban on summer baseball. Jim Thorpe, the greatest athlete this country ever produced, lost his Olympic trophies because he played ball in a summer league, although judging by his performances in the National, it is doubtful if the charges that Thorpe played ball could have been sustained. He probably played at it just so long as summer resorts, hotels and business concerns continue to support baseball teams for advertising purposes, just so long will college ball players continue to take advantage of the opportunity presented to earn money at a business they are qualified for. And just so long as our institutions of learning continue to make summer baseball a crime, just so long will they encourage deceit. The only solution is to permit college stars to play summer baseball if they see fit. This will prevent the athlete playing under an assumed name and thus cheating not only the public and his alma mater but himself. Summer baseball offers many a student opportunity to earn money in vacation time who otherwise might not earn anything. There is nothing disgraceful in the playing of summer baseball save that under existing circumstances the student tries to pull the wool over the eyes of the collegiate authorities. Wouldn't it be better to grant the athletes permission to play for summer hotel and business house teams, during vacation time, than to have them do it anyway and feel guilty about it afterward?

ALEC PITCHED THREE WEEKS WITH A LAME BACK

Grover Alexander pitched the last three weeks of the National league season and in two games of the world series with a lame back, according to President Baker, of the Phils.

Baker says Manager Moran noticed that Alexander threw as if in pain when warming up for the last world series game and learned then for the first time that Alec had been bothered by a lame back nearly a month. Moran decided then not to pitch the big star in the final game.

ABE ATTELL CLAIMS BOXERS OF TODAY ARE AFRAID TO GET HIT

(By Brown Holmes.)

Abe Attell, featherweight champion twelve years, says the difference between the "draw boxers" of today and the "knockout fighters" of other years is that present day boxers do not "set" themselves to punch.

I called on Attell, busy as a vaudeville performer, to get his idea of why nearly every bout nowadays goes to a draw or referee's decision, while in the old days knockouts were numerous.

"There is as much difference in the old and new style of boxing as in day and night," said the little fellow who for twelve years stood against the heat in the land and saw prospective champions come and go while he continued to hang onto the crown.

"Most of the boys in the ring today are afraid to get hit. A lot of them are pretty boys who don't like to get their hair mussed or their maps soiled. Conditions are such that they can dance through six or ten rounds and get away with it."

In the old days we fought. Look at the gang I had to tackle—Kid Broad, Herrera, George Dixon and that lot. No tango tea with those boys. It was blif, bang, slam all the time.

"A fighter to hit good and hard has to 'set' himself. He has to put his feet on the floor solidly and put all his weight into his punch. These boys we see nowadays are so busy bobbing around to keep from getting hit, they never set."

"I think there's only one fellow in the ring today who hits right—hits like the good old boys did—and that's Mike Gibbons. But Mike won't go in close and take a chance."

"Compare some of these parlor dancers with Terry McGovern, Herrera and the like. This fellow Herrera hit Benny Yanger on the jaw one night and Yanger struck the floor so hard his shoulder bone was broken."

"Herrera hit me on the chest one time and knocked me clear through the ropes. For a month I could feel a heavy weight on my chest. Even now, when I take a deep breath I think of the time the Mexican hit me."

"Herrera was the hardest hitter I ever faced. George Dixon was the best in all around ability. Gee, he was clever. My hardest fight was with Pat Nelson. He was a lightweight and I was a featherweight, but I signed for fifteen rounds, figuring I could outbox him. Outbox nothing. We maulled one another for fair. That was a terrible night."

SUES STORAGE CO. FOR BIG DAMAGES

Peter S. Donahoe Demands
$12,000 of Sherman-White Concern.

Alleging that by reason of the company's negligence and carelessness he sustained severe burns and other injuries, Peter S. Donahoe has begun action in the circuit court against Sherman White & Co., owners of Fort Wayne's big cold storage plant, for $12,000. Donahoe received his injuries Feb. 2 last when a fire broke out in the basement of the plant at Clinton and Murray streets. He was employed as operator of the freight elevator at the time. The complaint charges that the gasoline storage tanks in the basement were not securely closed and that the fluid escaped and caught fire, igniting materials used for placing a cork lining in a storage room of the basement. He was carrying to the fifth floor at the time a quantity of lumber and was between the first and second floors when the fire broke out. A door in the basement end of the elevator shaft is alleged to have not been in proper condition for closing and the flames got into the shaft, burning him about the face and hands and filling his lungs with poisonous fumes and suffocating him. Charles M. Niezer is the plaintiff's attorney.

Divorce Suit Reaches Over Seas.
The superior court for divorce from Nellie Bartholomew, who is alleged to have abandoned him five years ago and returned to her home in England, refusing longer to live and cohabit with the plaintiff unless he go to her in the old world. The couple were married in 1908. William C. Geake is the plaintiff's attorney.

Notes of the Courts.
The Osgood Lumber company has sued Willard P. Smith in the superior court for $250 on a mechanic's lien and for $275 on account. Levi A. Todd is the plaintiff's attorney.

Oliver S. Hanna has brought suit in the circuit court against Edward White and James B. White to collect a note, demanding $2,100, and in the same court a suit against Alexander B. John W. and Edward White for $750 on a note. Creighton H. Williams appears for the plaintiff.

Frank R. Unitt, Fred E. Zollars and C. N. Heaton are committee appointed by Judge Yapple in the superior court to examine U. L. Rogers, who has applied for admission to the bar.

The suit of Fred P. Gressart vs. James R. Sturgeon has been sent to the Huntington circuit court on a change of venue from Allen county.

In the suit of Virgil Clark vs. Edith Clark for divorce, the superior court has cited the plaintiff to appear Oct. 26 to answer charges of contempt.

Minnie Heiberg has been sent in the circuit court to have Henry F. Heiberg declared legally deceased, and for the appointment of an administrator to look after his estate, which is alleged to be suffering from neglect. Heiberg left Allen county in 1905 and since then has had neither been seen nor heard from. William L. Freuchenicht is the plaintiff's attorney.

Hon. James B. Harper is sitting as judge pro tem in the circuit court during the brief absence of Judge John W. Eggenman, who has been called to Lafayette by the illness of a relative.

The Onhaus Automobile company has brought suit in the circuit court against William J. and Nancy B. Stuck to collect $100 on a note. Byron Hayes appears for the plaintiff.

The suit of Jephtha Crouch & Sons vs. William W. Driver has been sent from the circuit court to Huntington county on a change of venue.

The circuit court a jury will on Dec. 6 in the suit of Monroe W. Fitch & Sons vs. the Hutchinson-Ose company.

Judge John W. Eggenman has signed the discharge of John Jones from the Michigan City prison, where he was sent seven months ago for forgery. The discharge was given on recommendation of Warden Edward J. Pomary.

The suit of Mary Broadard vs. Katherine Broadard has been dismissed from the circuit court.

WARREN SUSPECTED OF OTHER CRIMES

stolen money orders and picking up the cash as he went along.

"Sentinel" Furnishes Clue.
A copy of Monday's issue of the Fort Wayne Sentinel containing a picture of Warren furnished Inspector Eskew his clue. He had just left a bank in Valparaiso where an express order had been cashed and on the street his attention was attracted to a newspaper in the gutter. He picked it up. It was The Sentinel and Warren's features stared out from the page. There was a resemblance to descriptions given of the man who cashed the express orders. The Valparaiso bank cashier could not identify the portrait, but the lady cashier of a bank at Chesterton was sure it was Warren.

The Inspector's Work.
Inspector Eskew came to Fort Wayne Wednesday, started investigations and returned to Gary, found Dave Ulan, the chauffeur who had driven the express forger, and L. M. Dukes, salesman in a clothing store, where the man with the forged orders bought a pair of trousers and gave a $50 express order in payment and received the change in cash. These men were brought to Fort Wayne Thursday afternoon and Warren was brought face to face with them in police headquarters. Ulan did not recognize Warren as his passenger on the long automobile trip, though he would not be positive, but Dukes was more certain. A search is being made among Warren's effects for the pair of trousers, which the salesman says he can positively identify.

Nelson Youse, of Highland and Deatur, father of Mrs. Beulah Youse-Warren, bride of the check swindler, has been in Fort Wayne from Wednesday afternoon until Thursday forenoon and spent considerable time making some inquiries concerning the unhappy plight of his daughter and her criminal husband. Mr. Youse, who is the divorced husband of Mrs. Rebecca Youse, mother of Beulah, has had little to say to his relatives and other friends in Fort Wayne, but he has indicated some strong opinions concerning the quality of the guardianship that could permit his daughter to be led into such a despicable marriage connection. He saw and conversed with Mrs. Youse-Warren on the matter.

Warren, at the county jail, is under medical treatment to sustain him under the ordeal of a fast and it is believed he will be kept up.

The chaplain that Beulah Youse's marriage to Warren is invalid and that she is not legally his wife is laughed at by legal authorities. Notwithstanding she may have sworn falsely as to her residence when a license was obtained in Laporte county, she is Warren's wife and fast unless it should be found that the poppy dreamer and check artist has another wife or wives elsewhere, which is not deemed improbable, though he strenuously denies it. She will remain Mrs. Warren until a court dissolves the hasty and calamitous tie that yoked her to her degenerate mate at Michigan City by the chaplain of the penitentiary.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. William Ortlieb, of 837 West Wayne street, have returned from a trip to the Pacific coast, during which they visited the exhibitions and San Francisco and San Diego.

Quits are so much the fashion just now that they are bringing a fancy price, while many admirers of fine needlework are piecing and quilting new ones from old patterns. On Friday afternoon there will be an exhibit of old and modern quilts of handsome patterns and work at Trinity English Lutheran church parlors, corner of Clinton and Wayne streets. Tea and wafers will be sold for the benefit of the Visiting Nurse league.

Fifty friends united in perpetrating a surprise on Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Holman, of 1204 Dayton avenue, on October 17, in celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage. The guests took a handsome and useful gift with them, as well as the wherewithal for a feast of good things to eat. All spent a merry time and Mr. and Mrs. Holman will remember the party with much pleasure.

Miss Gladys Becker, of East Wayne street, has as her house guests for several days Mrs. Ralph Sands, Miss Helena Sands, Miss Clara Bender, Kurtz Miller and Todd McKee, all of Columbus, O. The visitors made the trip by motor.

Many of the older residents of Fort Wayne will hear with regret of the demise of Mary Gay Humphreys recently at her home in New York. Miss Humphreys lived in Fort Wayne in her girlhood days but no relatives are surviving her who live here. Miss Humphreys was an author and besides two books she wrote for newspapers and magazines. She was employed by the Harper Brothers for a long time.

Mrs. Mary E. Bickel, 370 Baker street, will leave Thursday evening for her former home in Altoona, Pa., to attend the funeral of her brother.

DIES FROM PNEUMONIA AFTER WEEK'S ILLNESS

Mrs. Mary Brame Succumbs While Here on a Visit With Friends.

Mrs. Mary Brame, widow of Louis Brame, the well known Bottling Works proprietor who died two years ago, passed away at 9:35 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Joseph hospital, following a brief illness of but one week in duration. Death was due to pneumonia.

Following the death of her husband two years ago she moved with her family to Detroit, and came to Fort Wayne six weeks ago for a visit. She was preparing to return to her home when she contracted the disease. Mrs. Brame was born one mile east of New Haven on the Lincoln highway and was the daughter of Herman Tibbets, a pioneer settler of Allen county.

She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church of this city and of the Rosary and Altar society of the same congregation. Surviving she leaves four children—John, Louis, Anna and Antoinette Brame, all of Detroit.

The remains will be taken to the home of Herman Kappel, 529 Montgomery street, where friends may view the remains after 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Funeral services Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock and at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church, interment at the Catholic cemetery of this city.

MARTIN.

Mrs. Melinda Martin, wife of David Martin, residing two miles east of Monroe, died Wednesday at the family home at the age of 83 years. Death was due to indolence of old age and followed a comparatively brief illness. She was born in Champaign county, Ohio, and had resided there nearly her entire life. She was a member of the Methodist church since seventeen years of age.

Mrs. Martin was the mother of thirteen children, three of whom preceded her in death. Surviving besides the husband are the following children: Joseph, Oliver and A. L. Martin, of Fort Wayne; Bert, William and David Martin, of Monroe township; Sam Martin, of Port and, Ore.; Mrs. J. Bowen and Mrs. Nancy Stack, of this city, and Mrs. Mary Stephenson, of Michigan.

BERCOT.

Funeral services for Miss Isabelle Bercot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Bercot, formerly of Allen county, but more recently of Cleveland, who died at her parents' home, will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the New Haven Catholic church.

WANT CREDITORS' CLAIM DISMISSED

Referee in Bankruptcy Sol A. Wood has taken under consideration a motion made by Trustee Claycomb asking that the claim of $633,410.07 presented by the creditors' committee of the Winona Assembly and Summer School association be disallowed. The trustee sets forth that the creditors' committee is no longer authorized to act for the individual creditors. It is believed that the motion will be sustained.

The Ladies' Turner society will give a party Friday evening in the Turner hall on West Superior street.

"First, that the Indiana Real Estate association does hereby voice its protest against and dissatisfaction with the present system of taxation in the state of Indiana.

"Second, that we hereby recommend that a law or laws be placed upon our statute books providing for the classification of all kinds of property for taxation, such laws to provide for maximum rates for each class and providing for higher rates to meet emergencies when sanctioned by a vote of the people in the government unit where such emergencies may exist.

"Third, that inasmuch as we have found that the valuation placed upon tangible property in the different communities of the state varied all the way from 25 per cent to 75 per cent of its real value, and that where a tax rate was the highest, the valuation was the lowest, and whereas it is the belief of your committee that a great deal of this variation in valuation is due to inefficient assessing officers and lack of general supervision, we therefore recommend that this association endorse an act which would provide for a state department which would have general supervision of the assessing of all property for taxation and whereas such an undertaking as this is of such magnitude and would involve so many intricate details in working it out, and whereas this committee has not been able to gather sufficient information as to how such a system might be worked out, we hesitate at this time to make any further recommendations in connection with the phase of the proposition.

"Fourth, we further recommend that the Indiana Real Estate association continue to interest itself in this matter of taxation. This committee, having gathered some data which would possibly be of benefit to further the work, would recommend that a committee be appointed to continue the work and that final report be made to our next convention."

Members of the committee were E. L. Colthell, Joseph S. Kies, E. E. Lee and J. A. Cravens.

When Hugh Chalmers, of Detroit, Mich., president of the Chalmers Motor company, and one of the country's leading business men, arose to speak every person in the hall stood up and cheered, the demonstration resembling a political convention rather than a gathering of real estate men.

"He's all right; who's all right?" Chalmers yelled the delegates.

"I have always been a firm believer in more taffy while we live and less epitaphy when we die," was Mr. Chalmers' acknowledgment of the enthusiastic ovation that was accorded him.

Mr. Chalmers spoke on the subject of "Advertising and Salesmanship," and was followed by an address by Eben H. Wolcott, member of the Indiana tax commission on "Needed Tax Reforms in Indiana."

Honesty Only Policy.

Mr. Chalmers declared that instead of honesty being the best policy, it is the only policy, there being no best to it in discussing proper methods of advertising and salesmanship. Every business man is confronted with five problems: money, merchandise, machinery, markets and men, but the most important is the last named. All other problems disappear, he said, if the right man is on the job. The underlying principles of all kinds of business are the same. The same methods of advertising and selling will sell anything. Mr. Chalmers declared that the 100 per cent salesman is the man who can sell anything to anybody who speaks the same language.

The speaker ridiculed the business man of today who refuses to advertise and as an answer to the statement that advertisements are not read, he referred to a number of well known slogans that immediately suggest the name of the firm and the products handled by that firm. He declared that selling slogans are worth as much as the tangible assets of the institution.

"It is the unusual and progressive methods that win nowadays," he said. "Try and be the leading man in your town. You can do it if you try."

Mr. Chalmers declared that the essential features in advertising are honesty, being sensible and persistent. He said that what danger signs are to railroad crossings, advertising is to business. Very few things are bought nowadays, but they must be sold.

Address By Eben H. Wolcott.

The short comings and ridiculousness of the present taxing methods in Indiana were pointed out in an address Thursday morning by Eben H. Wolcott, member of the Indiana tax commission, on "Needed Tax Reforms in Indiana." The present law encourages dishonesty," he said, "and is both inconsistent and inaccurate." Several figures were given to demonstrate the impossibility of receiving satisfactory results under the general property tax.

"Classification or income tax worked out scientifically along lines of 'ability to pay' or benefits derived, which are now in force in a number of states, would secure satisfactory results in Indiana," Mr. Wolcott said. "A low fixed tax on intangibles in states where it has been tried has brought to light and list of for taxation a sufficient amount of property, heretofore hidden, to more than equal at a low rate, under classification tax, the amount of taxes received at the old rate under the general property tax.

For example, in 1897, under the general property tax, Baltimore had only listed for tax $600,000,000 in tangible property; in 1898, under the four mill tax passed in 1897 and effective in 1898, these property values increased $55,000,000 and in 1915 about $200,000,000.

"I favor the exemption of household goods, not exceeding $300 to $500 from taxation. The average net assessed value of household goods in 1914, was only $40, and in some counties as low as $19. There are about 500,000 householders in Indiana and at $40 they represent about $20,000,000 taxable property or about one per cent. of the total value of the property listed for taxation."

Must Change Constitution.

Mr. Wolcott first called attention to the constitution and its limitations as to the question of taxation. He declared that the interpretation by the general assessor that all property be assessed at true cash value is absolutely impossible and impracticable, if it were possible. Then he told of the taxing machinery of the state, there being 5,000 deputy assessors paid $2 a day; 1,016 township assessors paid $2.50 a day, these being the direct assessing officers. Then there are the ninety-two county assessors, with power to put on omitted property, and the board of review, consisting of five members, and over these are the state tax commissioners. He characterized the system as bad, unsatisfactory and results in much inefficiency.

The first day of the convention closed with a 100-star camp meeting at the Shrine temple on West Main street for the men and a theater party at the New Palace for the women. At the camp meeting members of the Shrine patrol presented "A Suffragette Parade," which was one of the big features of the evening's entertainment. A surprise was sprung when Captain Edward H. Kilbourne, of the Shrine patrol, and a member of the local real estate exchange sang an original topical song to the tune of "Emperory" that was received with the wildest enthusiasm.

At the close of the camp meeting the visiting ladies were brought from the New Palace theater and a social hour with refreshments was enjoyed.

Evansville Joins.

Members of the Evansville delegation met at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, enjoyed dinner at the Anthony and then voted to enter the state association as an exchange and not as individual members. A number of other boards throughout the state will probably take the same action.

BOY'S NECK BROKEN.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 21.—Vito, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Henthorn, living west of here near the Shades, was accidentally killed while playing with his three-year-old brother at their barn. The boy attempted to get into a granary that had sliding boards which served for a door. He was standing on a box, one of the boards of which fell, and in falling the boy's neck was broken. Mrs. Henthorn was away from home at the time, and when she returned she found her son's body suspended from one of the boards.

OUR RIGHTS ARE UPHOLD

"The extraordinary circumstances of such a time have done much to quicken our nation's conscientiousness and deepen and confirm our confidence in the principle of peace and freedom by which we have always sought to be guided. Out of darkness and perplexities have come firmer counsels of policy and clearer perceptions of the essential welfare of the nation. We have prospered while other peoples were at war, but our prosperity has been vouchsafed us, we believe, only that we might the better perform the functions which war rendered it impossible for them to perform. Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fifth of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people throughout the land to cease from their wonted occupations and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks to Almighty God.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington this twentieth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, and of the independence of the United States of America, one hundred and fortieth.

"By the president:

now cut off from Saloniki. The arrival of the allied troops is awaited anxiously.

"The Serbians in the north hold the Balkan line, Alexanderovatz-Dubogolovo, and the Asagran-Kosovo lines and the right bank of the Kolubara. On the eastern front they hold the Zaitchard-Kontrovatz-Pirov-Vlassina line, but the Bulgarians have taken the towns of Vranja and Volosva, cutting the line to Saloniki in two places."

AEROPLANES NOT ENOUGH.

London, Oct. 21.—The facts that aeroplanes alone cannot be relied upon as an adequate defense against Zeppelins and that expert naval gunners had been attached to anti-aircraft batteries and search light stations in London were the most interesting statements made by A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, in answering a running fire of questions in the house of commons today relative to the preparations taken to check air raids. "Bad weather," he repeated, had hampered the British aeroplanes during the recent Zeppelin attack.

The entente powers are bringing all possible pressure to bear on Greece in order to elicit an unequivocal definition of her policy toward the other Balkan states and the European belligerents. They have intimated clearly that on account of the geographical position of Greece and her treaty obligations to Serbia her announced policy of neutrality will be difficult, if not impossible to maintain. It has become a question in the opinion of the allied diplomats of not permitting Greece to continue until it is considered an ambiguous policy until their opponents in the war are able to utilize the neutral position of Greece to their own advantage.

The city fire department was called to the residence of H. Jacobs, 808 West Superior street at 10:02 o'clock Thursday morning, where sparks from the chimney set fire to the roof of the house. The loss amounted to $20.

Darl Achenbach has gone to Chicago, where he will spend a few days visiting friends.

HALF OF PIQUA ROAD BRIDGE IN

Other Half Will Be Installed
—Shop News.

Half of the steel bridge of the Pennsylvania subway at the Piqua road is in position and the men engaged in installing it expect to get the other portion in position next week. The subway will probably be opened to traffic in two or three weeks. Work upon it commenced early in the summer and has been pushed rapidly along, notwithstanding that it had to be accomplished without interrupting traffic on the railroad, there being many tracks at that point. The work, in addition to extensive excavation, involved the raising of the Pennsylvania tracks four feet.

SAYS OPPORTUNITIES ARE GOOD.

Hugh Chalmers Believes in Chances of Success in Business.

"The opportunity for success in business was never greater than it is now," said Hugh Chalmers, of the Chalmers Motor Car company, of Detroit, in an address before the Bowser Efficiency club last night. Then in a half-hour's talk Mr. Chalmers gave illustrations from events in his own experience and the experience of others who had been successful, declaring that failure would not come to the man who threw all his energy into his business. General Manager S. B. Bechtel was the first speaker at the meeting. His talk being about the relationship between the club and the company. Treasurer C. A. Dunkelberg then made a short speech, concluding by introducing Mr. Chalmers. The Bowser Efficiency club has 102 members and it is said every one was present.

FIRST MEETING A GOOD ONE.

The first meeting of the season at the Pennsylvania roundhouse yesterday noon, under the auspices of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., was largely attended and indicates a growing interest on the part of the railroad men in religious work. Rev. C. E. Boyer, of the Crescent Evangelical church, was the speaker, and music was furnished by Frank Rupert and Freeman M. C. Wolford, the former at the organ and the latter with a cornet. The next meeting at the roundhouse will be of a musical character. The bulletin announcing this meeting also contained the statement: "We are planning regular meetings here this winter and would like to have you fellows help us out as much as possible." Rev. Nathan Tison, of the South Wayne Baptist church, presided at the meeting at the east car shops today, at which the attendance was also good. Tomorrow weekly noon-day meetings will be

FAMOUS ACTRESS SAYS COFFEE HARMS COMPLEXION

Declares Coffee Habit Grows on One, Dulls the Mind, and Weakens the Muscles.

People who desire to retain youthful looks and a clear, healthy skin, may be surprised to learn that so eminent an authority on beauty as Lillian Russell declares, in a recent issue of the Chicago Herald, that "both coffee and tea have a harmful effect on the complexion. The most youthful skin can be made dry and sallow by the over indulgence of tea or coffee."

"It always depresses me when I hear a woman say, 'I must have a cup of coffee the first thing in the morning, and generally sip it in bed.' She would be shocked if she heard someone else say that they must have a cocktail before they could begin the day."

"I heard a most beautiful old woman say, 'Do you think I would dry up my blood and ruin my skin by drinking tea?'"

"The coffee habit grows on one, and when coffee is used as a stimulant there is a reaction, which means depression and causes over indulgence or the use of stronger stimulants. In the continued use, stimulants dull the mind and weaken the muscles."

NOTE.—It is a satisfaction to know that in the pure-food drive, instant Postum, increasing the thousands are finding a delight from drugs or any harmful substance, and free from coffee's ill effects in those food elements supplied by Nature for building good blood and strong, healthy bodies.—Advertisement.

SLEEPING CAR FOR FLORIDA.

The G. R. & I. announces that it will inaugurate a through sleeping car service November 2, to be operated once a week, on November 2, 9, and 16, until Tuesday, Nov. 23, when the service will become semi-weekly, on Tuesdays and Fridays. The cars will be a part of train No. 6 arriving here at 11:30 and leaving at 12:01 at night. The Pennsylvania ticket office has received considerable inquiry about this service, indicating the interest taken in and inaugurating a good business this fall and winter.

THERE'S JOY AT THE CASH HOME.

Twins daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cash yesterday and the father has been busy since receiving congratulations which are being delivered personally, by mail and by telephone. The little ones have been christened Marion and Margaret and they weigh, respectively, seven and a half and eight pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Cash reside at 441 East Creighton avenue. Mr. Cash is the general secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A.

MRS. SARVER TAKEN HOME.

Mrs. B. E. Sarver, who was taken to the St. Joseph hospital three weeks ago today, suffering from nervous trouble, has slightly improved and her physician permitted her removal to her home today. It will be some days, however, before Mrs. Sarver will be able to leave her bed. Mrs. Sarver is general foreman of the boiler department of the Pennsylvania shops.

B. R. T. AUXILIARY MEETING.

Loyal Lodge No. 85, Ladies' Auxiliary to the B. R. T., will have business of importance to transact at the meeting tomorrow afternoon and the officers are very anxious to have a big attendance. Plans for the fall and winter work will be a part of the business, but there is a more important question to be considered.

TAKES MOTHER EAST FRIDAY.

Foreman B. E. Sarver, of the Pennsylvania boiler shop, will accompany his mother to Allegheny Friday night, leaving on Pennsylvania train No. 24. Mrs. Sarver has been here several months and will now visit another son, C. E. Sarver, assistant foreman of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop at Allegheny.

SYRIAN HAS FOOT HURT.

Antone Corry, a Syrian, employed in the car wheel factory at the Bass works, had one of his feet badly bruised this morning when a car wheel rolled over the member. He was attended by the company's surgeon and then sent to his home. The injury is not serious.

Clayton H. Johnson, business agent of the machinists, is in receipt of inquiries for machinists. Two are wanted in a railway shop in an Illinois city. None could be found here, however.

M. E. Knoll, formerly employed at the Fort Wayne Electric works, now working in the Ford factory at Detroit, has gone back there after a visit here with his mother, Mrs. William H. Knoll.

President W. H. Caniff, of the Nickel Plate, passed through the city in his private car on train No. 2 yesterday afternoon. The local superintendents accompanied him over the Chicago and Fort Wayne divisions.

S. F. Bowser & Company will erect a three-story fire-proof building, 25x40 feet in dimensions, for a filling vault, in which to keep the books and papers of the concern. Excavation for the foundation is now being made.

The Western Gas Construction company is recalling some of its suspended employees, business at the plant being much better than it was some months ago. Forty-five men were given employment at the factory this week.

Fred W. H. Schupfhorst, clerk at the Pennsylvania machine shop, will be off duty the remaining days of the week, to complete his vacation term, a part of which was spent some weeks ago. The time will be chiefly spent in doing work at his home.

R. E. Sullivan, who recently left the St. Joseph hospital after undergoing a surgical operation two weeks ago, called at the Pennsylvania round house yesterday to see his relatives. He is improving, but it will be some days before he will be able to resume work at the round house.

Charles Tookill, Pennsylvania train dispatcher, completed a two weeks' vacation last night and resumed his duties in the office this morning. While on a vacation he visited Nebraska, Arizona and Colorado. In the latter state he witnessed a snow storm. Operator E. J. Kennedy is now on a vacation and will spend the coming two weeks in Chicago, Indianapolis and Cincinnati with friends and relatives.

When she sprang from a wagon loaded with garden truck to be struck by a Nickel Plate freight train Miss Mary Hurley, 22 years, alighted on a track in front of an approaching passenger train at Kingsville and was instantly killed. The young lady resided at Pittsburgh and was visiting relatives at Kingsville. The wagon from which she sprang got over the tracks in safety.

With the exception of T. W. Denarest, superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania Northwest system, the Pennsylvania men from this city who were with General Superintendent W. C. Downing on his inspection trip, will return home tonight. Mr. Denarest will turn home tonight. Mr. Denarest will accompany Mr. Downing over the Eastern and E. & A. divisions, the inspection trip ending at Pittsburgh Saturday night. Among the division officials who accompanied Mr. Downing over the Western division were Superintendent Otto Schroll, Master Mechanic R. E. Griest, Division Engineer Guy Scott, Division Operator H. Reynolds, Trainmaster C. L. Hamilton, Road Foreman John Birtwhistle. The party arrived here from the west at 5 o'clock last evening and remained here until 8 o'clock this morning, when they left on an inspection of sub-division C.

CHURCH CHANGES ITS NAME.

Southside Church Will Hereafter Be Known as South Wayne Baptist.

At the annual meeting of the congregation of the Southside Baptist church, besides the adoption of a new constitution the members decided to change the name of the church and hereafter will be known as the South Wayne Baptist church. New officers are to be elected at the next meeting. The new constitution is in several ways a distinct change from the one previously in force. All modern methods of church organization are incorporated and it is believed that the church now has as efficient a plan of organization as any church in the state. The Bible school will be entirely under the control of a board of religious education which will appoint the officers and teachers as well as transact all business. There is also a board of social service, which is in control of all social functions, civic work, boys' and girls' organizations and community betterment. This board is to give permission for the use of the church for all functions and provide supervision for them.

A treasurer to whom all funds coming into the church and bible school are paid, and by whom all bills are paid is a further advance. It is hoped to centralize all finances in the one treasurer eventually.

LARGEST IN THE STATE.

Frances Willard W. C. T. U. of This City Bears This Distinction.

The Frances Willard Women's Christian Temperance Union of this city bears the distinction of being the largest union in the state with an active membership of 220 and 40 honorary members. This union met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Pixley on West Wayne street and heard the reports from the delegates to the state convention. Much enthusiasm was manifested. A county superintendent meeting will be held at Plymouth Congregational church November 14. The next regular meeting of this union will be held November 4 at the Y. W. C. A. building.

DELIVERS STRONG SERMON.

Hundreds of People Listen With Interest to Rev. Gregory Mantle.

One of the largest congregations thus far in the revival meetings now in progress at the First M. E. church was present Wednesday evening and listened with interest to the stirring sermon delivered by Rev. Gregory Mantle, of London, who has been engaged to conduct the meetings. Professor Garber, of the Bible Training school, led a lively song service and the Emerson quartet sang several selections. The services are being held each evening at 7:45 o'clock and each afternoon at 2:30.

Mennonite Church Revival.

Interest continues and more enthusiasm is shown in the revival meeting being conducted at St. Mary's Avenue Mennonite church. Evangelist A. M. Eash, of Chicago, chose as his text, "Weeek and Weeekage," for the sermon theme Wednesday evening. His subject for Thursday evening will be "A Life Made Over."

Rendler Riley Program.

The Women's league of the Wayne Street M. E. church will give a Riley program at the church parlors, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mesdames Ira Langford and Ernest Hughes are in charge of the program which will consist of readings by Mesdames Hughes and Hutchins; a solo by Miss Agnes Coppock and recitations on the life of the victrola. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. L. Miles, who will be assisted by her section.

NO FURTHER EFFORT TILL COURT DECIDES

Then It May Be That Governor Will Be Asked to Take a Hand.

No further effort to bring officials of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company and their former employees together in an attempt to settle their differences will be made until after the cases pending before Judge A. B. Anderson in the federal court at Indianapolis are settled. The hearing is set for next Tuesday.

After the cases in the federal court are disposed of it is not at all improbable that Governor Samuel M. Ralston will again be asked to take a hand.

Will Organize Company.

That a co-operative stock company will be organized for the operation of an automobile bus line to compete with the street cars seems now to be assured and it is probable that definite action will be taken at a meeting of the Federation of Labor to be held Monday evening. Representatives of a number of automobile companies will meet the special committee Thursday night. The plan has been suggested that each of the 7,000 or 8,000 union men in Fort Wayne take shares of $10 each, five months being given in which to pay. It is figured that the money derived in this manner will buy twenty automobile buses and build a garage.

School Teacher Hurt.

Miss Mary Greenwalt, teacher of a school six miles east of the city, was seriously injured at 7:30 o'clock, Wednesday evening, when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by a Driving park car at Florida drive and State street. Her companion, Harry Spontaneous, owner of the car, was rendered unconscious, but his condition is not regarded as serious.

The automobile was struck from the rear and Miss Greenwalt was thrown through the windshield, falling unconscious into a pile of sand. Miss Greenwalt's head was cut open, requiring fourteen stitches to close and one hand was badly cut on the chin and on the hand. Both were carried into the home of Dr. H. L. Porter near the scene of the accident and later removed to St. Joseph hospital.

One Man Blocks Traffic.

Several cars were held up for some time Wednesday evening by a pedestrian who was walking down the center of the truck on the Broadway line refused to get off.

Bricks were hurled against the side of a car on West Main street and through a window of an East Creighton car at Lafayette and Wallace streets.

The carmen's union now has 167 members. Ray Horn, an old employee of the company who has been ill for several weeks, joined the striking carmen Wednesday.

Members of the Woman's Union Label League will serve a dinner Thursday evening in Harmony hall. The proceeds will be donated to the carmen.

WOMAN IS BACK FROM WEST BATTLE FRONT

Swedish Author, Only Woman to Enjoy Privilege, Tells of Trip.

Paris, Oct. 21.—"Soldiers who had not seen a woman for months crowded around me to pay their respects," said Marika St. Jernstedt, a Swedish author and the first woman to visit the French battle front by invitation of the general staff, on returning to Paris today. "I heard cheering," she added. "That they have not lost a particle of the traditional French polish in the months of burrowing in the earth for from refining influences. Their wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts may be proud of them."

Miss St. Jernstedt is not only the first woman to succeed where so many have failed, but she is likely to be the last of her sex to enjoy the privilege of being specially conducted to the zone of operations.

"The party will be within range of the enemy's artillery," objected the official to whom she appealed. "Won't you be afraid?"

"What I fear most," Miss St. Jernstedt replied, "is that I shall not be permitted to get close enough to show you I am not afraid."

The party approached close enough to inspect thoroughly the field of this recent operations in the Champagne and what Miss St. Jernstedt saw of it she declared to the Associated Press "surpasses all imagination."

"I went so rapidly from one strong impression to another that it is difficult to recall them all," she continued. "I traversed miles of devastation over ground, every rod of which had been leveled up and where remained not a sign of vegetation. Where there should have been shrubs and trees or crops and flowers, an arm stuck out here and a leg there, and all was pervaded with a sickly odor that appresses."

"An undeliable sadness in the presence of so many evidences of death diminishes somewhat to you get in contact with the indifference of those who have lived amongst it for more than a year. Perhaps the strong impression came from the sight of two inert bodies, that we took at first for wounded, were carried back from the lines. They were two heroes who had made the supreme sacrifice. Nothing more could be done for them."

"Every member of the visiting party was moved but for all you could see it was to the stretcher bearers and to the soldiers who saw them pass nothing but a daily incident. They carried them back from the lines to the cemeteries that can be seen everywhere on approaching the front. A bottle stuck into each mound contains the individual history of each actor in the tragedy for his loved ones to learn after it is all over."

GAS, HEARTBURN INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home. Advertisement.

UNSKILLED WORKERS GET LITTLE MORE PAY

But Wages in German War Material Trades Are Booming.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Labor statisticians, who have been watching the situation closely and critically as the months of war have passed, agree with a fair degree of unanimity on the general effect of the conflict on wages, but disagree to some extent on the relation between the wages paid today and the cost of living—as to whether or not the workman's pay has increased as fast as prices of foodstuffs have.

They agree that the men in the "war materials" trades, and the women for that matter, today are receiving 50, 70 and even 100 per cent. more than they ever did. In most cases the advance is nearer to 100 per cent. than 50 or 70, because there is no limit to the amount of work to do, there is unlimited opportunity for over-time work, wages are higher than usual and help is scarce.

In other skilled trades that supply ordinary needs—the printing and carpenter trade, for instance—the advance, it is agreed, is neither so great nor so even. The printer is making from 3 to 5 marks a day more than he used to; the carpenter's gain depends on how much he has the strength or the inclination to do; the brewer is getting an even 10 marks more a week; the leather worker, like the carpenter, can be gauged only by his capacity.

The benefits accruing to the unskilled workers simply cannot be estimated because they are so variable and so dependent upon employers' generosity, chance circumstances and the like. The authorities are agreed that these workers have been less benefited than any others, but find it impossible to determine the degree of benefit.

Alvin Koersten, secretary of the central employment bureau of the Berlin trades, who might be termed a walking statistical office, and who is constantly in close touch with workers of all kinds, is positive that living costs have advanced faster than wages, and that the "war materials" workers are the only ones who have kept up.

He is convinced that food prices have risen from 30 to 100 per cent., or faster than the wages either of unskilled labor or of those branches of skilled labor not engaged in making war materials. Though far from being a pessimist, his inclination is to look at the matter from the standpoint of the many who have had a minimum of gain out of higher wages.

Max Steffen, head of the huge employment agency for unskilled workmen, even less than Mr. Koersten, believes that prices have outstripped wages, chiefly because he is in closest touch with the great mass of men, and women, on whom the effect of the war has been more to give them work than to raise the wages they had been getting.

He has seen most of the thousands who drift into his enormous establishment placed where they can earn a livelihood more readily than ever before, but he also has heard from countless lips the story of the difficulty of making both ends meet. His own experiences with the cost of living has made him loathe to believe that the war has been an unmixed benefit for the worker who stays at home.

Quite a different opinion is Dr. O. Becker, head of the Association of German Employment Bureaus, who forms his opinion from facts and figures gathered from all parts of the German empire, and who, in consequence, believes that the general situation of the workman has vastly improved and that his wages, by and large, have gone up faster than the cost of living.

In arriving at this decision he takes into account the situation of the unskilled workers, and in agreeing with Mr. Steffen that their wage increases have not been appreciably great, he believes that the more and more favorable status of the country worker, in conjunction with the rapid decrease in non-employment, over-balances higher prices.

The women, far more than the men, have been the gainers in the unskilled trades, and to them, it is believed, is due the large and unexpected increase in savings deposits which the banks have recorded. A portion of them—the minority it is estimated—have, it is true, had to go to work alongside husbands and brothers who are not serving in the army, but a larger portion are comparatively prosperous.

This is due, as Mr. Koersten explains, roughly to two things. In the first place the biggest eater and most expensive member of the family, the man, is gone, and the expenses of his upkeep are being met by the government. In the second place, the woman now has more than one source of income—her share of her husband's pay and what she herself earns. This applies, of course, only to the working woman.

Some fifty thousand women in Berlin alone are doing men's work. The greater part of them at the same time receive from the state at least something toward their support. The exact ratio of the present family income to that of, say, fourteen months ago, is unobtainable, but it is believed in a large number of cases to be nearly as great as before.

With the family's chief expense away, it has been possible for the women to establish almost a record in saving. Thus July deposits in Berlin savings banks this year were 12,365,000 marks, as against 8,730,000 marks last year. The withdrawals reached 4,105,000 marks, in comparison with 9,286,000 marks in 1914, an unusually high figure caused by the war scare.

At the Berlin Municipal Savings bank alone, the 107,681 depositors during the year ending August 31, 1915, banked 7,518,615 marks, an average of about 70 marks, where the average in 1913 and 1912 was only 57 marks, and in 1911 60 marks. In 1912 the savings books averaged 478 marks, in 1913 the figure rose to 487 marks, and in 1914 to 506 marks. This average dropped in April only to 487 marks after 10,500,000 marks had been withdrawn by depositors within twelve days, and 18,000,000 and 30,000,000 respectively, had been put into the two war loans.

Rochester Youth Wired Himself to Railroad Tracks.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Newton Hoffman, the youth who was found wired to the Erie tracks at South Avon late Monday night and whose foot was cut off by a southbound electric car, admitted last night that he wired himself to the track by that he wired himself with a handkerchief. "I do not know what I did this for," he said in his statement. "I had no reason to do it. Nobody knocked me down." Monday night Hoffman said that he was snatched by two highwaymen and wired to the track by them.

ANTWERP NEWS.

Antwerp, O., Oct. 21.—Prof. Albert Heinenman, of Woodburn, has gone to Leipsic, Ohio, where he will visit relatives for a short time, then he expects to go to the Panama exposition, at San Francisco, Cal.

Harry Delong went to New Haven and Fort Wayne Wednesday, where he transacted business.

W. P. Reid and F. E. Reeb were visitors at Defiance Tuesday.

Mrs. Samuel Forder and daughter, Laverd, prominent farmer folks of Crane township, were passengers to Fort Wayne Wednesday, where they spent the day the guests of Mrs. L. D. Wilson and family.

Ora Coffey was a visitor at Woodburn Wednesday, where he was the guest of his father, Geo. Coffey.

Orville Schooley and wife and B. A. Smith and wife motored over to West Unity, O. Sunday last, and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Harris, who are conducting a hotel at that place.

Geo. W. Metrol has gone to Dayton, O., where he goes as a delegate from Masonic lodge No. 325, F. & A. M. to the grand lodge.

Miss Helen Gordon, who is a pupil at the Northwestern college at Ada, O., was a visitor at her home here a few days the first of the week, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Gordon and family.

There will be a banquet given at the diningroom of the church Friday evening by the men of the Presbyterian church. Members from Paulding, Cecil and adjoining towns will be present.

Worth Amund, superintendent of the Hicksville Telephone Co., was an Antwerp visitor Wednesday.

There will be a masquerade party at the home of M. E. Thompson Monday evening, November 1st.

Harry Wallace, of Cecil, O., was an Antwerp visitor Wednesday, called here on a business errand.

Little Robert Husted, aged about 4 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Husted, living just over the Indiana state line, met with a serious accident a few days since. He was playing around a gasoline engine which was in motion and was caught by the fly wheel and whirled around the shaft. No one was near at the time, and when discovered he was lying on the ground about ten feet from the engine where he had been thrown by the velocity of the fly wheel. He was considerably bruised, and his right leg was broken in two places. His contact with the machine tore his shoes and lower garments off, and his escape from death can be attributed to the giving away of these garments.

RELIGION, TEMPERANCE AND HEALTH

Don't Overlook the Fall Clean-up; It's Most Important for Health.

FALL CLEAN-UP.

Don't begin the winter with a basement full of rubbish.

Burn this rubbish during the first cool days of early fall. On such days a fire is desirable.

Combustible rubbish is as good a fuel for the purpose, as anything else. So the stove or furnace can be utilized to destroy the rubbish and the rubbish can be utilized to take the chill from the house.

Every cellar should be cleared of accumulations of rubbish that if left to grow old and mouldy will prove injurious to the health of the household.

The next few weeks probably will give ideal weather for work in and about the house. So, before cold and snow interfere, basements can be cleared, back yards made neat and alleys prepared for the winter.

There is much satisfaction in cleanliness and order more than many of us realize. There would be no filthy basements and littered yards if we all understood the pleasure that comes of home care and good results.

This pleasure is contagious. Go into any neighborhood, where well kept lawns, clean walks and alleys and neat homes prevail. You will find that practically all the homes are neat—not merely some of them. And this because order is contagious.

One or two householders, by their good example, can change the appearance of almost any neighborhood. And thus such householders can do more to establish municipal order and cleanliness and health than the order and persuasion of any health department.

Carelessness is one of our national characteristics. However, the habit is dangerous in dealing with the affairs of health. The diseases that have wrecked nations but wait the moment when we carelessly forget.

FRESH AIR.

Don't try to economize on fresh air. If you do, health will suffer and it is far cheaper and better to keep good health than it is to try and regain it once lost.

Cultivate the fresh air habit; walk in it, sleep in it, work in it, and live in it. It will put bloom in your cheeks, fire in your eye, and sharpen your wit.

Why more fresh air? Your blood needs the oxygen in it. In food the hungry cells in every part of your body. Your tissues need it to withstand the hostile attacks of foreign enemies.

Your disposition needs it, for oxygen and optimism are in the same part of the alphabet.

The lungs give off poison with every expiration. When in a room which is not constantly receiving a supply of fresh air, one must re-breathe this de-vitalized, befouled air again and again.

Stop and think before the cold weather really sets in and brings the diseases bred of closed houses and bad air—pneumonia, tuberculosis and colds.

Then see that your bedroom, living room, street car, church, school, theater, lodge hall, and office are provided daily with fresh air.

Open the windows and dress a bit warmer if necessary, but get your full share of fresh air.

Colic in babies is commonly due to the fermentation of undigested food in the bowels, with the formation of gas. It is due to the food being unsuited to the digestive capacity of the infant. It can be avoided either by diluting the feedings with water.

MARY HATH CHOSEN THE BETTER PART

KEEP OUT OF BAD COMPANY

There are two reasons for this. First, "Birds of a feather flock together." Second, "Evil communications corrupt good manners." If you are in bad company people will judge you by your company, and like poor Tray you may be beaten for other people's faults. Many a man lies in prison today for some crime which he never committed, simply because he was in a bad crowd. Someone did the wrong, others escaped, and he found himself in the clutches of the law. Further, you will not only be judged by the company which you are in, but you will become like the company which surrounds you. If you stand in the way of sinners you will become like them; and the very fact that you are willing to stay in such company shows that you are more like them now than you are willing to own. If you are honest, conscientious and faithful and true, your soul will abhor the ways of ungodliness. You will keep clear of them. If you go among the profane, the impure, and the intemperate, you will be no better than your company; you will have no better reputation; and you will soon sink down to their level. You may better yourself that you can elevate them, but that experiment has been tried too often, and vice holds his sway over multitudes who have drifted and wandered and sunk at last into things which as first they would have abhorred. The poet says: "Vice is a monster of such hideous mien That to be hated needs but to be seen; Yet seen too oft, familiar with its face, We first endure, then pity, then embrace." This is the experience of thousands. They have associated with sinners and dallied with sin until they have been swept down into unbottomable depths of vice and infamy. "He that walketh with wise men shall be wise, but a companion of fools shall be destroyed."

Halt!—Right About.

"What is this conversion that you talk so much about, and say people must have?" asked an officer one day of a private who was an earnest, active Christian.

"Sir," was the reply, "it is when the captain of our salvation cries 'Halt!' and then when we halt, it is 'Right about face!'"

Conversion is more than "theory," or "head-knowledge," or "talk." It strikes deeper than the skin; it influences the heart.

A reformed man is not a converted man. Conversion is not a beginning to amend or trying to be better, but is a great cure done at once, and done for ever.

An earthly doctor cures his patients by making them better every day; but conversion is God's work on man; that transforms him from being a child of Satan to being a Son of God.

Conversion is a turning round, a being something that I was not before, a thinking differently to what I thought before. It is having a new motive power, new hopes, desires, relationships, going a new road, sailing to another port, having a new owner, being under fresh orders, having another paymaster, fighting under another captain. Before, it was self for self. Now, it is self for God. Before, it was justification of self. Now, it is condemnation of self. Before, it was condemnation of God. Now, it is justification by God. Conversion touches the very root of self, and is a revolution of the whole being; a fundamental change of every principle of life.

A truly converted person will be able to say:

Blind I was, now I see;
Lame I was, now I walk;
Dumb I was, now I speak.

LET US HAVE GRACE.

"Let us have grace, whereby we may offer service well-pleasing to God."

On one occasion a nurse in one of the great London hospitals complained to Bishop Taylor Smith, chaplain-general to the forces, that she had been rudely treated by some of the patients. "Thank God for that!" was the reply. "What do you mean?" asked the astonished nurse. "Why," said the bishop, "if you are carrying a vessel and somebody knocks up against you, you can spill out of the vessel what is inside. And when people misjudge and persecute us, we can only spill what is inside. In the case of a godless man, he will probably swear—and be sorry. But if you are Christ-filled, filled with the Holy Ghost, you will manifest the gentleness of Christ, and make men astonished. Count it all joy when the testing-times come. What I pray for is not that you may have less trials, but that you may have more grace."

JUST YOU AND I.

If you and I—just you and I—Should laugh instead of worry; If we should grow—just you and I—Kinder and sweeter hearted; Then sure, in some near by and by, A good time would be started. And what a happy world 'twould be For you and me—for you and me.

RESOURCES.

Poverty has always been considered a calamity. It is, provided we understand in what real poverty consists. Real poverty is a lack of resources. False poverty, which is often no poverty at all, is a lack of things.

"A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he possesseth." Very often you find people with plenty of money, with a large house full of costly furniture, with horses and carriages and automobiles, with rich clothing and expensive food and drink, who are yet wretched, bored and miserable, so that they turn to drunkenness and vice for forgetfulness.

They have no inward resources, and for that no amount of possessions can compensate.

On the other hand, people of limited means, who have to work daily for a living, and whose worldly goods are next to nothing, are often cheerful, bright, glad to be alive and truly rich in spirit. They are wealthy, for they have interests, and a dozen interests are worth more than a million dollars' worth of things.

There is a deal of nonsense uttered about sorrows of the poor. The poorest class of people in the world are those who have to work for a living, who have to get up when the bell rings, and to go to bed on time.

And the most miserable folks I know are those who have nothing to do but to amuse themselves. The wretchedest section of the world is the Smart Set, whose business it is merely to indulge themselves, to spend money they have not earned, and to experiment in inventing new immoralities.

The poorest people on earth are those that have no resources, but to buy things too costly for others to buy, to intoxicate themselves with various forms of alcohol, and to substitute excitement of disloyalty for the joys of true love.

Pity, do not envy, these unfortunates, for their poverty is terrible.

But pity no man who loves his work, and works hard enough to enjoy his leisure; pity no woman who is interested in home-making and in her children; pity no person at all who has the secret of "plain living and high thinking."—Dr. Frank Crane, in Woman's World for November.

Men Who Think Are Men Who Fight Drink

In an address before a convention of health officials, former President Eliot, of Harvard, made this statement:

"It should be brought home to the entire population that the habitual use of alcoholic beverages reduces, in a serious degree, the productive efficiency of the community. The recent public proceedings in Russia, France and England, in which the use of alcohol, in order to enhance the efficiency of their population in time of war, have directed public attention to this subject with unusual force."

The fact that "alcohol causes many frightful disasters in human reproduction" leads Doctor Eliot to continue to this conclusion:

"Degradation through the use of alcohol is the greatest evil the white race is suffering from."

BUSINESS AS USUAL.

The slogan of the English merchants since the outbreak of the great war, revealed in many instances by huge signs placed over the stores, is "Business as usual." Troops are passing through the crowded streets. Motor cars and buses chatter by. Millions of pounds are being spent for war. Thousands of the nation's brilliant young men are being slain on the European battle field and people the empire over are speculating on the fate of the nation but, "Business as usual," is the watch word.

Let that too be the watch word of the church in these times of war and rumors of war. "The King's Business is Usual." Instead of retrenchment, let there be expansion. Instead of fear, let there be courage. Instead of confusion let there be purposeful devotion to duty. "The gates of hell shall not prevail against this church and kingdom."

THE INFLUENCE OF A SONG.

A number of people were in a street car one day. Some were worn and tired, others were feeling out of sorts, and withal, it was a rather sorry-looking crowd. The car stopped, and a lady with a little girl entered. The little girl got up on her knees and looked out the window, and before long she began to sing in a clear, childish voice:

Jesus loves me, this I know,
For the Bible tells me so;
Little ones to him belong;
We are weak, but he is strong.

It rather startled the people; the tired began to smile, the cross began to look better, and before long all the people in the car looked different. What the child's song did for the people that song will do for the singer. You cannot sing songs of praise without putting flight to discouragement.—Service.

STRONG HEARTEDNESS

The strength of the man is not in the amount of his muscle, for a dead man has as much muscle as a live one. There is an inward energy that gives strength to persons who otherwise would be weak and faint. Sometimes good news gives fresh strength; sometimes persons are made strong by an encouraging word or a determined will, or by anger, hate, or fear.

It is plain that our strength depends not merely upon physical power, but upon something within us which we may not understand, but which we cannot ignore. Hence the propriety of the exhortations which come to us to "be strong," and to "be of good courage," and to strengthen ourselves in the Lord God. "Let the weak say, 'I am strong,'" says the scripture, and in many instances through the power of faith, and the courage and encouragement which comes from God, persons "out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, and turned to flight the armies of the aliens." "I can do all things," says the apostle; "through Christ that strengthened me," and if persons who spend their time mourning in discouragement, and telling what they cannot do, lamenting their feelings, and throwing obstacles in their own way, would simply stand up like men, go forward in the strength of God, and make up their minds that they can do something, and go about it and do it; in a multitude of instances these weak, wavering, stumbling, feeble, helpless, useless souls would strengthen themselves in the Lord their God, and through God they would do valiantly.

All prophets and apostles and saints inspire us with courage. They bid us to be strong in the Lord and in the power of his might. Those who strengthen the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees are to be dear to them that are of a fearful heart, be strong, fear not, behold your God will come, even God with a recompense; he will come and save you."

O weak, and weary, struggling children of God, take courage, be of good cheer, be strong, fear not. Your light affliction is but for a moment; your captain leads his hosts to certain victory; and if faithful to Him you shall be more than conquerors, and stand at last triumphant with the hosts of the redeemed, bearing the palms of victory, and singing the song of triumph before the throne.

A MOTHER'S HOLLOW MIRTH

"I am reminded of an incident which I witnessed a few days ago on an outgoing train," says a writer in the Indianapolis News. "A plainly-dressed old woman, and a tall awkward young man, evidently her son, had been in the city and were going home. There was an uncertainty in the boy's step as he came into the car, which indicated that he was considerably intoxicated. They sat down together and he at once began to talk in a loud voice. His words were driving a humorous, somewhat scorned strangely insensitive to her son's disgrace. She laughed freely at the incoherent remarks, and replied to them, though in so low a tone that her words were inaudible to the passengers."

"People exchanged surprised glances and began to talk of the unusual scene. Some thought the mother indifferent to her son's condition, and therefore little better than he, herself. Others were more charitable, and did not believe she realized his condition. There was something that sounded strained and affected in her laugh. Her old bonnet was drawn down so that her face was entirely hidden, and I observed she kept it so, carefully. Then I began watching her closely, for I wanted to see her features. I felt that a glance at them would assure me whether her cheerfulness was real or feigned."

"The train hurried along, and I began to think my watchfulness was a bit unwelcome. The young man rambled foolishly on with his talk, and his mother continued to laugh at his pointlessness wit. Then the engine whistled, and the couple prepared to get off. I leaned forward and saw the woman fumble about searching for a package. The hand she put out trembled like an aspen. As she arose from the seat she turned her head and I caught a glimpse of her face. Her eyes were dimmed with tears, and her furrowed cheeks were wet. The expression of her countenance was sad and it rises up before me to this day. The poor woman in her pride had preferred to appear unconscious of her son's disgrace, hoping the strangers who witnessed it might not comprehend."

His Temper Getting the Better of Him

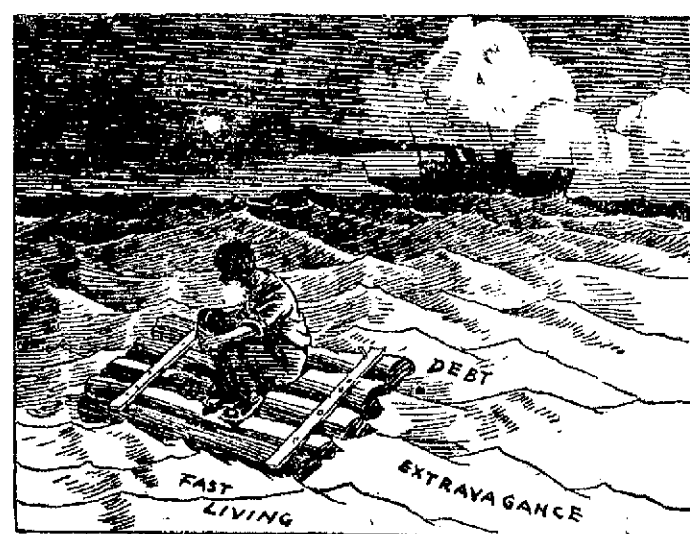

When M. de Persigny was French minister of the interior he received a visit one day from a friend, who on sending up his name, was shown into the great man's sanctum. A warm discussion arose between them. Suddenly an usher entered and handed the minister a note. On opening it he at once changed his tone of voice, and assumed a quiet and serene manner. Puzzled as to the contents of the note, and by the marked effect it had produced upon the minister, his friend cast a furtive glance at it, when, to his astonishment, he perceived that it was simply a plain sheet of paper, without a scratch upon it. More puzzled than ever, this gentleman, after a few minutes, took his leave, and proceeded to interrogate the usher, to whom he was well known, for he himself had been minister of the interior. "You have," said he, "just handed to the minister a note, folded up, which had a most extraordinary effect upon him. Now, it was a plain sheet of paper, with nothing written upon it. What did it mean?"

"Sir," replied the usher, "here is the explanation, which I must beg you to keep secret, for I do not wish to compromise myself. My master is very liable to lose his temper. As he himself is aware of his weakness, he has ordered me, each time that his voice is raised sufficiently to be audible in the ante-room, without delay to place a sheet of paper in an envelope and take it to him. That reminds him that his temper is getting the better of him, and he at once calms himself. Just now I heard his voice rising, and immediately carried out my instructions."

JAPANESE GAMBLER'S WAY.

Hideotaro Hosana was a Japanese gambler. He had a wonderful facility in the manipulation of dice, and could make them fall any way he chose. During an illness brought on by a drunken revel, a copy of the New Testament was put into his hands, and he read it through with great interest. His message was carried home, and he became a Christian. After his recovery he was beset by his old friends from every quarter, and his talents became his temptation. One day he read in the gospel of Matthew, "If thy right hand offend thee, cut it off and cast it from thee." It was the third finger of his right hand that could grip the dice and make them fall as he wished. It was this finger that caused him to stumble, so he cut off the offending finger and cast it from him.

Which, Young Man, is Your Port?

Two men sat on the deck of an ocean liner as it sailed out of the New York harbor.

It was midnight. Both were silent in thought.

"How big is the sea," interrupted one, "yet how small. See that little raft floating over the ocean for months and months and it's still helpless, at the mercy of the waves, at the command of the slightest turn in the wind."

"To that little raft the Atlantic is a billowy world of sea without a port. But with this liner it is different. In a few days it will have crossed it without having left its course for a minute. It has a pilot and he's steering it straight along to its port."

And there, as the two men gazed over the starlit sea, was unconsciously preached a powerful sermon.

Young man, it was a sermon for you.

The raft didn't have a pilot and the raft will never have a port.

The steamer set out for a definite somewhere and the steamer will keep on until it reaches there.

You, young men, may be like the raft or the huge liner. If you haven't a goal in life you're like the raft that has no port. And if you haven't ambition, steadfastness and character, you're like a ship without a pilot.

If you are the slave of habit, if you are tossed from your course by fast living, extravagance or debt, if you are thrown from your course by temptation, your fate will be that of the helpless raft.

If you will succeed, pick your course, first, steam up, make hard work, ambition and character your pilot and there is no port you can't reach.

It's time to set sail today! Will yours be the port of somewhere or the port of nowhere?

Al Jennings Now "Holding Up" Men For Christ

New York, Oct. 20.—"Hands up!" cried Al Jennings, train robber, and along his extended arm his gray eyes surveyed the restless rows of people. Heads were ducked and arms thrown up!

It happened yesterday in Brooklyn. But the people were in church, and it was "Hands up for Jesus," that Al Jennings meant! This once desperate bandit and highwayman, later district attorney and candidate for governor in Oklahoma, has now taken up his new job of relieving souls of sin with the same simple directness with which he used to relieve good souls of money at the point of the gun.

Jennings has been converted to Christianity himself only a few months. He was converted to banditdom while still a youth, by the brutality of his environment, and for many years he led a darddevil career of train robbery and outlawry.

Al Jennings ended in the penitentiary—and reformation!

The ex-bandit's revival is a huge success. Thousands flock every night to the church where he is opening his career as a second Billy Sunday. But Jennings doesn't use the Billy Sunday methods. He speaks to his hearers in the same cool, steady, straightforward voice that once addressed his victims over the barrel of a 45.

"I'm holding up men for Christ and I'm much happier than I ever was when I held them up for money—and more successful, too," he declares.

How To Make the Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind. You Save $2. Fully Guaranteed.

This home-made cough syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Its promptness, ease and certainty in conquering distressing coughs, chest and throat colds, is really remarkable. You can actually feel it take hold. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough—relieves even whooping cough quickly. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you—at a cost of only 64 cents—a full pint of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.50. Takes but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils.

You will be pleasantly surprised how quickly it loosens dry, hoarse or tight coughs, and breaks the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in quinine, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, be sure and ask your druggist for "2½ ounces Pinex," and don't accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

OVER-EDUCATION IS CURSE OF CHILD LIFE

No Schooling Until Ten Years Old is Plant Wizard's Advice.

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 21.—That children should not be sent to school until they are 10 years old, is the claim of Luther Burbank.

"The work of breaking down the nervous systems of the children of the United States is well under way," said he. "It is abnormal and cruel to run all children through the same mill and stuff and cram their little heads to the breaking point. A child is vastly more sensitive than a plant, and the first ten years of its life should be surrounded by sunshine, cheerfulness, love and laughter. Some children are absolutely unfit for certain studies, and to make the girls 10 years old study mathematics fit for the mind of a person 25 years old is the height of folly."

"Do not dress the children in costly clothing. An over-dressed child is as badly off as an under-dressed child. You cannot raise a healthy child or a healthy plant under a glass roof."

"On the food a child is fed the first ten years of its life depends its moral nature. 'How can we feed the poor?' you ask. 'Isn't it as important for a nation to raise a good human crop as it is to raise good orchards?' The feeding of the poor can be done nationally, without paternalism, or charity, and a nation in self-defense must take care of its people."

"There is not an attribute lacking in a plant that cannot be bred into it. The same is largely true of human nature. Heredity will make itself felt first, but in child-rearing, heredity and environment are equally important. What then can we expect from children raised in dusty factories, crowded tenements and unventilated schools? We let the weeds grow and then set fire to them by bad environment."

NEW HAVEN NEWS

New Haven, Ind., Oct. 21.—The marriage of Miss Bertha Sturms, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sturms, and Mr. Chester J. Albright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Albright, took place Wednesday morning at the Methodist Protestant parsonage. Rev. P. B. Leach performed the ceremony. They were attended by Miss Mabel Robinson and Arthur Bickel, of Fort Wayne. The bride was becomingly gowned in pale blue crepe de chine with an overdress of shadow lace, and carried bride's roses. Miss Robinson wore a dress of deep cream. After the ceremony the bridal party were driven to the home of the bride, where the wedding dinner was served. Only immediate relatives and close friends were present. During the afternoon the young couple left on a short bridal trip. For going away the bride wore a navy blue suit and hat to match. Both young people are widely known and popular here and their many friends wish them much future happiness.

Miss Ethel Bolyard was awarded the silver medal in the W. C. T. U. oratorical contest held at the Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday evening. The following young ladies, besides Miss Bolyard, gave readings: Misses Mil-

THE NEW UNIVERSITIES DICTIONARY

THIS paper, devoted to public welfare, fighting for better education, always seeking to give men and women, boys and girls, more chances for self-advancement, has secured for its readers the exclusive rights to the only dictionary containing the thousands of new words recently brought into general and proper use by scientific, religious, artistic and political advances.

All other dictionaries are out of date. Every dictionary printed before this year is useless. You cannot understand the big ideas that are rebuilding the world unless you have The New Universities Dictionary constantly at hand in home and office for quick reference.

Five great universities contributed the strength of their leading English and Latin teachers to the production of this great educational enterprise. With their distinguished assistance it was made a complete inventory of today's English. Harvard is represented in the book by Percy W. Long, A.M., Ph.D.; Cornell by Clark S. Northrup, Ph.D.; Pennsylvania by John C. Rolfe, Ph.D.; Columbia by Forrest S. Lunt, A.M.; Princeton by Morris W. Croll, Ph.D., and the Editor-in-Chief is George J. Hagar, whose biographical sketch in "Who's Who in America," takes up about a half column to relate his great services to education.

The New Universities Dictionary has not a dry line in the whole book—every page is of vital interest. Besides the best vocabulary ever printed, it contains twenty-five separate and distinct vocabularies of special activities, such as automobiling, golf, war, aviation, music, and many other arts, sciences and sports. Furthermore, it presents special dictionaries of Americanisms, foreign words and phrases, etc.

The book that this paper thus places within your grasp at the bare cost of handling is illustrated with expensive pictures, alone worth more than the reader is asked to contribute to the cost of distributing. It is the best illustrated dictionary in the world—profuse in page and double-page color plates, an absolutely new process of photographic reproduction.

Word-study is the short-cut to self-education. A well-stocked brain and a well-trained tongue provide the right word at the right time, and a whole fortune changes hands. That's the way millionaires are made. Make your start to-day. This paper presents the opportunity with the valuable coupon found elsewhere.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Favorable weather and big receipts at northwestern terminus today the effect of higher prices at Liverpool. After opening 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ lower, December at $1.04 1/2 and May at $1.05 1/2, the market here underwent a further sag but then made a good rally.
The close was heavy, 1 1/2c to 1 3/4c
net lower.
Corn, like wheat, was bearishly affected by the fine weather. Opening prices, which ranged from a shade to 1/2c lower,
were followed by moderate additional losses before any recovery set in.
The close was unsettled, varying from 3/4¢ to 1 1/2c off to 1/2c up, compared with yesterday's finish.
Oats, although firm at the start, eased
off with other grain.
Demoralization in the hog market brought about much stop loss selling in provisions.

CADESSIA GROTTO HAS A CEREMONIAL

Cadessia grotto No. 50, Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, presented its third ceremonial initiation at the Majestic theater, Wednesday night, and a good-sized class of candidates was present to receive the order. The work was discharged by the degree team of Cadessia grotto, which has conferred the order in all of the ceremonials here. The elaborate stage presentation of the rites was begun at 8:30 and completed two hours later, when the stage was turned over to the company of performers from the Majestic theater and the local visiting prophets were entertained in a fashion that kept the members of the order applauding from beginning to end. The ceremonial was honored by the presence of Hiram D. Rogers, of Boston, past grand monarch of the supreme council, who came to Fort Wayne expressly to witness the work. He paid Director-General Robert J. Gaskill and his degree team high compliments for the efficiency with which the work was presented according to the recently revised ritual. Visiting prophets came from New York, Chicago, Detroit, Toledo and other cities nearby. The Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets is composed of Master Masons and members of the higher degrees. Cadessia grotto was instituted less than a year ago and has had a flourishing growth.

After making accurate tests a German scientist has decided that German Gothic type is less tiring to the eyes than Roman letters.

Resinol will stop that ugly itching rash

The moment that Resinol Ointment touches itching skin the itching stops and healing begins. That is why doctors have prescribed it so successfully for twenty years in even the severest cases of eczema, ringworm, rashes, and many other tormenting, disfiguring skin diseases. Aided by warm baths with Resinol Soap, Resinol Ointment makes a sick skin or scalp healthy, quickly, easily and at little cost.

Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap also clear away pimples, blackheads and dandruff. Sold by all druggists; for trial free, write to Resinol, Dept. 14-5, Baltimore, Md.

The Pennsylvania shippers are collecting their taxes today.

SHRUBBERY

We have just received a fine line of white, pink and red altheas, single altheas, hydrangeas, daisy, lilacs, honeysuckle, syringa, snowberry and weigela. We have only a limited stock of shrubbery for fall planting and would suggest that if in need of any to call as early as possible, as our supply will not last long.
